Chest Funds To Go To Murdoch Center

Among the five charities to be aided by Campus Chest contributions is the Murdoch Center at Butner. This donation will be used for medical equipment and recreation supplies, such as books and records.

The Murdoch Center is the home for 1,500 children afflicted with mental retardation. Those in residence are six years old and up; the oldest patient is 85 years old. Their I. Q.'s vary from 15 to 85.

A staff of 300 professional workers, teachers, and maintenance men serve the center. Murdoch has two other programs in addition to the residential program. A Diagnostic Center enables patients to come in for a week for diagnostic purposes. The center at Butner also houses a 20 - bed Children's Psychiatric Unit, the only one of its kind in the state.

This institution is provided with a school and a large area for outdoor recreation. Patients are allowed visitors at any time.

One problem for the staff at Murdoch is to cope with providing necessary transportation to take the children on field trips. There are several UNC church groups and "Y" committees which volunteer time and attention to help meet the needs of these retardates.

The Campus Chest Solicitations Drive begins March 31. Campus Chest co - chairman Louise Menefee said, "The goal is $1 per student. Since this is Carolina's only charity drive, we do not feel that this is too much to ask."

A short question and answer period will follow.

He will speak at Duke Tuesday evening at 8 on economic conversion for disarmament in this country.

The public is invited to both meetings.

Gibbs, Lowry Set Recital In Hill Hall

Martha Gibbs, soprano, and Harold Lowry, bass - baritone, will present a recital at 8 p.m. Sunday in Hill Hall. It is open to the public free of charge.

Miss Gibbs and Lowry are graduates of the Department of Music here. Both are voice students of Wilton Mason, who will be their accompanist.

Miss Gibbs attended Brevard College on a voice and piano scholarship. She studied voice with Harvey Miller. Shortly after coming to Chapel Hill, she won the regional contest for the "Singer of the Year" award sponsored by the National Association of Teachers of Singing. She studied three summers with Albert May of Queens College, while at Brevard Music Center where she has appeared as soloist with the Brevard Festival Orchestra.

She and Lowry have participated in various choral and civic groups as soloists and both have sung in several UNC opera workshop productions.

UNC Health Center Adds 4 To Faculty

Four new appointments to the change of status and three resignations at the Health Center here were approved recently by University trustees of the Consolidated University.

The School of Medicine is adding three faculty members: Dr. Henry Neil Kirkman, a native of Jacksonville, Fla., now at the University of Oklahoma School of Medicine, will become a professor of pediatrics beginning June 1, Dr. Ralph W. Stacy of Middletown, Ohio, and a faculty member at N. C. State since 1962, will become a professor of surgery in biomathematics and physiology beginning July 1; and Dr. Joseph Stephen Pagano of Rochester, N.Y., formerly at Philadelphia (Pa.) General Hospital, is a new assistant professor bacteriology.

The School of Public Health will add one faculty member. Dr. J. Richard Udry of Covington, Ky., now at California State Polytechnic College, will hold a joint appointment as associate professor at the School of Public Health and in the Department of sociology, beginning June 1.

Five of seven promotions at the Health Center were in the School of Dentistry: Dr. Bennie D. Barker, a native of Burlington, to director of graduate education; Dr. Ted R. Oldenburg of Signal Mountain, Tenn., Dr. Don Lee Allen of Burlington, Dr. Matthew T. Wood of Enfield and Dr. Donald W. Warren of Brooklyn, N. Y., all to associate professor.

Marjory W. Johnson of Bunn, a physical therapist here since 1961, was promoted to assistant professor at the School of Medicine.

Dr. Gordon T. Stewart, outstanding epidemiologist, pathologist and biochemist from Carlsholm, Surrey, England, was appointed a professor in the School of Medicine and the School of Public Health. He has been a visiting professor here under a National Science Foundation fellowship since last fall.

Trustees officially accepted a change of status for Dr. Edward A. Brecht, dean of the School of Pharmacy since, 1960. He will step down as dean on June 30 but will continue in his position as professor of pharmacy at the school.

Moore Requests $72.4 Million Added Spending

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Dan Moore presented a $72.4 million dollar program of additional spending to the General Assembly Friday, including an expected 10 per cent pay raise for state employees and school teachers.

The governor told the lawmakers at a joint session that he had found where all except $4.2 million of the spending he advocated could be raised.

Moore proposed that school teachers receive a 5 per cent raise at the start of next fiscal year and 5 per cent more at the start of the following year. He figured that it would cost about $37 million.

But since the budget already included more than $6 million to give teachers a $15 a month raise, the additional cost of the pay increase would be only $30.5 million.

The governor said he was not calling for an additional bond issue for capital improvements at state institutions.

Instead, he said a $12 million "windfall" fund has been found which can be used for permanent improvements. The money had been kept in reserve by the Revenue Department to finance tax refunds under the income tax withholding system.

With the amount recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission for capital improvements, the extra $12 million would make $46.8 million available for building at state institutions.

The governor suggested that most of the money his program will need would come from revising the estimates of the surplus the state will have on hand at the end of this fiscal year and the amount it can expect to collect in taxes during the next two fiscal years.

Songs of Life and Love

Glenn Yarbrough

"Come Share My Life" is not a casual invitation, for anyone who has heard Glenn sing knows that his performances are an accurate reflection of the man he is, the life he lives and the music he loves. The 12 songs he has selected for this new Dynagroove album have special meaning for him. They will for you, too, once you've heard "Love Come A-Trickin' Down," "No One to Talk My Troubles To," "When Summer Ends," and "The Warm and Gentle Girls." You'll enjoy every minute of this music that mirrors a man.
