Tigers Claw Tar Heels Behind Vicious Defense

Screen Runs Wild In Easy 20-3 Win

BATON ROUGE, La. — Louisiana State's mighty Bengals completely snuffed out the once-potent North Carolina offense and smashed the Tar Heels 20-3 here tonight.

The Tar Heels were just no match for the bigger, faster and stronger Tigers. Their only score came on a 25-yard field goal by Max Chapman after a recovered fumble on the 11 yard line.

The LSU backfield of Pat Screen, Joe Labruzzo and Don Schwab moved the ball seemingly at will in the second half when they pushed across 17 of their 20 points.

STATISTICS

	LSU	UNC
First downs	19	9
Rushing yards	248	51
Passing yards	71	86
Total offense	391	137
Passes completed	4-9	6-18
Passes intercepted	2	0
Punt average	38	42
Fumbles lost	1	2
Yds. penalized	72	47

The Tigers took the opening kickoff and marched to the Tar Heel 19, before Moreau dropped back and booted a 36-yard field goal.

The march started on the 24 and on the first play fullback Don Schwab blasted up the middle for 15 yards. After Hamburger threw Screen for a 5-yard loss, Screen and Labruzzo combined for a 16-yard pass play on third down.

With another crucial third down on the Tar Heel 47, Screen dropped back to pass, saw the middle was open and scrambled for 27 yards to the 20. Here the Tar Heels' defense held, and Moreau's field goal gave the Tigers their 3-0 lead which they held until halftime.

Later in the first quarter, Screen and Labruzzo led another LSU drive which was stopped on the Tar Heel 1-yard line. Screen broke loose for an 18-yard run, and on the next play Labruzzo went wide and carried 27 yards to the four before he was knocked out of bounds.

Here an offside penalty saved the Tar Heels, and with fourth and goal on the 3, Gawayn DiBetta's dive was stopped on the one.

Early in second quarter, the Secretary of State Dean Rusk is expected to deliver a major U. S. foreign policy speech at University Day ceremonies here tomorrow morning. For the story, see page 3.

Tar Heels moved for their longest drive of the game. With Gary Black directing the attack, the Tar Heels picked up five first downs while marching from their six to the LSU 27 before a Black aerial was intercepted.

The Tar Heels took the second-half kickoff, but once again couldn't move the ball and Bill Edwards kicked to Labruzzo, who obligingly fumbled on the 11. John Atherton scooped up the loose ball, and the Heels had their first break of the game.

But they couldn't move the ball against the stout Tiger defense, and Chapman came in to kick his second field goal of the season.

A 97-yard kickoff return by Labruzzo was quickly nullified by a clipping penalty, but the Tar Heels' agony was only prolonged.

After holding the Tigers, a roughing-the-kicker penalty was called on the Tar Heels, and the Tigers had life on what turned out to be the break of the game.

From here the Tigers marched to their first offensive touchdown of the year, ending when DiBetta smashed over from the four with 5:03 left in the third quarter.

After that first TD it was all over for the Tar Heels. The Tigers moved for another field goal and another touchdown to hang the second defeat of the year on the Big Blue.

A BAD NIGHT FOR QUARTERBACKS — UNC quarterback Gary Black (12) attempts to get off a pass in the face of onrushing LSU linemen. The Bengal men kept the Tar Heel quarterbacks company all night as the Tigers downed the Tar Heels 20-3. Black and Danny Talbott completed only six of 18 passes for Carolina. —Photo Courtesy WTVD

Mantle Home Run Nips St. Louis Cards, 2-1

— Mickey Mantle's towering home run in the last of the ninth inning gave the New York Yankees a dramatic 2-1 victory over St. Louis today in the third game of the World Series and a one-game edge over the Cardinals in the best-of-seven-games post-season classic.

The Yankees and Cardinals had split the first two games at St. Louis, the Cardinals winning Wednesday's opener 9-5 and New York taking Thursday's second game 8-3.

The fourth game will be played here Sunday, with Cardinal lefthander Ray Sadecki, the first-game winning pitcher, opposing New York lefthander Al Downing.

Mantle, sore-legged slugging star of the American League champions, hit relief pitcher Barney Schultz's first delivery into the third deck of the right field stands at jam-packed Yankee Stadium. It was Mantle's 16th World Series homer, breaking a record he shared with Babe Ruth.

The winning home run ended a brilliant pitching duel between Jim Bouton of the Yankees and St. Louis' Curt Simmons, who gave way to Schultz in the ninth. Bouton allowed six hits and pitched out of serious trouble in three of the last four innings. Simmons held the Yankees to four hits before leaving the game for a pinch hitter in the top of the ninth.

A crowd of 67,101 in partly-cloudy and chilly weather watched Bouton, a 25-year-old righthander, hold off the Cardinals after they tied the score in the fifth inning with the aid of an error by Mantle.

Tim McCarver led off the fifth with a single and raced to second when rightfielder Mantle bobbled the ball. McCarver took third on a ground out and scored on an infield single by Simmons.

Elston Howard's single, a base on balls and Cletis Boyer's double had given the Yankees a 1-0 margin in the second inning.

Bouton stranded St. Louis runners on third base in the sixth, seventh and ninth innings before Mantle's home run broke up the tension-filled game.
