

Tickets On Sale Monday For Paul Winter Concert

Ticket sales for the Paul Winter Sextet appearance here begin at 1 p.m. tomorrow in GM Lounge.

The ensemble acclaimed as "possibly the most important new jazz group of the 1960's," will play in Memorial Hall on Nov. 18 at 8 p.m., sponsored by the Graham Memorial Activities Board.

Comprising a saxophone, classical guitar, flute, piano, bass and drums, the sextet has played in concerts all over the country, made many television appearances and recorded five albums.

The Winter Sextet has advanced the State Department cultural exchange program to Latin America, where the sextet presented 160 concerts in 61 cities.

For its successful tour, the late President John F. Kennedy paid tribute to them by inviting the group to perform at the White House. The sextet accepted, becoming the first jazz group to play at the Executive Mansion.

Danielson Says UNC Not 'Pink'

Dr. Wayne Danielson, dean of the Journalism School, praised UNC's journalism students Friday night at a Raleigh meeting of the Eastern North Carolina Press Association.

He said employers of his students "can have confidence that the next generation of North Carolina journalists will be a good one." Journalism students here, he asserted, are politically alive, intellectually advancing and "have the Tar Heel touch."

Dean Danielson said he sometimes gets the impression that North Carolina feels UNC is "a giant factory turning out Reds—or at least pinks."

This belief is false, he said, explaining that students reflect the political life of the state to a marked degree.

"For five years I have observed the same phenomenon—approximately half the students are liberal and approximately half are conservative."

Folk Dance Group Formed

Accomplished folk dances, beginners and some who enjoy watching are included among a group which meets at 7:30 p.m. Mondays in Hillel Center.

The folk dancing sessions sponsored by Hillel and Graham Memorial, incorporate both instruction and dancing.

Meetings are under the direction of Jim Kahan, graduate student in psychology. Kahan has taught dance workshops in Oregon and California and was the 1962 winner of the Oregon Folk Dance Federation Scholarship.

"Folk dancing is not square dancing," he says, but an activity which incorporates both educational and social elements.

Dances from Israel, Greece, Yugoslavia, Russia and Great Britain are included.

No charge is made for the sessions. Kahan has issued an invitation to those interested in either watching or participating to attend.
