JERRY DAVIS SHUTS OUT WAKE

Tar Heels Take ACC Baseball Championship

Shaw's Torrid Bat Wins 11th Straight

By LARRY TARLETON

The Tar Heels clinched their first Atlantic Coast Conference baseball championship since 1960 yesterday by defeating Wake Forest 3-0 at Winston Salem.

The Heels rode the steady seven-hit pitching of Jerry Davis, and the clutch hitting of catcher John Shaw to victory over the team which was ranked as one of the top teams in the nation at the season's start.

Left-hander Davis was magnificent as he allowed only one extra base hit, a double by Wayne Martin in the ninth, and didn't allow a Deacon baserunner to reach third base. The junior southpaw didn't walk a batter while striking out two Demon Deacons.

The victory stretched the Tar Heels record to 11-0 in the ACC and 17-5 over-all. Wake Forest is now 5-4 in the conference. Three ACC games now stand between Coach Wall Rabb's boys and a perfect conference slate. The team will make their South Carolina trip this weekend. They meet South Carolina at Columbia Friday and Clemson at Clemson Saturday. Both games will be broadcast on WCHL.

The regular season will conclude next week. Duke will be at Emerson Stadium for a conference game Wednesday, and the Heels will travel to Gastonia for a game with Davidson Friday, then to Blacksburg, Va. to meet Virginia Tech Saturday.

By defeating the Demon Deacons, the Tar Heels earned a ticket to the NCAA District III regionals to be held at Gastonia after school is out.

Shaw, a sophomore catcher from Jonesville, rapped Wake Forest ace Lou Howard for three hits and two rib's. Howard allowed only seven hits, but three Deacon errors ruined his pitching performance. Dickie Prindle, who had two singles, was the only other Carolina player to collect over one hit. Bill Brown and Gary Black collected the other Tar Heel safeties.

A two-base error by Deacon second baseman Dave Miller led to the first UNC run in the fourth. Brown rapped a sharp grounder to second, and Miller threw into the dirt at first to send Brown to second. Shaw's line single to center scored Brown.

Walks to Willard and Brown, and Shaw's third single of the game in the sixth gave the Heels a 2-0 advantage. Gary Black scored the final Tar Heel run in the ninth.

Sources Say Nikita Ready To Make Deal

LONDON (UPI) — Informed East European diplomatic sources Tuesday indicated Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev would like to work out a peaceful co-existence deal with the United States after the presidential elections this fall.

The indicated deal might be tantamount to a prolonged big power East-West truce.

The Kremlin might pledge hands off in U.S. spheres of interest in exchange for a status quo understanding in Europe. There was no indication however, that Communist Cuba would be included in any non-interference pledge by Moscow.

Western observers said Khrushchev's reported desire for an understanding with the United States apparently was motivated by a number of considerations, including the dispute with Communist China, the high cost of the arms race, and economic pressures at home.

The reports have coincided with the publication in Moscow of an article by Khrushchev titled "On Peace and Peaceful Co-existence." The article was printed by the Soviet magazine Kommunist as a foreword to a collection of Khrushchev's speeches.

In it Khrushchev said the world had achieved "balance of forces" that can prevent war and urged that the arms race be ended. He said the situation gives mankind a new challenge: "Let us compete as to who makes the biggest contribution to strengthening peace."

Senate Leaders Huddle On CR Bill Tuesday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — While some legislators were out bird-watching, Senate leaders and Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy met Tuesday in the first of a series of crucial bipartisan summit meetings to help shape the final form of the Civil Rights Bill.

After Tuesday's two and one-half hour conference, Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., reported "a good deal of agreement" on some of 40 technical, clarifying amendments to the sweeping bill.

Senate Democratic Whip Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., said there was "considerable progress" and Kennedy himself, who emerged early, said: "I think we are making some progress."

Further staff discussion with Katzenbach and Marshall continued in Dirksen's office Tuesday afternoon.

But Dirksen, who reviewed the amendment situation at a GOP policy luncheon, later told newsmen that:

He does not think the Civil Rights Bill can be passed by the end of May.

Final action on the pending series of jury trial amendments might not be passed this week if a number of Appalachian area senators fly South with President Johnson Thursday. Johnson will not return until Friday.

There may be three separate packages of bipartisan amendments, in three groups of increasing controversy, to be offered in that manner.

ily in an advisory capacity, it will from time to time be able to suggest revisions of the methods of operations of the student stores to make them more efficient and more profitable for the student body.

"Not for almost seven years has the student had any real voice in the operation of this campus institution which was founded in his interests," said Spearman.

"The 1957 committee," said Branch, "was a very fine thing and helped us to keep in touch with student body needs and provided very effective communication."

Thomas A. Shetley, manager of the Book Exchange said, "We bear in mind that the campus stores are an integral part of the University operation. The aims of the University and the student body are also our aims."

"I am very much in favor of a co-ordination committee," he said.

"I have examined the memoirs of Mr. Richie, who was my successor as stores manager. His accounts of the 1957 committee indicate that it was a very fine idea," said Shetley.

"Somebody just got lazy and let it die on the vine," he added.

Spearman indicated that the three administrative members of the committee were to be appointed by the Chancellor. Interviews for the student positions will be held tomorrow and Friday in the Student Government offices.

Will Students Have Say-So On Book-Ex?

Committee Studies Possibility

By KERRY SIPE

A plan to provide the student body with a voice in the operation of the Book Exchange and the other campus stores was announced yesterday by Student Body President Bob Spearman.

Spearman said that a special Campus Stores Committee would be established to give the student a part in the management of stores and to make known to the student body the policies and allocations of revenue required by the campus stores operation.

Bob Jones, chairman of the Student Government Co-Op Committee, has talked with J. Arthur Branch, University business manager, who has expressed willingness to co-operate in the establishment of the committee.

Branch has agreed to chair the committee, which should begin its operation in the spring.

A student group similar to the proposed co-ordination committee met the academic year of 1956-57.

At that time, it attempted to increase the price students received from the sale of used texts, attempted to increase the number of vending machines in residence halls and to obtain better machines to replace outdated ones, investigated the distribution of money from the campus stores and made recommendations for changes in policy, and considered the possibility of building a new campus store in the area of Woolen Gym.

The 1957 committee was the last such attempt at co-ordination.

"The president of the student body at the time, failed to reappoint the committee," said Spearman.

"I have hopes that the new committee will be successful enough to continue," he said.

Frosh Weekend Coming!

Freshmen! How often have you dreamed of having a good time with a decent date some weekend instead of just getting drunk Saturday night? Salvation is here.

The Freshman Class is filthy rich after its bake sale and merchants' day, and now the class officers have decided to splurge it all on a Freshman Weekend.

Friday night, May 8, the original Clovers and the Vibrators will gas the crowds in the Morehead Parking Lot from 8 to 12 p.m., or in the Tin Can if it rains.

One day doesn't make a weekend, and Saturday from 2 to 4:30 p.m. there will be a hootenanny, probably on the Graham Memorial lawn, featuring local talent.

Guitar Vick and the Swinging Five will hold forth on the Cobb tennis courts Saturday night from 8 to 12.

All Freshmen are, of course, cordially invited to attend. Getting the girl? Well, that's your problem. The class officers can only go so far.

Going, Going, Gone . . .

Some of the prized possessions of Bob Hope, Audrey Hepburn, Richard Chamberlain, Miss America and Ella Fitzgerald will be auctioned away in Gerrard Hall next Monday at 7 p.m.

These famous celebrities aren't destitute. It's just that when the Student Nurses' Association told them money was urgently needed to send several nurses to the Association's national convention, what could they say?

Kemp Nye and Jim Heavner will auction off the useful and not so useful items at bargain prices.

Make some poor nurses happy next week. Don't forget to attend the auction, and don't forget to bring plenty of money.

NC Symphony, Outdoor Drama Come To Town Thursday

Concert In Memorial Hall

The North Carolina Symphony, under the direction of Dr. Benjamin Swain, will present its annual evening concert in Chapel Hill Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in Memorial Hall. Elain Skorodin, violinist will appear as guest artist. UNC students and their spouses will be admitted free through the courtesy of Graham Memorial.

Admission is by membership in the Symphony. UNC students and their wives will be admitted free through the courtesy of Graham Memorial. The performance is dedicated to the late Russell Gramman.

The program will open with Weber's Overture to the opera "Euryanthe," followed by Symphony No. II in D major, Opus 73 by Brahms. Elaine Skorodin will join Mr. Swain and the State Symphony in a performance of Lalo's "Symphonie Espagnole."

Excerpts from Stravinsky's ballet, "Petrouchka," will conclude the program.

Lalo's "Symphonie Espagnole"

was written for the Spanish violinist, Pabls de Sarasate, in 1875. It is a favorite in the violin repertoire with facile lightness, piquant rhythms, sensuous melodies, and fine technical display.

"Petrouchka" is one of Stravinsky's major works and a landmark of 20th century music (1911). The puppet Petrouchka and the other characters in the ballet seem to reflect the common experiences of people everywhere. Part II has an effective role for the piano as Petrouchka broods in his room. Sara Beth Hearn, of the music faculty at Woman's College will be the piano soloist.

The Orchestra's appearances here are supported by the Chapel Hill Chapter of the North Carolina Symphony Society through the sale of memberships in the Society. Memberships are not only valid for admission to evening performances throughout the State, but also make possible the free matinees for school children.

'The Braggart Soldier'

Half-price tickets for "Student Night" at the Carolina Playmakers production of "The Braggart Soldier" went on sale yesterday in Y-Court and at the Graham Memorial Information Desk. Thursday evening has been set for "Student Night" for the final production, being staged in the Forest Theatre, of the Playmakers current season.

Directed by Kai Jurgenson of the Playmakers staff, "The Braggart Soldier" includes settings by Tommy Rezzuto, lighting by Russell Graves, and a promise from the U. S. Weather Bureau of fair skies and warming weather for the four-performance run. After the Thursday performance which is reserved for UNC students and their dates, the Plautus farce will open to the general public for the Friday, Saturday, and Sunday performances.

Translated and adapted by Dr. Albert I. Suskin of the UNC Department of Classics, "The Braggart Soldier" is credited with being the first play to depict the vainglorious military man who is all talk and no action. Portraying the title role of Pyrgopolynices is Graham Pollock of Gatesville, a UNC senior well-known to Playmakers audiences for his roles this season in "Little Mary Sunshine" and "The Fantasticks." The cast, made up entirely of UNC students, also features Margaret Cathell, Lise Knox, Laurel Dykstra, Ed Kenestrick, Tom Benenson and Arnold Wengrow in important roles.

"Student Night" ticket sales will continue through Thursday, in Y-Court and at GM, and, if still available, will be sold at the Forest Theatre box office on Thursday night. All tickets are general admission, and sell for one dollar.
