Maryland Upsets Heels 10-9 On Brilliant Goal Line Stand

UNC Fullback Eddie Kesler (45) dives forward in yesterday's game with Maryland. Kesler was Carolina's leading ground gainer with 57 yards in 12 carries. Despite Kesler's supreme effort the Terps were able to stop the Tar Heel running game at crucial times and walk away with the win. Frank Gallagher (70) and Ken Willard (40) are the other UNC players discernable.

Maryland's stubborn Terrapins stopped a North Carolina drive on their 1-inch line with slightly over two minutes to play and held on for a 10-9 win in the 18th annual Oyster Bowl.

The Tar Heels had moved 85 yards from their own 14 to the Maryland yard line where quarterback Gary Black fumbled the hip from center. Ken Willard picked up the loose ball but couldn't carry it over.

The Tar Heels had first and goal on the three, but couldn't quite push the ball over the goal line stripe.

On second down from the 2, it seemed that fullback Eddie Kesler had plunged over, but the refs ruled that he had been stopped on the 1-foot line. A Black sneak took the ball down to the goal line, but then came the costly fumble.

The entire game was a matter of inches. Maryland's touchdown came on a 2-yard dive by fullback Walt Marciniak. The entire Tar Heel line came up to meet Marciniak and throw him back, but the referee ruled that he had dived over before he was thrown back.

The game, with all proceeds going to the Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital, was played before 28,000 fans in overcast weather. With Maryland controlling the ball with about a minute to play, a steady downpour began and only seemed to greaten the dismay of the Tar Heel fans.

O'fense was the key to the game. The Tar Heels rolled up 336 total yards while the Terrapins picked up 297 yards.

The Tar Heels seemed to move to will in the first half—between the 20-yard lines. Once the Heels got deep in Maryland territory their attack bogged down and Max Chapman missed field goals of 33, 53 and 30 yards.

The Terrapins scored with 5:35 left in the half when they moved from their 20 to the Carolina 10 before Chilean soccer player Chico Bramson dropped back and kicked a 27-yard field goal.

The Tar Heels took the kickoff after the score and marched 66 yards in five plays. The drive started when Eddie Kesler crashed tackle and broke loose for 16 yards. After the Tar Heels were penalized 15 yards for a personal foul, Black completed passes to Darnall and Atherton, and Willard picked up the first down on the Maryland 40.

On first down, Black dropped back to pass, was seemingly trapped but rolled to his right and heaved a touchdown pass to Ronnie Jackson who had slipped behind his man. Dave Braine kicked the extra point and Carolina led 7-3 with 3:13 left in the half.

Maryland moved to the Tar Heel 29 before the half, but Bramson missed a field goal.

After the Tar Heels stopped the first Maryland drive of the second half on their 25, the Terrapins marched 38 yards in 7 plays to go ahead 10-7. The drive was set up when the Tar Heels were penalized on three consecutive plays. The final penalty came on a Bill Edwards punt for a personal foul.

After gaining a first down on the Tar Heel 6, the Terps moved to the one where Marciniak dived over.

With Black brilliantly leading the drive, the Heels took the ball on their 14 to begin their last drive that just fell short. With Black completing three passes for 49 yards, the Tar Heels were just repulsed when Black fumbled on the one.

The Tar Heels got the ball one more time, but four Black passes trickled off the hands of his receivers, and Maryland ran the clock out.

The Terps gave the Tar Heels two points at this point, when they elected to center the ball out of the goal line rather than risk the possibility of a blocked punt.

"I've never been as proud of a team as I was of ours today which beat what I consider the best team in the Atlantic Coast Conference, and one which had kicked the hell out of Michigan State," said Maryland coach Tom Nugent.

UNC coach Jim Hickey said, "We had the scoring opportunities, we just didn't cash in on them. Don't ask me to comment on the officiating I don't. My fullback, Eddie Kesler, thought he was over on our last drive to the goal. I couldn't see it from my position. Anyway, we didn't get the touchdown."

Duke Beats Wolfpack, 35-3

By PHIL CORNER
AP Sports Writer

DURHAM (AP)—Duke took a giant step towards the Atlantic Coast Conference football title Saturday by trouncing NC State with withering ground attack and staunch defense.

The final score was Duke 35, State 3.

It was the first conference loss for State which is 3-1 in the conference and 3-2 over-all, and left Duke with a mark of 3-0-1, all in league play.

The Blue Devils hurled a trio of hard running backs at the out-manned Wolfpack defense and advanced to a 13-3 lead at the half.

The winners scored three times in the second half, one on an 83-yard runback of an intercepted pass by John Gutekunst.

The fierce line thrusts of Sonny Odom, Mike Curtis and Bob Matheson kept the Duke attack going for most of the game. Odom scored twice and Curtis once.

Second-stringer Rich Kraft capped the offensive show by finishing a drive in the closing moments of the game.

Duke, down 3-0 when a pass interception set up a State field goal in the opening period, went in for its first score from 38 yards out. A defensive holding penalty while Duke was missing a field goal kept the drive going. On the ninth play of the drive Odom carried over from the 11.

Duke was right back on a 56-yard march capped by Curtis' one-yard drive over the lines into the end zone.

Another Duke drive fell short on the State one early in the fourth quarter, but they got the ball right back on a fumble on the four. Odom carried over from the 2 two plays later.

Gutekunst's pass interception and run and Kraft's score followed as the Blue Devils made the game a rout.

Duke's domination of the game was illustrated graphically by the statistics. The Blue Devils notched 21 first downs to State's nine and 319 yards rushing to State's 77.

Odom, Curtis and Matheson accounted for a total of 226 yards. Odom chalked up 113 on 20 plays. Matheson went for 63 yards and Curtis for 50. The top State runner was quarterback Ron Skosnik with 22 yards.

COMING IN THE DTH

In Tuesday's DTH, Co-Editor Hugh Stevens has a wrap-up on the activities of Thompson Mann and Larry Brown, UNC's participants in the Tokyo Olympics. Mann set a new world record in the 100-meter backstroke in leading the US 400-meter relay to a gold medal, while Brown is a backcourt star for the undefeated U.S. basketball team.
