Council Allocates $96,800 To UNC

UNC Alumni Annual Giving Council officials announced to- Annual Giving Program were day the allocation of $96,800 to the University as the result of a successful fund-raising cam- They were R. Mayne Albright, paign among UNC alumni.

The $96,800 allocation increases the total amount contributed to the University by alumni through the annual fundraising program to about $1,-030,000 in the past 12 years, Director Tom Bost Jr. said. During that time 13,252 UNC alumni responded to the campaign effort, he added.

The $96,300 will be spent for several purposes, including: faculty research, travel and retirement, the chancellor's emergency fund, Distinguished Alumni Professorships, graduate fellowships, and Student Welfare Fund.

For the first time this year, an allocation of $2,500 was earmarked for the UNC Department of Radio, Television and Motion Pictures.

The council, which recently elected John T. Church of Henderson as chairman to succeed Harry H. Montgomery of Wilmington, administers funds contributed to the University each year in the Alumni Annual Giving Program,

Welcome Wanderers!

While you chaps were out carrying culture to the boondocks, the crew at the Intimate has not been idle. Here os a report:

IN THE NEW BOOK WORLD-Perhaps the most exciting of the new books was published while you were having final exams last June. In the event that you missed it then, we can tell you that THE LIGHT THAT SHINES, by U. N. C.'s own Chancellor Emeritus Robert B. House has been selling and selling and selling all summer long. It's a wonderful picture of the University back in the days of Horace Williams, Kemp Plummer Battle and a dozen other's whom you probably think of as Dormitories, Five bucks will get you an autographed copy. Charies Schulz has had a sort of one-man opulation explosion, and now has half a dozen new books on the shelf, including a new PEANUTS number.

IN THE OLD BOOK CORNERprices trimmed twice since you left, so that the old familiar least cheaper, by now, Come in and check up.

On the other hand, there has never been a summer when we had so many libraries of old books come in. It will take time to get them all processed, but it should be a lively Fall for scholars! Ask us to boast about

Morehead Scholars Honored At Dinner

John Motley Morehead, 93year-old UNC graduate and chairman of the scholarship foundation bearing his name, arrived here Sunday to attend a buffet supper last night honoring his 49 freshman scholars.

Established in 1951, the Morehead awards are ranked among the most valuable scholarships for undergraduate study in the nation. They are worth $5,300 for four years of study to North Carolina residents and $7,000 to non-state residents, an allowance being made for tuition differ-

There are 163 Morehead Scholars in residence this year. Five are on leave. There are 49 new scholars, who received their awards March 3.

The annual supper was held Tuesday evening in the Morehead Dining Room where senior scholars presented the traditional senior skit.

Morehead also attended a fall meeting of Morehead Foundation Trustees Tuesday.

Friday Gets Raise

In August, 1963, Hill, who heads a committee to study university salaries, recommended to the governor that Friday's pay be hiked to $30,00 and the chancellors to $25,000.

The Durham businessman said it was necessary to raise salaries in order to compete with other institutions. He cited the University of California, which has nine separate schools. Each chancellor there receives in excess of $30,000.

"We're just not in that ball game," Hill said, "unless we get better salaries for our men.
