U. S. Is Hit Again In Gulf Of Tonkin Sellout

WASHINGTON (AP)-Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Friday "preliminary and fragmentary reports" have been received of a night-time incident in the Gulf of Tonkin involving American naval vessels. "There has been no damage reported by American vessels and no loss of American personnel," McNamara said in a statement. A Pentagon spokesman who read the statement refused to say whether or not it was a shooting incident.

He would not identify the kinds of vessels or say how many there

(Peter Hackes, Pentagon correspondent for the National Proadcasting Co. in New York, said in a network telecast at 3 p.m., EDT: "Four North Vietnamese patrol boats have attacked United States warships in the Gulf of Tonkin. United States retaliatory action may now be taking place.")

McNamara's statement did not indicate what kinds of Communist forces were involved.

The brief announcement followed reports that an American destroyer or destroyers had clashed possibly with Communist North Vietnamese PT boats in bad weather.

U. S. destroyers were attacked by Red PT boats on two occasions in early August in Tonkin

The first indications that a new crisis might be bubbling up came this morning when McNamara cut off a news conference, and reporters were told that something had come up calling him away. His manner did not indi-

Two hours later, the Defense Department announced that the secretary had canceled an appearance for a talk in Chicago because "A problem arose that required secretary McNamara to remain here." The White House and the Defense Department refused comment. So did Pacific Fleet Headquarters at Pearl Harbor. The incident apparently occurred after dark, Asian Time, which was morning here.

From some quarters came reports that Communist PT boats were believed to be involved again, as in the August incidents.

The weather in the Tonkin Gulf area was reported as foul, and one of the difficulties being met by officials, in trying to pin down the situation was that messages came in garbled.

Playmakers Announce

Opening night tickets for the Carolina Playmakers 1964-65 season have been sold out, according to John W. Parker, business manager of the dramatic group. Some 330 tickets were sold earlier this week to UNC students. Regular reserved seat season tickets may now be purchased for $8 at the Playmakers' Business Office, 214 Abernethy Hall. and Ledbetter-Pickard's, in downtown Chapel Hill.

Tryouts for "My Fair Lady," first production of the fall season, will be conducted tomorrow and Monday at 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Hall by Thomas M. Patterson, director of the play, Foster Fitz-Simon, choreographer, and Charles Horton, musical director, and are open to the public.

Those trying out for singing roles should bring music for a song with which they are familiar. Those desiring speaking roles will be asked to read a section of the play script. Patterson announced, however, that it is not necessary to be familiar with the script in order to audi-

In addition to the performances of "My Fair Lady," October 23-25, the Playmakers' season includes "Hamlet," December 8-13; "Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mamma's Hung You In The Closet and I'm Feelin' So Sad," February 23-28; "Billy Budd," March 30-April 4; and "A Streetcar Named Desire," May 4-9.

Concert Tickets Will Go On Sale Monday P.M.

Tickets for the first of the Graham Memorial concerts, featuring the Bitter End Singers, will go on sale Monday at 1:00 p.m. in the lobby of Graham Memorial, according to the GM activities committee. Prices are $.50 for UNC students showing I.D. cards, and one dollar for date tickets.

Because of seating limitations in Memorial Hall, all tickets for the upcoming concerts must be sold in advance. Ticket sales will be made on a first-come, first-served basis.

The curtain rises on the Bitter End folksinging entourage in Memorial Hall next Friday evening at 8 p.m., to kick off the season's concert series. Future productions will feature guitarist Theodore Bikel, the Roger Wagner Chorale, Paul Winter Jazz Sextet, and Irina Arkipova.

Football Gates

There are now 12 southwest gate entrances to the UNC student section of Kenan Stadium. Approaches to the stadium lead from the Bell Tower Parking Lot and from paths to Raleigh Road. The gates will open at noon, To be assured of good seats and to avoid the traffic tie-ups, students should arrive well before the 1:30 p.m. kick-off time.

Free entertainment will be the order of the day, with a free combo at GM in the afternoon and in the Bell Tower Parking Lot at 8 p.m.

Hugh Stevens, president of the Consolidated Student Council, an nounced yesterday that the evening dance had been moved to the Bell Tower Lot from the Tin Can because of the expected crowd size.

In the event of rain, the dance will be moved back into the Tin Can. The Jammers combo will play from 8 until 11:30, when the girls from UNC-G will return to Greensboro

The girls will arrive at about 11:30 this morning and proceed to Graham Memorial "I certainly want to urge all

Carolina gentlemen to meet the girls from Greensboro and show them a good time," Stevens said. He reminded the UNC men that the girls will have tickets for the football game and will be able to sit in the student section. Presents Sharp

The CSC will introduce Dr. Paul Sharp, UNC's new chancellor, to the Kenan Stadium crowd during the halftime ceremonies. Sharp and UNC student government officials will be guests of the University Trustees at a pre-game luncheon at noon. A capacity crowd is expected to jam Kenan Stadium, and campus police chief Arthur Beaumont has asked all students to walk to the game in order to cut down on the congestion.

Most campus fraternities will be kicking off their social schedules this weekend, but their parties are generally closed to out-

Free Fun

"The dance at the Bell Tower will provide free entertainment for those who do not have access to fraternity parties," Stevens noted. "I would especially urge the freshmen to take advantage of this opportunity, since there will be many freshman girls here from Greensboro."

One member of each couple admitted to the dance must show an ID card from the Chapel Hill. Raleigh, or Greensboro campus.

Commercial Dorm To Be Constructed

A nine-story commercial dormitory for women graduate students will be constructed in downtown Chapel Hill, with completion scheduled for next fall.

A ten-acre West Franklin Street site, sold last June by the Chapel Hill School Board to Bobby Roberts of the Roberts Construction Company of Durham for $1 million has been resold to a Tennessee land development firm.

Chapel Hill's senior high school, the W. Franklin Elementary School and two other buildings are now located on the pro-

Allen Brothers and O'Hara of Memphis. Tenn., last month purchased the property and were granted a building permit for construction of the dormitory. Sale price was not disclosed.

According to Sion Jennings, agent for the transaction, Allen Brothers is ready to break ground shortly for the construction of a nine-story dormitory on the school's playground. The dormitory would have a capacity

If the option is exercised, Allen Brothers will own and operate the building. The University will have no association with the enterprise, but will refer students to it as off-campus housing when UNC housing is filled.

UNC Business Manager J. A. Branch said the University would welcome "quality off - campus housing" in Chapel Hill. However, the terms of the University's federal loans require that University housing be filled before any students are referred to off-campus housing.

Allen Brothers is one of the nation's largest land development enterprises, Jennings said. The firm is the builder of Holiday Inns and has constructed commercial dormitories at other large universities.

Town Manager Robert Peck said that Allen Brothers is still investigating the site prior to beginning construction.

Good Conduct Urged Student Body President Bob Spearman today issued a reminder to Carolina students that sportsmanship as well as school spirit will be important at today's game. "Today, we at Carolina are honored with a visit from our 'kinfolk' from West Raleigh," he said. "I urge all students to be at the game to give our team the support it needs for a fine beginning of a great season. "Faithful, strong and loud, student support was a big factor last fall in the Tar Heels' victorious year,

"Good sportsmanship at Carolina athletic events is a proud tradition at Chapel Hill. We have an agreement with State College that the winning side gets the goalposts without opposition from the losers. "I urge all students to do nothing which would detract from Carolina's tradition of good sportsmanship and to do everything possible to give our team the strong support it deserves."
