

Tennis Team Takes Ninth Straight Win

By PETE CROSS
DTH Sports Writer

Carolina's tennis team rolled to its ninth consecutive victory of the season yesterday by toppling Virginia. The Tar Heel netmen clinched victories during the singles competition when they won five of the six matches.

O. H. Parrish, UNC's number one man, suffered his first loss of the year to Cavalier Jim Stephens. Sloppy play cost the Richmond native the match after he copped the opening set 6-4. Stephens played consistently and deliberately — taking advantage of Parrish's off-game to win the remaining sets 6-4, 6-4.

Two other Tar Heels were forced into third sets in this match, easily the hardest thus far. Nat West and Tom Chewning both rebounded to win the third set after dropping the second.

The summary: Singles — Jim Stephens (Va) def. O. H. Parrish 4 - 6, 6 - 4, 6 - 4; Bronson Van Wyck (UNC) def. Harry Burn 6-1, 6-4; Nat West (UNC) def. Bill Brown 6-0, 4-6, 6-1; Ken Ottlinger (UNC) def. Greg Fulford 6-2, 7-5; Tom Chewning (UNC) def. Ranny Wellford 6-0, 1-6, 6-4; Jim Wordsworth (UNC) def. Roy Benedict 6-0, 6-3.

Professor Gets Fulbright Award

William J. DeSua, assistant professor of Italian and comparative literature, has been awarded a Fulbright research grant for the academic year 1965-66.

DeSua will conduct his research in Italy, where he will be affiliated with the University of Rome. He is studying the relationship between the French symbolist poets and the Italian writers of the late 19th and early 20th centuries.

DeSua was educated at the Universities of Pittsburgh, Padova (Italy), and Michigan, where he received his doctorate.

INTERVIEWS EXTENDED

Bob Wilson, 1965 - 66 Orientation Chairman, has announced an extension of interviews for orientation counselors. They will be held from April 21 to 23, the week after spring vacation.

"Students have responded favorably to the challenge of new responsibilities and also the additional privileges offered to them in the revised orientation program this fall," he said.

No Changes Seen From New NROTC Program

By MIKE NASE
DTH Feature Writer

The new two - year Navy ROTC program will have no effect on the present four - year program, Commander Alvin D. Huff, executive officer of the Naval ROTC here said.

The new program, which will begin this summer with a six-week preparatory course, will be open to qualified men now sophomores.

One of Four

UNC has been designated as the Naval ROTC summer training grounds for accepted candidates in colleges and universities along the Atlantic seaboard. It is one of four U. S. universities selected as a training site.

After the summer program, these midshipmen will be able to complete the final two years of the regular four - year course at UNC, or at other universities having Naval ROTC units.

They will receive pay at the rate of $78 per month for the summer program and $40 a month during the regular semester commencing with their junior year.

Candidates in the summer program will take the naval science courses studied by contract NROTC students during their freshman and sophomore years.

Applications for the summer training session must be made before May 1 at any U. S. Navy Recruiting Station.

For Transfers

The two - year program is "mainly for the benefit of junior transfer students who have not had the opportunity to participate in NROTC," Huff said.

Travel Clinic

An information clinic will be held in Graham Memorial at 7:30 tonight for students who plan to travel in Europe this summer.

Brief talks will be given by Bill Avent, of Continental Travel Agency; a representative of NSA; a representative of Seminars Abroad; and several UNC students who have traveled in Europe.

Information will be given about passports, visas, immunization shots, methods of travel, what to wear, what to take, use of the NSA pass and youth hostels.

No Active Protests Seen By CR Group

By FRED THOMAS
DTH Staff Writer

About 50 persons assembled at the Second Baptist Church Sunday for the second meeting of the Chapel Hill - Carrboro Council on Human Relations.

According to Dr. T. Franklin Williams, one of the leaders of the group, the council will seek solutions to problems in three basic areas — housing and community services, education, and equal employment opportunities — through committee investigation of existing conditions and personal work with town authorities.

"I do not at present foresee any active protests such as were staged last year," Williams said yesterday.

But he said he would not exclude the possibility of protests if other measures failed.

A 10 - member steering committee was set up at the Sunday meeting to do investigation in each of the fields mentioned and to make recommendations for action.

Williams, who is an associate professor in the School of Medicine, explained that the formation of the new group came through the concern of many local citizens — white and Negro — whose feelings were aroused by the work of past Chapel Hill civil rights groups.

He cited the work of the "Fellowship for School Integration" and the "Council of Concerned Citizens."

Wide Concern

Unlike these two organizations, which were concerned specific issue and which dissolved as soon as settlement was reached in the area of concern, Williams said the Council on Human Relations aims at achieving equal opportunity in every area.

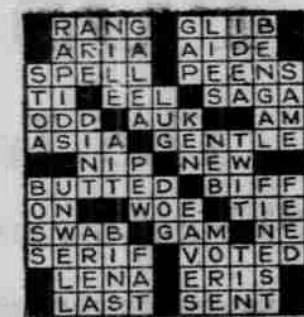

Aside from devoting all their effort to one passing issue, the organizer of the new group said the biggest weakness of the previous two movements was that they were composed of primarily white citizens.

"We want to be completely inter - racial and we want to establish permanence," he said.

On the matter of housing and community services, Williams said that although some Negroes have set up residence in predominantly white communities,

Bryce DeWitt Takes Bahnsen Professorship

Bryce DeWitt, UNC scientist, has been named the Agnew H. Bahnsen Jr. Professor of Physics.

In ceremonies here, DeWitt accepted the professorship in memory of the late Bahnsen of Winston - Salem who was the organizer and promoter of the Institute of Field Physics at the University. Bahnsen was killed in an airplane crash last year.

Mrs. Agnew Bahnsen Jr. was guest of honor at a luncheon announcing the Bahnsen professorship. The Bahnsens have established a fund which will perpetuate the professorship.

Kenan Professor of Physics, Everett D. Palmatier, chairman of the Department of Physics, took part in the formalities in establishment of the chair in physics which honors Agnew Bahnsen Jr. Chancellor Paul Sharp spoke in tribute to Bahnsen's foresight and scientific interest in the area of gravitational physics.

President William C. Friday presided, and also praised Agnew Bahnsen's interest in the University as displayed through support for the Institute of Field Physics.
