

Brawny Freshmen Open Against Maryland Today

By ALEX KAPLAN
DTH Sports Writer

Frosh football coach George Barclay unveils his 1965 Tar Babies today as his yearlings play the Maryland Baby Teps at Kenan Stadium at one p.m. today.

Size is the key in this season's squad. The freshmen are the biggest team ever brought to Carolina. The Tar Babies average better than 210 pounds in the line and just over 200 pounds in the backfield.

Playing important parts in Coach Barclay's plan to avenge a 32-12 thumping by the Baby Teps in last year's game are Marc Greenberg, Charles Carr, Tim Karrs and James Masino. Greenberg, starting at tackle, is the largest of the freshmen. The Phillipsburg, N. J., native stands six feet tall and weighs 254 pounds.

Carr was selected for all-State and All-American honors as an end during his high school days at Virginia Beach, Va. One of the most sought after players in the country as a senior last year, Carr is 6-4, 195.

Karrs, 6-3, 210-pounder, will be the number one quarterback. Fine passer and good runner, Tim, whose dad played for the former Cleveland Rams, hails from Natrona Heights, Pa. Masino, from Uniondale, N. Y., is the fullback and a good one. At 6-1 and 225 pounds, he is a powerful runner.

Starting opposite Carr at end is Lynwood Duncan, 6-1, 195 from Greensboro. At the guards are Lloyd Gene Fisher and Mike Horvat. Fisher, a native of Brevard, was voted the outstanding lineman in the Shrine Bowl game. Horvat, of Berwick, Pa., is 6-2 and 225.

The center is Leon Thompson, a 6-3, 215-pounder from Washington, D. C. Spelling Thompson on defense will be a Burlington boy, William Spain. Spain, the defensive captain, is 6-0 and 195. Brent Milgram and James Vota are the starting halfbacks for the Tar Babies. Milgram, from Battleboro, is a converted end.

He stands 5-10 and weighs 180. Vota, who's home is Dillonvale, Ohio, is 6-0 and 200.

One non-scholarship boy found a place on the starting team. He is Allan Ramsey, a Washington, D. C. native who was All-Prep for two years at Woodberry Forest in Virginia.

Excitement Of Convention Returns To Atlantic City

By ART BUCHWALD

Every year we vow never to watch the "Miss America" show on television again, and every year we seem to get sucked in. Last Saturday evening we tried to keep the vow, but at 10 p.m. rolled around we said to our wife, "I'll just watch it for a few moments, and then we'll turn it off."

Two hours later we were still staring at the set, watching one of the dullest shows put on the air this year. Since it came from Atlantic City, the thought occurred to us that you could probably make the "Miss America" show much more interesting if you could cover it like a political convention.

"Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. This is Bert Parks speaking to you from the anchor booth here in Atlantic City where in a few hours Miss America will tween you and Miss Texas, and you're going to throw your votes to her in exchange for being made Miss Reingold of 1965."

"I haven't made any deals with Miss Texas or anyone else. I'm in this to the bitter end. I'm Alaska's favorite daughter and we're holding fast."

"Thank you. Now back to Bert Parks in the booth."

We've just had a bulletin that Miss New York has accused Miss Arizona of seeking support of the extremist groups here at the convention, who advocate the use of bikinis against Miss Russia in the Miss Universe contest. Let's see if Frank McGee has some more information on this."

"Bert, I've been talking to Miss New York and she says if Miss Arizona supports a bikini bathing suit she's going to walk out."

"What does Miss Arizona have to say about this?"

your back that have put you a bad light. What have you to say about this?"

"I was hoping the backlash issue would be kept out of the campaign. I'm willing to stand on my statistics, back a front."

"Thank you. Now back Bert Parks."

"Thank you, Roger. I th Miss Texas is being interview now."

"Ah think we should have strong Miss America, a America of all the people, and poor, a Miss America who wields her power with moderation and understanding, a America who will not use awesome weapons at her disposal for anything but peace. us begin."
