

The Daily Tar Heel

The South's Largest College Newspaper

Flags Flying

For the information of those who have wondered about the flags flying along the sidewalks of downtown Chapel Hill this week, Congress has declared this week Constitution Week all across the country. The Chapel Hill Carrboro Merchants Association is celebrating accordingly.

Vol. 74, No. 3

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA Sunday, September 19, 1965

Founded February 23, 1893

PUTTING THE BRAKES ON — Steve Lister, a 208 lb. Tar Heel end hit Michigan's Wallace Gabler with a flying tackle during yesterday's grid tilt as other Tar Heels move in to lend assistance. A Tar Heel comeback proved insufficient to overcome an early Wolverine lead, and Carolina went down 31-24. — DTH Photo by Ernest Robl.

UNC Tar Heels Fall 31-24 In Opener Comeback Try Fails To Stop Michigan

By PAT STITH
DTH Sports Editor

North Carolina fell behind Michigan 21-0 after 18 minutes of play here in Kenan Stadium Saturday and then, in the heat of battle (86 degrees), proved that it has a football team.

Michigan won the game 31-24 but not before fighting off a determined Tar Heel bid that had cut its lead to a touchdown at 21-16 early in the third quarter.

If both the offensive and defensive Carolina teams collaborated to get UNC into a hole, it was both of them, working together, who almost clawed their way out.

It was, for Carolina, a good loss — if there is such an animal. Next week when they fly to Columbus to do battle with Ohio State, they can go with their heads up.

Michigan, rated by many as the best football team in the land, had to play good football to win.

The game proved Carolina has a whole new crop of good football talent coming up. There was soph Jeff Beaver, who came in late in the second quarter and directed the Tar Heels down field with the ease of an old field general.

There was soph Charlie Carr, who caught five passes; sophomores Jim Masino and Jack Davenport who learned under fire how to hold down their side of the line; there was Ronnie Kaplan, who led the team in tackles with eight.

After the ball exchanged hands once, the Wolverines took it and marched 76 yards in eight plays for the first score with 8:33 left in the 1st quarter.

They made it look ridiculously easy, sweeping both ends, but particularly Carolina's right, down the field and into the end zone.

They turned right end Jim Masino a corner back Jack Davenport in and sprung halfback Carl Ward off on a 20 yard run to get the drive started.

Then after trying Carolina's left side three times for 18 more yards, quarterback Wally Gabler rolled out to his left again and went in from 31 yards out.

Twin safeties Bill Edwards and Alan McArthur both had their hands on Gabler at the 12 but he slipped through.

Touchdown number two was a gift of the Tar Heel offense. The first time it had the ball after the Michigan's opening score, running back Max Chapman fumbled and the Wolverines covered it on the 27 yard line.

Again it took them eight

	UNC	Mich.
First Downs	16	19
Yards Rushing	91	255
Passes	24-41	6-12
Yards Passing	199	74
Passes Intercepted	1	1
Punts	8-42.7	4-39.5
Yards Penalized	71	30
Fumbles Lost	1	5
Score by quarters:
Michigan	14	7 0 10-31
Carolina	0	9 7 8-24

plays, the big one a 10 yard sweep around Carolina right side. Left halfback Jim Detwiler, who was the game's top rusher with 50 yards, bulldozed his way off right tackle for the final six yards.

Michigan made it 21-0 when end Jeff Hoyle picked off a Danny Talbott pass in the left flat and lumbered 50 yards to the UNC six, where Talbott overhauled him. Fullback Dave Fisher scored two plays later.

Then while a near capacity crowd of 41,000 sat stunned in the heat, fanning themselves, Carolina got its ducks in a line and began playing ball.

The defense spread out, got tough, and started taking Michigan's outside play away. On the right, sophomores Masino and Davenport began playing like they weren't sophomores — both of them drew Coach Jim Hickey's praise after the game.

After Jimmy Byrd, a 5-8 dasher, hauled the Wolverine kickoff back 20 yards, Talbott whipped the offense together and drove it down the field to the UM 11.

At that point sophomore end Charlie Carr dropped a perfect Talbott pass in the end zone to break up the drive — but Carolina had arrived.

Less than three minutes la-

Free Flick

The Graham Memorial Sunday Cinema today features "Smiles of a Summer Night" with Eva Dahlbeck, Harriet Anderson, Ulla Jacobson and Gunner Bjornstrand. The winner of the Cannes Film Festival award for comedy was directed by Ingmar Bergman. Skillful camera work and a charming plot centered on manners and morals make it a delightful film. It will be shown with English subtitles at 7 and 9:30 in Carroll Hall.

ter left corner back Billy Darnall picked off Dick Vidmer's pass at the Michigan 43 yard line, ran to his right then cut back through a pack of Michigan players at the 35 yard line and broke out into the clear. He picked up a key block from Alan McArthur at the 13 and went in for the score.

Late in the 2nd quarter Michigan marched to the UNC 11 yard line. From there Gabler tried the same play he used to get Michigan's first score but end Masino shook him loose from the ball and nie Kaplan recovered for Carolina in the end zone.

Sophomore quarterback Jeff Beaver took over at this point and made his first appearance, a brilliant one. In less than two minutes he moved the ball from Carolina's 20 to the Wolverine 15.

For their next tilt, the Tar Heels will take to the road to face Ohio State in Columbus. Predictions for the game put the Carolina team in the second best place, but local hopes are high.

Michigan won, they were disappointing as a nationally ranked team. Carolina lost, they were inspiring for anyone.

But for a dropped pass in the end zone and a fluke Michigan touchdown UNC might have won. Admittedly a temperature in the high 80s was an important factor. The mighty Wolverines were a sparkless and tired team after the first quarter.

Short Long Day

Tar Heel fans sweated through the heat but most of them expressed delight with the outcome of what was supposed to be a long day for the Heels. Instead Michigan had to hold on to squeek out a win.

Carolina supporters walked out of Kenan Stadium with smiles on their faces saying "They were surprisingly good. That, my friend was a football game."

One Tar Heel felt Jeff Beaver should have played more. "Talbott did all right," he

He hit six of eight passes en route and ran the ball three times himself. Talbott kicked a field goal from the 15 with the clock running out to make the score 21-9 at half-time.

After intermission Carolina's defense made the big break. End John Atherton jarred Dick Volk, who was returning a punt, loose from the ball and UNC was in business again on the Michigan 23 yard line.

Two plays later Atherton caught a Talbott pass, went in for the score, and Carolina was back in the ball game at 21-16.

For the rest of the second half, except for two Michigan drives in the fourth period which resulted in a field goal and a touchdown, Carolina dominated the game.

UNC's last score came after a Wolverine fumble on their own 40 yard line. Talbott directed the drive to the 19 yard line where Beaver came in and on his first play, dropped back and hit Chapman on the left side for the first touchdown pass of his career.

For their next tilt, the Tar Heels will take to the road to face Ohio State in Columbus. Predictions for the game put the Carolina team in the second best place, but local hopes are high.

Michigan won, they were disappointing as a nationally ranked team. Carolina lost, they were inspiring for anyone.

But for a dropped pass in the end zone and a fluke Michigan touchdown UNC might have won. Admittedly a temperature in the high 80s was an important factor. The mighty Wolverines were a sparkless and tired team after the first quarter.

Several new faces in the Tar Heel line — up made a favorable impression with the fans. Little scampback Jimmy Byrd made two fine kickoff returns. The 157-pound Byrd also caught a couple of passes for good gains.

Although Charlie Carr dropped a touchdown pass, fans were impressed by his fine performance. On two ocasions the 6-3 end leaped high into the air to bring down passes and gasps from Tar Heel supporters.

Complaints
The only real complaints came from students who had to sit on the Michigan side because they were dating girls from off campus. "It just isn't the same over here," said one. "You lose a lot of the spirit, which is so much a part of football, if you aren't sitting with the student body," said another.

The marching Tar Heel Band put on an entertaining halftime show that prompted one person to say "Are they as good as they look, or is this heat really that bad?"

Most people don't give the Heels much of a chance against Ohio State in Columbus next week. But everyone who was asked said the team would play them a game.

Carolina cast away the doubts yesterday. They play football, hard, with hustle and for keeps.

According To Polls By N.C. Newspapers

Legislators Say They Are Ready For Action On Ban

By LAWRENCE MADDRY
and
DAVID WITHERSPOON

If members of the State House of Representatives voted now on the speaker ban law, it would be amended or repealed.

This was the indication of a poll taken last week by The Chapel Hill Weekly.

The results of the poll showed:

— 56 Representatives in favor of amendment or repeal of the law.

— 41 in favor of keeping it on the books.

— 15 with no comment or undecided.

112 Replies

The Weekly received replies from 112 of 117 members of the House of Representatives who served in the 1965 General Assembly. No attempt was made to get answers from three Representatives — David Britt of Robeson, Lacy Thornburg of Jackson, and A. A. Zollicoffer of Vance — who are serving on the Seaker Ban Study Commission. Five House members could not be reached.

The question put to Representatives was: "If you could vote today on the speaker ban law, would you vote to amend, repeal, or keep it?"

Speaker Comments

House Speaker H. P. (Pat) Taylor Jr. of Wadesboro called results of the poll "interesting."

"Assuming your poll is correct, it would appear that the majority of members of the House are looking for a settlement. I think it is tremendously important to end this controversy over the speaker ban law and I further think that this is a controversy that can be settled to the general satisfaction of everyone."

Senate Poll

A poll of the State Senate, made last week by the Charlotte Observer and also released this morning, indicated a strong majority of Senators favoring repeal or amendment.

The Observer managed to contact 38 of the 50 Senate members. Of the 38 contacted, 24 said they were for either amendment or repeal, 7 favored keeping the speaker ban, and 7 had no comment or were undecided.

Of the 24 for repeal or amendment, 8 said they would vote for outright repeal.

Of the 7 favoring retention, 5 qualified their answers by saying they might go along with some sort of amendment.

And of the 12 Senators who could not be reached by the Observer, 5 previously had placed themselves on record as favoring amendment or repeal.

Anonymous Answers

In the poll taken by the Weekly, Representatives were promised anonymity. Several indicated that their stands and a possible later vote, could be influenced by recommendations made by the Speaker Ban Study Commission.

The Commission, headed by Rep. David Britt of Robeson, completed hearings in Raleigh, Sept. 9, on the 1963 law which prohibits Communist Party members and those taking the Fifth Amendment in loyalty hearings from speaking on campuses of State-supported colleges and the University.

37 for Amendment

Of the 56 Representatives who said they would vote for amendment or repeal, 37 were for amendment and 19 for outright repeal.

Of the 15 members who had no comment or were undecided, two said they would vote for whatever recommendations the Study Commission makes.

Comments from the Representatives ranged from one extreme to another. Several on both sides of the speaker ban said their minds were made up and could not be changed.

One representative who favored a change said: "I now believe the best solution would be an amendment placing the authority in the hands of the trustees, where it belongs. I believe the Commission report will endorse this very position."

"Effective Regulation"

A House member who wanted to keep the law said he would vote for an amendment only "if there were some effective regulation of speakers."

Another who would vote to keep the law said: "I think the people of my county and of North Carolina want the ban retained, and I'm representing the people of my county and North Carolina."

But he added: "I would like to hear the Commission's report. The Commission's report could have an effect on the way the people feel about this."

Fifth Amendment

Still another, who would vote for amendment, said his objection to the law was based on "the unconstitutional part about the Fifth Amendment. I would weigh the Commission's report very heavily. They have studied the situation at firsthand and I haven't."

One Representative said his mind had been made up before the end of the 1965 legislative session. "The law is too strenuous and prohibits educational freedom. I would vote to amend it... the Commission's report would have no effect."

Another said he favored amendment, "but only if trustees adopt a resolution saying they won't allow Communist speakers. Otherwise I'd retain it."

And one Representative who declined to comment on how he would vote said, "I feel very strongly that the members of the Commission are fine folks and they have worked very hard. I hope they will come up with a unanimous decision, which I will support."

What It Was Was Football

Pleased Heel Fans Never Gave Up Hope

Michigan won, they were disappointing as a nationally ranked team. Carolina lost, they were inspiring for anyone.

But for a dropped pass in the end zone and a fluke Michigan touchdown UNC might have won. Admittedly a temperature in the high 80s was an important factor. The mighty Wolverines were a sparkless and tired team after the first quarter.

Several new faces in the Tar Heel line — up made a favorable impression with the fans. Little scampback Jimmy Byrd made two fine kickoff returns. The 157-pound Byrd also caught a couple of passes for good gains.

Although Charlie Carr dropped a touchdown pass, fans were impressed by his fine performance. On two ocasions the 6-3 end leaped high into the air to bring down passes and gasps from Tar Heel supporters.

Complaints
The only real complaints came from students who had to sit on the Michigan side because they were dating girls from off campus. "It just isn't the same over here," said one. "You lose a lot of the spirit, which is so much a part of football, if you aren't sitting with the student body," said another.

The marching Tar Heel Band put on an entertaining halftime show that prompted one person to say "Are they as good as they look, or is this heat really that bad?"

Most people don't give the Heels much of a chance against Ohio State in Columbus next week. But everyone who was asked said the team would play them a game.

Carolina cast away the doubts yesterday. They play football, hard, with hustle and for keeps.

"Let's Go Big Blue, Let's Go!"