Associated Press Wire Service

THEFT, LYING CASE

Junior's Sentence Altered By Faculty Review Board

DTH Associate Editor

A UNC junior, accused of lying and stealing, had his sentence changed from two semesters suspension to indefinite suspension in an appeal case be- stealing charge alone would fore the Faculty Review Board have been one semester sus-Tuesday.

This was the second appeal for the defendant.

Indefinite suspension usually lasts for one full academic semester, although it may last for two

Board Chairman Gordon Cleveland, a political science professor, had no statement on reasons for the change in sentence. The student was convicted of a series of petty thefts from a snack bar where he was employed and of lying before the Men's Council in a case heard in two parts, Oct. 22 and 27. He was sentenced to two semesters sus-

He appealed the case to the Faculty Review Board which discovered procedural errors in the first hearing. The defendant had been charged with lying when he changed his story midway through the proceedings and had not been given 72 hours notice of the new charge.

The case was remanded to the other half of the Men's Council who retired it Nov. 24. The same verdict and sentence were returned.

The second appeal was based on the severity of the sentence. The defendant had been tried with two other students in the first case who were accused of the same charges.

He maintained then and later that he had not been responsible for the theft of as large amounts of goods as had the other two. In the first case, the defendant was charged with being "involved in" the theft of about $2,000 worth of goods. The figure came from an inventory shortage recorded shortly after he quit. Part of his first appeal was based on the implication in the initial charge that he was a part of a larger theft that he felt no responsibility for. Only one person had been implicated in the entire theft at that point.

'I figured that if I was the only other one who had admitted it, they might just split that $2,000 right down the middle," he said.

He claimed that the total of his thefts over a period of time had not been more than about $25. In both of the Men's Council trials this figure was disregarded because of the impossibility of establishing an accurate estimate. The defendant continued to maintain the difference between taking articles for himself and giving them away to friends. This difference was not noted in any of the three trials. Both the council and the board regarded both actions as stealing.

He told the Board Tuesday that the figure of $2,000 on the initial charge had been part of his inducement to lie. "I was scared," he said, " lied because of the seriousness of the charge." He admitted, however, that he told the council and the Attorney General's Staff that he had never given or taken anything at all. Further evidence showed he had been counseled strongly by the Dean of Men that his best defense would be to tell the truth. The council chairman testi-

Tulane Tickets On Sale Today

Basketball tickets for the Tulane game at Woollen Gym Dec. 10 will be distributed to students and staff whose names begin with the letters N through Z today and tomorrow.

On Saturday the remaining tickets will be distributed to students and staff on first-come, first-served basis. Because of limited space in Woollen Gym, this system is used. Students whose last names begin with N through Z have top priority on the Tulane tickets, and students from A to M will have priority on the tickets for the next home game. Tickets for the Kentucky game at the Charlotte Coliseum on Monday night are on sale to students for $1.

fied that the sentence would have been considerably different had the defendant told the truth from the start. He said that the most severe sentence he would have received for the pension. The defendant also claimed that he was partly tempted to lie because of the character and previous council record of his accuser. He maintained that at the discretion of the Men's parts of the accusations had

His accuser was the student first convicted in the whole case involving the inventory short-

The defendant had originally changed his plea when three other witnesses were brought in to testify that they had received goods from him. Indefinite suspension usually lasts one full academic semester affor the end of the semester in which the student is first suspended. Reinstatement is granted by the Men's Council upon formal application and, in some instances, a hearing. Other members of the Review Board were Dr. Earle Wallace, political science professor, and Dr. William J. Koch, professor of botany.

Interviews Begin

Committee Posts

Today For Junior

The Junior Class will hold committee interviews starting today from 3-5 p.m. in the Rendezvous Room of Graham Memorial.

it was announced yesterday by

There are vacancies in the Pub-

In -addition, the class will organize a Projects Committee.

which will sponsor speakers both

Interviews wil continue through next week, with meeting room and times to be announced in

DECORATING PARTY

Graham Memorial's annual all-

campus Christmas decorating party will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Entertainment and refreshments are highlights of this festive event. Students are invited.

on and off campus.

the Daily Tar Heel.

licity, Social, Finance and Executive Committees, Pepper said.

Class President Sonny Pepper.

Sanford To Sum Up Years As Governor

Governor Terry Sanford will review accomplishments of his administration Tuesday when he speaks to UNC students at 7:45 p.m. in Carroll Hall. His address, sponsored by the UNC Young Democrats Club, is on "North Carolina, 1961-64: A Summing Up." It will be open to the public.

It was a little more than four years ago that Sanford outlined to the YDC a 32-point platform of what he planned to do for the state in return for his election

GOV. SANFORD

Bili Whichard, UNC YDC president, said that the club and the governor felt that it would be appropriate for him to return here, as he enters the last weeks of his administration, for the purpose of going over what plans he has been able to carry out.

He is expected to discuss his programs in public education, special education for exceptional and retarded children, higher education, the arts, poverty, and industrial development.

As a UNC student, Sanford was active in student government and the YDC.

Whichard urged students to at-

AFROTC BALL

"Airmen of Note," the U. S. Air Force dance orchestra, will play at the AFROTC Military Ball Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Naval Armory. The orchestra has appeared in over 300 cities in 25 countries and is acclaimed in "Downbeat" as "one of the best bands jazz enthusiasts can hear today." "Airmen of Note" was the orchestra in Universal International's "Glenn Miller Story." More recently it has appeared at the Brussels World Fair and the International Music Festival.

Speaks Tonight In Peabody "There is no window dressing," "Extraordinary force and bril-Wright said. "His poetry is clean

'Explosive' Poet Alan Dugan

liant unexpectedness." This is how the New York Review of Books described the Pulitzer Prize Winning poet Alan

Dugan, who will give a reading tonight at 7:30 in Peabody Hall has been referred to as the "Ingmar Bergman of the so-called younger poets." Charles Wright

"There is almost nothing in his poetry you can call 'Poetic dic-

Dugan

of the English Department, who will introduce Dugan for the North Carolina Poetry Circuit tonight, said,

Out Go Ringo's Tonsils

LONDON (AP)-A surgeon went in Wednesday and snipped out two bits of lymphoid tissue from Ringo Starr's anterior and posterior pillars of the fauces.

Hours later all you could get from Covent Garden 2332, a special number set up for inquiries about the condition of the Beatles drummer, was a busy signal.

However, the people who took Ringo's tonsils out said all was well, and that the 24-year-old stick man would recover to utter many another yeah, yeah, yeah,

They started taking out Ringo's tonsils at 8 a.m. and the job was over and done with in an hour and a half.

People lucky enough to get through to Covent Garden 2332 heard the recorded voice of Anne Collingham, a secretarial employee of the Beatles management, assuring them that the long-nosed. gravel-voiced drummer was thriving.

The Beatles management said Ringo, taking no chances, would languish in University College Hospital for the next 10 days. After the recent American tour of the Beatles a couple of entrepreneurs bought pillow cases the boys had used and sold same for a buck a fragment. Ringo said this would not happen to his tonsils. He told newsmen he would have them cremated

Ragtime Comes To Carolina

Max Morath will bring his ragtime tunes back to UNC Wednesday and this time he'll have company.

Since his March concert, Morath has associated with three other musicians to form the Original Ray Quartet. The concert is slated for 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall. Admission will be free to students and the pub-

The heyday of ragtime was over when Morath was born in 1928. However he soaked up the "Maple Leaf Rag" from his mother, a silent movie piano player, and carried on from there. Other members of the quartet joined him last summer and the group opened in New York's Village Vanguard.

When Morath decided to organize the quartet he was faced with the problem of where to look for rag musicians.

"Would they be jazz musicians? Would they be folk musicians? Jazz musicians can usually read music, but they don't sing. Folk musicians can sing but most of them can't read."

The men he finally selected were from neither category. Jim Taylor, who plucks the tenor banjo, was schooled in a variety of string instruments including the lute. Felix Pappalardi, a cornetist and percussionist, strums the guitarron, a huge guitar developed by the wandering Mariachi bands of Mexico to provide a mobile bass. The only man in the group whose background is almost contemporary is Barry Kornfeld whose interests stem from folk music of the nineteen-twenties and thirties. He plays guitar, fivestring banjo and harmonica with the quartet.

For two years he worked as guitar accompanist to Rev. Gary Davis, a blind gospel and blues singer. His interest in classic rag was whetted by his work during the past two years with jug bands.

CHAPIN RETURNS

F. Stuart Chapin, UNC professor of city and regional planning, has returned from presiding over a conference on land development and transportation in Washington, D. C. The meeting was attended by 25 university, transportation and planning officials engaged in city planning studies.

cut and straightforward.

Dugan poetry.

"One of the risks he runs is to use a lot of topical references to current things such as Mus-zak, television, Madison Avenue, and to apply them to perennial

Wright says that readers are sometimes shocked by some of the references that are used in it crude to use slang phrases like

'cold stoned' in lyric poetry form,'

he said. "But with Dugan it fits and he can make it work. He makes it even decorous to the

is coming to the Carolina Poetry

Circuit. He is an exciting and ex-

Dugan received the 1962 National Book Award and the Rome

Fellowship of the American Academy of Arts and Letters for 1962-

His poems have been published in the "Saturday Review,"

"New Yorker," and "Accent."

He has written two books,

Imported Gift Sale

"Y" Court goes international

today, tomorrow and Saturday with the sale of gifts from all over

Austria, the Philippines, England, and Africa are just a few of the regions from which imported items are coming for the International Gift Bazaar and Coffee House. Sponsored by the "Y"

Finance Committee, the sale is a fund-raising program for YM-

YWCA community srvice pro-

Prices range from $1 to $5 on items such as African wood carvings and Irish pottery.

"Poem" and "Poems 2."

the world.

jects.

plosive poet," Wright said.

"I'm very pleased that Dugan

"Less liberal readers consider

Mario Savio, the rebel leader, was joined by folksinger Joan Baez in leading the march by demonstrators into Sproul Hall after they talked and sang for nearly an hour to a rally crowd of 3,000 to 4,000 outside the building. Sproul Hall is the Berkeley campus administrative center. Savio, 21, New York East Side Manhattan - born philosophy junior, told the crowd: "We're not going to break this up until we get what we want."

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)-Led

by a defiant campus rebel, several hundred demonstrators invaded the University of California's Sproul Hall Wednesday.

Their leader declared they would remain until disciplinary action was dropped against four self-styled Free Speech leaders.

LOOKING IT OVER is George T. Kiley, Superintendent for the REA Construction Company which is building the big one, Morrison residence

Campus Police made no effort to stop the demonstrators from entering the building.

A police spokesman said no immediate action was planned. He noted, however, that the building normally is closed at 5 p.m. Savio, who was arrested last March as a Sheraton-Palace Hotel sit-in demonstrator for more Negro jobs, made clear that the

THREE FILMS

The Department of Radio, Television and Motion Pictures will sponsor three Film Board documentary productions at 7:30 p.m. Monday in 1 Swain. Included on the program are "Mirror of the Past," an account of the Tryon Palace at New Bern; "The Ayes in session; and "We're Not Have It," the N. C. legislature Alone," a production by students at Bennett College.

demonstration's major demand is the withdrawal of disciplinary action against four leaders of the Free Speech Movement (FSM).

California Students Riot

McClosky Denies Part

In $35,000 Kick Back

Savio and the three others were notified this week that they would be summoned before the Faculty Committee on Student Conduct for violation of University regu-

The three others are Arthur

State SL Interviews Start Today

Final interviews for State Student Legislature are being held today in Roland Parker 3 from 3 to 5 p.m.

The selections committee will round out the UNC delegation of 14 delegates and seven alternates after interviews end. Those not chosen for the official delegation will be invited to attend SSL as observers.

All students, male and female, from freshman to graduate school, are invited to apply. Selection will be made on the basis of speaking ability and knowledge of current issues, particularly on the state This year's sessions of SSL will be in the old state house in Raleigh, Feb. 18-20. Schools from all over the state will attend. The UNC delegation will be meet next week to discuss what bill it should present at SSL.

For Campus 'Free Speech'

Goldberg and his sister, Jackie

-Photo by Jock Lauterer

hall. The 10-story structure will hold 1,042 students and hopefully will be ready by next fall.

Goldberg, and Brian Turner. All participated in the Oct. 1-2 sit-in demonstration in Sproul Hall during which demonstrators occupied a police car through the night and used it as a speaking rostrum.

Other demands outlined by Savio in the new demonstration included:

An end to regulations "which needlessly restrict students or their organizations in the exercise of on - campus political

No further disciplinary action be taken until the administration reaches a settlement with the Free Speech Movement. The University's Board of Regents last Nov. 19 declared this policy for campus political ac-

"Certain campus facilities, carefully selected and properly regulated, may be used by students and staff for planning, implementing, or raising funds or recruiting participants for lawful off campus action, not for unlawful off-campus action." The Regents, in another resolution, reaffirmed their policy that all students and student organizations "obey the laws of the state and community."

Savio and his supporters last year recruited students for the series of San Francisco demonstrations demanding more jobs for Negroes.

Savio, a campus representative of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, spent the summer in Mississippi helping in the drive to register Negroes for voting.

Bobby Baker Takes Stand, Also 'Fifth'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former Ambassador Matthew H. McCloskey denied Wednesday that he ever took part in an undercover deal to kick back $35,000 from one of his government contracts to help finance the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson campaign.

The 71-year-old retired Philadelphia contractor and Democratic fund-raiser testified before the Senate Rules Committee after Bobby Baker refused to answer any questions about political payoffs, party girls, or other capital

Referring to testimony yesterday by insurance agent Don B. Reynolds, who said he acted as "bag man" in the deal and told of a breakfast meeting at which it purportedly was set up, Mc-Closkey said: "That is not correct. Such a conversation never took placeat no time, ever. I never heard

McCloskey said he never attended any meeting with Reynolds and Baker, as Reynolds described. McCloskey also said he doubted he ever received a letter from Reynolds starting: "Dear Matt:"

"I'd only met the fellow once or twice," McCloskev said. A copy of a letter from Reynolds billing McCloskey for a performance bond on the contract was placed in evidence Tuesday.

Reynolds testified that another guest at the breakfast meeting in the Mayflower Hotel was former President Harry S. Truman. He said Truman was not present when the alleged political kickback plan was discussed, how-

McCloskey said he knew nothing about any such meeting attended by Truman,

Baker, the dapper ex-page boy from Pickens, S. C., invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked about Reynolds' statement that Baker masterminded the arrangements for the alleged pay-

To this and 45 other questions, some touchy and some apparently innocuous. Baker cited the (Continued on Page 3)

SL Session Ends Today

A bill to provide funds for a joint student-faculty-administration conference is the only measure officially passed out of committee for consideration by Student Legislature Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in New East The joint conference, proposed earlier this year by Student Body President Bob Spearman, will seek to promote understanding between the three groups in areas of mutual concern.

Another bill appropriating funds for residence college pilot projects may be considered by the body pending approval by members of the Finance Committee.

Thursday's meeting will be the last of the current legislative session, and all legislation which has not been acted upon by Student Legislature after Thursday will have to be re-introduced next

Politics Sneaky In Iran

By ERNIE McCRARY DTH Asst. Managing Editor Student politics in Iran can be a pretty sneaky affair. Because of government opposition, life can be rather tough for politically minded students. Franz Bahreini knows both students and university faculty members who have gone to jail because of political activities. She and four men, all students of Tehran University or National University of Iran, visited the UNC campus earlier this week. They came to the United States two weeks ago at the invitation of the American government, and will return home in four weeks.

"Iranian students are intensely interested in politics," Miss Bahreini said, "because they are concerned about the way the government is run. They are anxious to have a better life and more freedom to do what they want."

UNC's student government system especially interested the visiting students.

"In Iran we cannot have student political organizations, so we want to learn all we can students are so concerned about politics, perhaps 80 per cent of them take part in unofficial organizations which are not approved by the government. "We do not even have an official university newspaper because we do not want one if we cannot say everything we want to, so there is an 'unofficial' paper," Miss Bahreini said. "It is not uncommon for students to be arrested for their activities. Some are imprisoned for a long time-a year or more. I know a medical student who about your groups. But since our was arrested and could not finish his education.

"The situation is not good, but we can only wait for the future and hope for the best. We have enjoyed our stay at UNC so much," she said, "This has been our first chance to really meet American students. We came here from Boston after visiting Harvard and M.I.T., but we were not able to talk to many students

The group left Chapel Hill yesterday morning for Knoxville,