COMEDIAN WOODY ALLEN

Germans Present 'Platters', Allen

The 1965 edition of Fall Germans Weekend will feature Woody Allen and "The Platters" Saturday at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall.

Allen is best known on the college scene for his film debut — both as actor and screenwriter — in "What's New, Pussycat?"

The 27-year-old comedian has been hailed as "the most refreshing comic in many months . . . one who thinks funny, says it funny in most literate style . . . the best young American new-wave comedian" by critics from coast to coast.

He has written ad libs for Sid Caesar, Art Carney, Gary Moore, Peter Lind Hayes, Herb Shriver, Pat Boone and Hermione Gingold.

"Now I'm writing them for myself . . . and hope some day to be able to afford it," Allen says.

"The Platters" made their UNC debut last spring at Jubilee and drew a demand for two encore numbers.

"Oldies but goodies" such as "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes" and "The Great Pretender" received a standing ovation from the massive student congregation at Polk Place.

Thirteen social fraternities comprise the UNC German's Club. They are Phi Delta Theta, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Psi, Kappa Alpha, Sigma Nu, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Phi Gamma Delta, Kappa Sigma, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Chi, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Zeta Psi.

Bids for the concert are handled through these fraternities. Persons who wish to attend the Saturday night performance should contact a member of the Germans Club.

Roger Davis Killed In Auto Crash

By ED FREAKLEY
DTH Staff Writer

Roger A. Davis, one of Carolina's most outstanding student leaders, died last night in North Carolina Memorial Hospital as a result of injuries received in a one car crash yesterday afternoon.

The 21-year-old Davis died at 5:55 p.m. He was taken to the hospital by an ambulance from Walker's Funeral Home shortly after the wreck which occurred about 4:15.

At first the hospital reported that the Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., native had a compound fracture of the right leg, lacerations of the face and arms and was listed in satisfactory condition.

According to Dean of Men William G. Long, complications developed on the way to the operating room. Doctors tried resuscitation for 45 minutes, but to no avail.

Davis was trapped in the wrecked vehicle until the driver of the ambulance put a splint on his leg and lifted him free. Davis was conscious at that time.

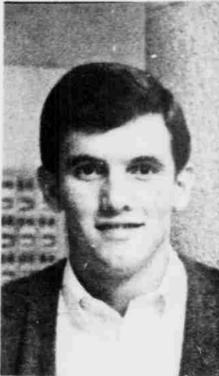

A Chapel Hill Fire truck was also at the scene. However, it wasn't needed.

Chapel Hill Police Lt. Amos Horne, said Davis, a senior in education, was traveling east on N. C. 54 in the inside lane when the accident occurred.

Hit Curbing

Horne said Davis apparently hit the curbing on the four-lane road about 100 feet in front of the U. S. 15-501 overpass in front of Glen-Lennox Shopping Center.

From here the car went up the median strip tearing off a four by four, three-foot high wooden post. It then slammed into the first bridge abutment and then the second, turning around and sliding across the east bound lane before coming to a halt about 150 feet past the bridge.

Horne said the speedometer in the Davis car was stuck at 95 m.p.h. He estimated the speed at the time of impact was about 70 m.p.h.

Scattered Parts

Parts of the car were scattered from the bridge to where the auto finally stopped.

At the first abutment was the left front door and the left fender. Near the second abutment was the front bumper, a mangled hubcap and the radiator.

In the middle of the road were various engine parts, including the oil filter and what used to be a generator.

The hood of the red and white late model compact was resting on the bank where the auto stopped.

Student Legislator

Davis was a member of the Student Legislature representing Maverick House (Craigie Resident Hall). He was the originator of the Maverick House idea and was also a National Student Association delegate.

"Roger Davis was an outstanding and creative person," lamented Dean Long.

Student Body President Paul Dickson contacted in Raleigh said, "I am humbly and sincerely saddened by Roger's death. He was a fine person and a hard worker. He was devoted to this University and to Student Government."

"Roger spent many long hours here at Carolina working to improve resident hall life. I knew him personally and this loss of a friend hurts me very much."

Brit Gordon, vice president of the Student Body said: "On behalf of all of us who have worked so closely with Roger, I wish to express our deepest grief at the loss of a friend, a devoted servant of Student Government and of the University."

"Roger's natural creativity, genuine enthusiasm and cheerful sense of cooperation, have won him the respect and admiration of his fellow students. The spirit of Maverick House which Roger helped to create will serve as an inspiration to those who seek to fulfill his concept of resident hall life in all areas of the campus."

GI's Looking For Pen Pals

It's mail call for U. S. troops in Viet Nam.

How important is that letter from someone back on the home front? Apparently it is pretty important.

A letter arrived at Student Government offices yesterday from six marines who are fighting in Viet Nam asking for coed pen-pals. The letter read:

"Hi Folks! There are six of us sitting here around four candles on the doorstep of our beautiful little cloth mansion in Viet Nam.

"We were engaged in an 'intellectual' conversation, and the name of your college popped up. One of the guys lives in North Carolina, and he says all southern girls are 'nice and friendly'."

"Now for our brainstorm. We thought it would be a good idea to converse in letters with a few of you people. Please don't get us wrong — this is not to be any of this lonely hearts junk. We just think it is a good idea and that it might turn out to be a lot of fun.

"You people don't realize how hard it is to write one letter to an entire college. So we'll cut this off, hoping the idea is across.

"Enclosed are the names and a few characteristics of the people in our mortar section who would like to play along."

Names and addresses (and "characteristics") are available at Student Government offices, second floor, GM.

NROTC MIDSHIPMEN paraded and passed in review yesterday on Fetzer Field in commemoration of Navy Day today. Navy Day is celebrated annually in commemoration of the first congressional resolution authorizing American warships in defense of the colonies in 1775. The theme of Navy Day, 1965, is "U. S. Navy—Mark of a Man." Photo by Ernest Robl

Election Date Challenged

By JOHN GREENBACKER
DTH Political Writer

University Party Vice-Chairman David Broadhurst charged Student Body President Paul Dickson yesterday with "usurping the powers of Student Legislature" by personally setting the date of the presidential recall election.

Dickson announced Monday the recall election for student body president will be held Nov. 9, the same date as the fall elections, if the recall petition proves valid.

Broadhurst quoted a section of the Student Constitution which states, "The dates of all elections shall be established by an act of the Student Legislature."

He said he was prompted to speak to Dickson about the matter after a Student Party official told him the University Party had to submit to the board the name of a candidate for the recall by tonight.

"How can they ask us to do that," Broadhurst said, "When the legislature hasn't set a date for the recall?"

"I think the manner in which Dickson has handled this thing has been most improper," Broadhurst said. "I don't want to see this thing lowered to take the form of a party squabble," he said. "This is an important campaign issue."

Dickson said yesterday he had set the time of the date after reading a section of the constitution which empowers the president to call for a recall election for the office in question if recall petition is declared in order.

Dickson said he would have to speak to his advisors before making further decision.

Recall Petition

Elections Board Chairman Alvin Tyndall said yesterday 158 names on the presidential recall petition have not been checked for validity by the board.

When these signatures have been checked, the board's investigation will be complete, according to Tyndall.

The board has already disqualified 18 names on the petition, and 90 names are currently in question.

The recall petition, to be successful, needs 1,863 valid signatures on it. It currently has a total of 1,917 signatures.

The 90 questionable signatures, most of which are illegible, will be sent to the Constitutional Council tomorrow for ruling.

"This investigation has racked the Elections Board physically, mentally and academically," Tyndall said.

"At least five board members have worked on the petition every day for a week," he said. "Sometimes we have worked from two in the afternoon until eleven at night."

Tyndall said the Elections Board would be finished with its phase of the investigation by early this afternoon.

Population Center Gets $800,000

Grants to the Population Center at the University were increased to more than $1 million Tuesday with an $800,000 grant from the Ford Foundation.

The Ford grant will support research, consultation and teaching on population problems.

Previously the Agency for International Development (AID) of the U. S. State Department approved a $267,984 grant and the Conservation Foundation in New York added $3,500.

The Chapel Hill center will undertake a broad program of research in family planning, including the effects of family spacing on health and the development of methods for spacing births, and patterns of fertility change.

The center's staff also will assist overseas institutions with programs of family planning research and training.

The center's broad chairman is Dr. John B. Graham, a pathologist of UNC's Medical School faculty.

Campus-Wide Voting, 8 A.M. - 5 P.M.

Students Will Pick Queen Today

Students will select by campus-wide ballot today the lovely lady they want to reign over UNC's homecoming tilt with Georgia here Saturday.

The Queen will be announced during halftime ceremonies.

Voting boxes at Chase Cafeteria, Lenoir Hall, Pine Room, Circus Room, Scuttlebutt, Y-Court and Graham Memorial will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Rick Kramer, president of the CAA, said yesterday.

This is the first time Carolina students as a whole have participated in choosing a Homecoming Queen. In past years selection has been made by a panel of judges appointed by the Student Athletic Council.

A field of 75 contestants was originally entered by residence halls, fraternities and sororities.

Judges Chuck Erickson, athletic director; C. O. Cathey, dean of student affairs; Mrs. Douglas Fambrough, of Graham Memorial; and Mrs. Gene Wells, of the physical education department were assigned the task of picking eight finalists.

In judging last Wednesday night the panel narrowed the field to 10 contestants. "They just couldn't eliminate two more," Kramer said. "So we'll have 10 names on the ballot instead of eight."

A pep rally headed by UNC cheerleader with the pep band and fireworks will be held on Emerson Field at 8 p.m. Friday.

The homecoming Court and the football team will be presented to the student body then.

Contestants are Sharon Derrick, Spencer Hall; Patti Fields, Maverick House; Lois Shepherd, Alpha Delta Pi; Emily Cathey, Chi Psi; Peach Pearce, Joyner Hall; Mary King, Maverick House; Judy Dudley, Parker Hall; Sharon Finch, Morrison College; Toni Greenwood, Ehringhaus; and Peg McQueen, Sigma Chi.
