

The Daily Tar Heel

The Weather

Cloudy and warm.

The Carolina Symposium starts Sunday, and as we said yesterday, you can't tell the players without a scorecard. Clip it. Also can be used for burning crosses.

Founded Feb. 23, 1893

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, APRIL 3, 1964

United Press International Service

Symposium Adds Four To Complete Slate

REP. FRANK THOMPSON

By JOHN D. FRONEBERGER

Representative Frank Thompson, Jr. (D-N.C.) and Richard Adler, UNC graduate and composer-lyricist for "Pajama Game" and "Damn Yankees," will hold a panel discussion here Wednesday afternoon, April 8, at 4 p.m. for the Carolina Symposium.

The topic "Government and the Arts: Washington's Cold War Patronage" will focus on the effect of projected changes in the relationship between government and the arts upon artistic expression in America.

Thompson, a legislator who has demonstrated a strong interest in humanity, has represented New Jersey's Fourth District in the House of Representatives since 1954. He is a native of Trenton, New Jersey, and an alumnus of Wake Forest College, where he also received his law degree.

In the House he has been active in the work of the Committee on Education and Labor, working to promote such measures as impacted area legislation and the National Defense Education Act.

He also has served on the House Administration Committee and as chairman of the National Voters Registration Committee. He introduced legislation authorizing the building of the National Cultural Center in Washington and has worked to modernize immigration laws.

Richard Adler's music has the "spirit and brass you'd expect to find at a ball game," said Lewis Lunke in the New York Times about Adler's score for "Damn Yankees."

A native New Yorker, Adler (Continued from Page 3)

RICHARD ADLER

SEN. GEORGE MCGOVERN

By VIRGINIA CARNES

Senator George McGovern (D-S.D.) and Dr. Adam Yarmolinsky, the Special Assistant to the Secretary and Deputy Secretary of Defense, will speak Thursday afternoon, April 9, at 4 p.m. for the Carolina Symposium.

The topic: "Are We Psychologically Prepared for Peace (Disarmament?)" will focus on the possibilities of the nation achieving its aims without ultimate recourse to war.

Scholar, politician, and hero McGovern was born and educated in South Dakota. After receiving his B.A. degree from Dakota Wesleyan University, where later he was to teach history, he received his M.A. and Ph.D. in History and Government from Northwestern University.

After flying 35 combat missions as a B-24 bomber pilot in WW II, he received the Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal with Three Oak Leaf Clusters.

In 1956 he was elected to the House of Representatives and re-elected in 1958, serving on the Education and Labor, and Agriculture Committees.

He was a delegate to the NATO Parliamentarians Conference in 1953 and 1959, named Director for Food for Peace and Special Assistant to President Kennedy.

Elected to the Senate in 1962, McGovern became the first Democratic Senator from South Dakota since 1936.

A native of New York, Dr. Yarmolinsky received his B.A. degree from Harvard in 1943. Following service in the Army Air Force, he received his LL.B. from Yale Law School in 1948.

(Continued on Page 3)

ADAM YARMOLINSKY

Edit Writers Meet In Howell Today

By DAVID PRATHER

Speeches by two UNC professors and out-of-state editors will highlight the 15th annual North Carolina Editorial Writers Conference today and tomorrow.

Between 30 and 40 state editorial writers are expected.

The conference will start with a discussion at 8 p.m. Friday in

Howell Hall Auditorium of "North Carolina—the Road Ahead."

Speakers at the opening session will be Dr. Rupert Vance, Kenan professor of sociology and author of two, "Human Geography of the South" and "All these People," and George Esser, executive director of the North Carolina Fund.

Presiding at the meeting will be Perry Morgan of the Charlotte News, chairman of the conference.

William Fitzpatrick, editor of the Norfolk (Va.) Ledger-Star and former editorial writer for the Wall Street Journal, will kick off Saturday's session with a talk on "How to Write Editorials" at 10 a.m. in 203 Howell Hall.

Also speaking at the meeting will be Clifford Carpenter, editor of the Rochester (N.Y.) Democrat and Chronicle and chairman of the National Editorial Writers Conference. His topic is "How to Improve the Editorial Page."

A luncheon at the Carolina Inn at 1 p.m. will feature Professor Thomas Christopher of the UNC Law School talking on "Recent Supreme Court Developments on Civil Rights." The speaker will be introduced by Dickson Phillips, dean of the UNC Law School.

Four editors will participate in a shop talk session on state politics.

(Continued on Page 3)

Chi Psi Tops Pledges In Record Year

The over-all fraternity pledge scholastic average at UNC is at an all-time high according to the results of the pledge Greek Week competition announced here March 31.

The Chi Psi fraternity won the trophy for the highest grade average with a 2.573.

In the awards for the best pledge class, first place was won by Chi Psi, second place by Phi Delta Theta, and third place by Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The athletic trophy was won by the Phi Deltas and the award for the best carnival booth by the SAE's.

Rally For Preyer On 18th In Raleigh

Some 300 college students from throughout North Carolina are expected to attend a "Students for Preyer Rally" in Raleigh on April 18.

Plans for the rally pushing the gubernatorial candidacy of Richardson Preyer were announced Wednesday by student co-chairmen of the "Students for Preyer" campaign organization.

The student group is headed by Charlie Shaffer of the University of North Carolina, John Bynum of North Carolina State and Kitty Bernhardt of Wake Forest College.

"We're all very happy with the enthusiasm being exhibited for Judge Preyer on college campuses all over North Carolina," Shaffer said. "As a result of the hard work students are doing, we expect a turnout of about 300 students, representing every institution of higher learning in North Carolina, at the Raleigh rally on April 18.

Co-chairmen of the student organization announced that the highlight of the rally will be an address by Preyer. The candidate's wife, Emily, his State Campaign Manager, Raleigh Attorney Nat Townsend and Art Weiner, State Chairman of "Young Adults for Preyer," are also scheduled to participate.

The rally will begin at 2 p.m. on Saturday, April 18 in the ballroom of the Carolina Hotel, where Preyer has his State campaign headquarters.

"The Villagers," a folk singing group, Honey Lucas and student groups will provide entertainment.

The Men Interview ...

The UNC Geology Dept. reported Wednesday that the shock they recorded from last week's Alaskan earthquake was so great that the east-west direction needle on the seismograph became stuck, placing the machine temporarily out of commission.

Department seismologists said the recording arm would have gone completely off the scale if not for the dampening service used to scale down unusually large readings by preventing the arm from swinging too far.

The reading, the largest ever received on the machine in the 10 years it has been used at UNC, was received 8 minutes after the devastating quake began in Alaska. The first recording was registered here at 10:44 p.m. (EST). The quake occurred at 10:36 p.m. (EST).

The scientists said the machine had recorded from 10 to 12 after-shocks lasting until late Tuesday afternoon. They said they expect many more smaller after-shocks lasting for a month or more.

The UNC seismograph is the only one in the state. The only prior recording which reached the dimensions of the Alaskan quake was one which occurred in Chile some time ago.

Story by David Nordan—Photo by Jim Wallace

Indian Graduate Student Is Refused Treatment In Greensboro Hospital

By JEFFREY DICK

A dark-skinned UNC graduate student from India was refused treatment at Moses Cone Hospital in Greensboro after he sustained a fractured nose in a cricket match and went to the hospital for treatment.

Officials at the hospital told Dennis Nathaniel, 29-year-old graduate student in geography, that he would have to go to the Negro hospital for treatment.

"It took us ten minutes to get to Moses Cone Hospital and I was there for another ten minutes before they turned me away," Nathaniel said. "It took us another twenty minutes to find the colored hospital."

Nathaniel said his nose "was flowing like a fountain for forty minutes" before he finally received treatment by going to the other hospital.

Nathaniel went to Greensboro last weekend to play in a cricket match with other team members from this area.

No difficulty was encountered in being treated at the Negro hospital, Nathaniel said. The Negro doctor told him he had "lost a lot of blood." The doctor temporarily repaired his injury so he could return to Chapel Hill for final treatment.

Nathaniel is expected to remain in the UNC infirmary for the remainder of the week.

The director of Moses Cone Hospital could not be reached for comment.

Dr. David G. Basile, professor of geography at UNC, said, "It is inconceivable that someone hurt would be turned away from a hospital for any reason."

Moses Cone Hospital is the object of a hearing to be held April 16, which will determine whether or not the privately owned hospital can operate on a segregated basis. The case arose when a lower court ruled that privately owned hospitals operating on a basis of separate but equal facilities. The appeal of the case went to the U.S. Supreme Court. The final court order will open the hospital to all races, provided the court decides to certify the standing court order.

It is understood that the doctor who treated Nathaniel in Chapel Hill is planning to register a complaint with the State Medical Society protesting the way Nathaniel was handled.

When asked if the incident had affected his feelings about the United States, Nathaniel said "I would not want to generalize from this one unfortunate incident. It is the first experience I have had like this. The incident, however, should be a matter of concern to Indian nationals who are coming here.

"I was told," he continued, "that when I came here I would not be faced with this problem. Other Indians should know that there is a chance they will face some problems."

Neither Chancellor Aycock nor President Friday could be reached for comment on the matter.

Wildcat Strikers Protest Contract

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Thousands of dissatisfied miners, spread wildcat strikes into five states today in protest of a new contract between the United Mine Workers Union and soft coal operators.

It was estimated that from 8,000 to 10,000 soft coal miners were off the job in southwestern Pennsylvania, northern West Virginia, eastern Ohio, western Kentucky and southern Illinois despite efforts of UMW officials to get them back to work.

Joseph Yablonski, director of UMW District 5 here, said some locals under his jurisdiction attempted to return to work Thursday but were turned back by what he called "irresponsible pickets."

The strikes in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio centered around protests over a new contract with the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, which went into effect Thursday. Hundreds of miners in southern Illinois and western Kentucky walked off their jobs claiming operators in these states refused to sign the new pact.

At a meeting in Bellaire, Ohio, earlier this week, 1,500 miners vowed to continue the walkout until the international UMW officers "came to them."

Duke's State $$$ Won't Affect Ban

The awarding of State funds for scientific research at Duke University does not bring the institution under the provisions of the controversial speaker-ban law passed by the 63 General Assembly, Atty. Gen. Wade Burton ruled Wednesday.

The question arose last week when the State Board of Science and Technology awarded Duke $69,429 in grants for four separate projects.

Burton, after a conference Wednesday with staff aides and Duke attorney E. C. Bryson, said the grants "are not of such a character as to bring Duke University within the purview" of the law.

The law forbids Communists or persons who have taken the Fifth Amendment in loyalty cases from speaking at State-supported colleges or universities.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Ralph Moody, who attended the conference, said Duke "is not a State-supported college by any stretch of the imagination."

The General Assembly clearly had in mind only institutions operated by the State, he said, noting that the caption of the law reads:

"An Act to Regulate Visiting Speakers at State-Supported colleges and universities."

Moody added: "This money is not basically for the school, but for the individual projects to be carried out by the individual professors. The money goes to Duke University only as fiscal agent for disbursement to the professors. It is an incidental contractual arrangement."

Although the wording of the law covers any college or university "which receives any State funds in support thereof," Moody said research grants do not constitute support for the college itself.

The 1963 law creating the Board of Science & Technology author-

(Continued on Page 3)

TENNYSON TO SPEAK

Sir Charles Tennyson, grandson of Alfred Lord Tennyson, will speak on his grandfather's poetry in Gerrard Hall tomorrow at 8 p.m.

The talk, sponsored by the UNC Department of English, is free and open to the public.

Tennyson was knighted in 1954, and is a graduate of Cambridge who has devoted his life to public service and research of his grandfather's works.

He has published one book and several essays and studies on his grandfather who was England's poet laureate.

CHASTAIN APPOINTED

Chancellor William B. Aycock has announced the appointment of Charles Hooker Chastain as assistant professor of philosophy.

Press Club Hears Williams Monday

F. Bryan Williams, vice-president of James F. Fox, Inc., will speak to the UNC Press Club Monday at 7 p.m. in Howell Hall and attempt to prove that public realtors is not a dirty word.

Williams, a veteran of the Korean War, worked for McGraw Hill Publishing Co. as one of the first members of the company's editorial training program. He also trained with the National Petroleum News and Engineering News Record.

He was assistant managing editor and business editor of Fleet News, a publication of the trucking industry. He wrote some of the first public relations "how-to" features for the industry.

As assistant business administration editor for Chemical Week, he was especially active in writing about public relations and communications.

As vice-president of James F. Fox, Inc., he is now associated with such accounts as Bigelow-Sanford, Inc., the State of Nevada, Abbott Laboratories, American Enka Corporation and Bankers Trust Company.

He was twice honored with the Jesse H. Neal Award for Editorial Excellence given by the Associated Business Publications and received an award from the State of Nevada for service to the state.

He graduated from the University of Virginia with a B.A. in English. He did graduate work at George Washington University, New York University and the New School for Social Research.

... And So Do The Girls

Ruffin Hall Wins Color TV In Contest

Ruffin Residence Hall has been awarded a 21-inch RCA television set as a result of winning the annual Marlboro Cigarette contest.

The residence hall turned in approximately 20,000 empty cigarette packages of brands marketed by the Philip Morris Co. The brands include Marlboro, Benson and Hedges, Alpine, Parliament and Philip Morris Commanders.

"We had been collecting the packs since last year," said Tom Lobl, chairman of Ruffin's drive for packages. "I would like to thank everyone in the hall for their help, and especially Frank Khun, Charlie Finch, Jerry Whitfield and William Schlegler."

Symposium Scorecard

SUNDAY	Memorial Hall
Sen. William Fulbright . . . 8 p.m.
Memorial Hall
MONDAY	WEDNESDAY
Emile Benoit . . . 2 p.m.	Harold Orlans
Carroll Hall	Paul Gross . . . 2 p.m.
Sen. John S. Cooper . . . 4 p.m.	Garrard Hall
Memorial Hall	Rep. Frank Thompson
Hans Morgenthau . . . 8 p.m.	Richard Adler . . . 4 p.m.
Memorial Hall	Memorial Hall
TUESDAY	Irvng Howe
William S. Barnes	Marya Mannes
Otto Eckstein . . . 2 p.m.	John Knowles
Carroll Hall	William Coles . . . 8 p.m.
Douglas M. Knight	Memorial Hall
Frank P. Graham . . . 4 p.m.	THURSDAY
Memorial Hall	Adam Yarmolinsky
David Brinkley . . . 8 p.m.	Sen. George McGovern . . . 4 p.m.
	Memorial Hall
	George W. Ball . . . 8 p.m.
	Memorial Hall