Black And Speight Aid Leonard's Win

By LARRY TARLETON

The Tar Heels moved another step closer to the ACC baseball championship yesterday by blasting the Virginia Cavaliers 9-4 for their 10th conference win without a defeat.

Beattie Leonard went all the way for Coach Walt Rabb to win his second game in two starts. since returning to action from a broken hand.

The Heels jumped on two Cavalier pitchers for seven runs in the first two innings, and Leonard coasted to an easy victory. The chilly overcast weather seemed to be giving the Tar Heels more trouble than the Cavaliers.

Gary Black and Jim Speight were the big guns for Carolina. Speight collected three hits in four times at bat, and also scored one run and drove in another. Black breaking out of his slump with a bang, slammed a basesloaded triple in the first and then lined a ground-rule double to left in the third. Ken Willard also collected two hits and drove in two runs to run his season's toal to 23.

Virginia's ace lefty, 6-8 Ned Turnbull, ran into trouble early in the first inning. He walked Dickie Prindle to open the game. Then after Speight singled, he uncorked a wild pitch to move the runners to second and third. Speight and Prindle scored on Ken Boykin's slashing single to left. After striking out Willard, Turnbull's control again deserted him. He hit Bill Brown with a pitch, got John Shaw on a popup and then walked Dick Fleming to load the bases. Dick Solan then replaced Turnbull on the mound, and Black greeted him with his long triple down the left field line to make the score 5-0.

Two more runs in the second gave Leonard a 7-0 advantage. Prindle led off with a single to right. When Speight attempted to sacrifice, first baseman Larry Tate tried to get Prindle at second and all runners were sate. Boykin's sacrifice moved Speight and Prindle to second and third. and Ken Willard drove them in with a line single to left.

The Heels added runs in the seventh and eighth to complete their scoring.

The Cavaliers scored once in the third and sixth and twice in the eighth off Leonard.

Billy Cunningham MEN Is Elected Captain

Billy Cunningham, North Carolina's All-America center, will captain the 1964-65 Tar Heels. The official tapping of the New Yorker for the task of leading the squad was announced here at the recent basketball banquet. Said Coach Dean Smith: "Billy's name was on every ballot but one-his own."

Cunningham, the 6-5, 210-pound-Charlie Shaffer, Jr. The Most Valuable Player trophy, awarded by E. Carrington Smith, went hands-down to Cunningham. Shaffer came in for two choice

The Foy Roberson, Jr., Memorial Award, exemplifying the player who has done the most for team morale and sportsmanship, went to Shaffer. It was presented by Dr. Oliver Cornwell, head of the physical education department. Shaffer, who is president of his senior class, also took the Educational Foundation watch as the outstanding nition, said: "We have received much from our year of basketball at Carolina and we learned much from Coach Smith. Our only regret is we did not give enough in return.'

The Tar Heels finished with a 12-12 record and it was this to which Shaffer referred. However Coach Smith, in answering, said: "This was a fine group of young er who recently returned from men and we had our accomplishthe Olympic trials, shared extra ments. We became the first UNC team to defeat Indiana made a tremendous comeback, after a slow regular season windup, in the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament."

Cunningham, who succeeds Shaffer and Mike Cooke as team leader, has been a unanimous Atlantic Coast Conference allstar for the past two seasons. He led the team in scoring and rebounding last season, as he did his sophomore year.

Monogram awards were made to the varsity and freshmen by coaches Smith and Ken Rosemond. Among those who made brief talks were Chancellor William B. Aycock and Athletic Di-Shaffer, in accepting his recog- rector Chuck Erickson.
