

Group Threatens Accrediting Action

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The acting director of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools said Thursday the association likely will "take some action, possibly probation" against North Carolina state-supported colleges and universities unless the speaker ban law is changed.

This prediction came from Dr. Don Agnew. He said action by the association probably will come Dec. 1 at a meeting in Richmond, Va., "unless action is taken by the North Carolina legislature or the governor on this speaker ban."

Agnew said that if the legislature meets and amends the controversial law "in such a way as to be acceptable to the institutions and to us, this would change our thinking radically. It is what we had been hoping for."

The speaker ban law forbids Communists or persons who have pleaded the Fifth Amendment in loyalty cases from speaking on the campuses of state-supported institutions.

Boggs Here Next Month

Representative Hale Boggs, Majority whip of the U. S. House of Representatives, announced this week that he will address the student body on Monday, Nov. 22.

The visit of Congressman Boggs is sponsored by the Carolina Forum, a branch of Student Government.

Boggs, D-La., is on the Ways and Means Committee, the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, and Chairman of the Subcommittee on Foreign Economic Policy.

He is also presently serving as Vice-Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has served as a member of the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy and was Parliamentarian of the 1964 Democratic National Convention.

A graduate from Tulane University in 1935, Boggs joined a "small group of businessmen" which combated corruption in the Louisiana government caused by the heirs of the political system set up by former governor Huey P. Long.

After serving with this group Boggs was elected to the Congress in 1940.

He served in the Naval Reserve during WW II and was reelected to the House in 1946. Boggs has not stated the topic of his address.

Moore Won't Confirm Call For Session

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Dan Moore declined yesterday to confirm speculation that he will call a special session of the General Assembly next month to amend the state's speaker ban law.

"I am waiting for the report of the Speaker Ban Commission before making plans to call a special session," Moore said in answer to questions at a news conference.

He said he expects the commission's report to be completed "in the next week or so."

Moore also commented on Ku Klux Klan strength in the state in a statement read at the news conference. He said information from "official sources" indicates there are only 618 "hard core" Klans.

"We have just 2,508 parking spaces on campus," Long said, "and at the end of the year some 5,254 cars were registered."

The office of the Dean of Men was charged with compiling data on the new zone system, Long said. After the initial registration period there were 3,908 cars with stickers.

There was a total increase of 34.4 per cent from the beginning to the end of the year. Bob Kepner, assistant to the Dean of Men, used a projected figure to compute how many cars will be registered here in June.

"Disregarding T stickers, (cars not allowed on campus), there will probably be almost 4,000 cars registered," he said.

As of last week, there were 3,339 cars allowed to park on campus. Some 1,380 students hold T stickers.

The total number of spaces lost this year because of restricted parking along South

A CROWD OF CARS at Bell Tower parking lot illustrates the congested situation on the UNC campus. Dean of Men William G. Long discusses this problem in the article below. — DTH Photo by Ernest Robl.

Dean Of Men Discusses Campus Parking Situation

By ANDY MYERS
DTH Staff Writer

If all the cars on the UNC campus were stretched end to end there would be a traffic jam from here to Durham and back in the other lane.

And that's not stretching it either, according to Dean of Men William G. Long.

"We have a long way to go in solving the parking problem," Long says, "but in the meantime, all we can do is try to work with the facilities we have."

Last year, when the fight for space began to assume characteristics of a full scale war, Long decided it was time to put the zone system into effect.

Some statistics graphically show why.

"We have just 2,508 parking spaces on campus," Long said, "and at the end of the year some 5,254 cars were registered."

The office of the Dean of Men was charged with compiling data on the new zone system, Long said. After the initial registration period there were 3,908 cars with stickers.

There was a total increase of 34.4 per cent from the beginning to the end of the year. Bob Kepner, assistant to the Dean of Men, used a projected figure to compute how many cars will be registered here in June.

"Disregarding T stickers, (cars not allowed on campus), there will probably be almost 4,000 cars registered," he said.

As of last week, there were 3,339 cars allowed to park on campus. Some 1,380 students hold T stickers.

The total number of spaces lost this year because of restricted parking along South

Road, Raleigh Road and Franklin Street comes to about 77.

There were slightly more than 300 motor scooters registered at the end of last year. But this year already 435 motor scooters are on the books.

Long said the scooter parking problem is the most critical right now. Plans are under way to build more scooter lots and enlarge the present pads around campus.

Kepner used much of last year's data, some other miscellaneous figures, and a lot of pure guess work to come up with the zone system.

He said that only 33 cars have been towed out to the car compound so far. Some $250 has been collected on towing fees.

No rental fees have yet been collected, he said, since all students have claimed their cars within 24 hours.

Money collected from car registration this year comes to about $22,220. That brought the total amount in the registration fund to more than $40,000.

Kepner said this amount of money is being deposited in a special University trust fund. It is used to defray the administrative expenses in parking regulations and to pay for the construction of new parking facilities.

Long said that UNC will probably be working under new regulations next year, but his staff has not yet worked out the details.

"There won't be any more changes this year," he said. "I think we've already had enough."

Some things coming to UNC as car space becomes dearer: — faculty parking meters (outside Hanes and Bynum Halls only).

— a Tiger train similar to the one used at LSU. This facility will probably run from the Craige, Ehringhaus area to campus at regular intervals. Cars, towed by an engine, will be attached as they are needed.

— enlargement of the scooter parking areas and construction of new pads for two-wheeled vehicles.

A great part of this year's monies collected in registration fees went towards putting up signs near parking zones, buying parking meters, paying the traffic counselor's salary, construction of the car compound, insurance for towed cars, construction of scooter pads, purchase of registration permits and the printing of the parking regu-

(Continued on Page 5)

Accept Ruling, Says Sponsor Of Petition

By JOHN GREENBACKER
DTH Political Writer

Sharon Rose, the student legislator who sponsored the recall petition for the student body presidency, urged students yesterday to accept the Elections Board's decision that the petition is invalid and called for support of Paul Dickson as Student body president.

Miss Rose, a member of Dickson's own student political party, made the announcement yesterday afternoon in a release to The Daily Tar Heel.

She said a majority of students here accept Dickson as their leader.

Pro-petition forces may appeal the Election Board's decision to the Constitutional Council of Student Government within the next few days in spite of Miss Rose's statement according to petition organizer David Kiel.

The petition, which was presented to the Elections Board Oct. 18 for validation, was disqualified by the board Wednesday after 55 signatures on it were declared invalid.

Miss Rose and her supporters had collected 1,917 signatures for the petition, which needed 1,863 valid signatures to order a recall election to be held.

Duplicated signatures, fictitious names and signatures with untraceable "nicknames" rather than proper first names or initials were disqualified by the board.

An attempt made Wednesday by pro-petition forces to add more signatures to the petition was rejected by the Elections Board Chairman Alvin Tyndall, who said he was not authorized to allow any more signatures to be added.

"I respect the decision made by the Elections Board," Miss Rose said. "I naturally regret that there weren't enough valid signatures on the petition," she said, "however, I feel this evidence concludes that the majority of Carolina's student accept Paul Dickson as their leader."

"I'd like to urge those students who have felt differently on this issue to accept this decision with the best of faith and join together in working for the betterment of our university," she said.

Miss Rose said she felt the majority of students on campus had "disassociated themselves with the problem" and were "fed up" with it.

Dickson said yesterday he had little to add to Miss Rose's statement.

"I have never doubted that Sharon's actions these past weeks were motivated by a sincere concern for Student Government and a devotion to this university," he said.

"Her statement today is an expression of that concern and devotion."

Miss Rose and other concerned students circulated the petition seeking Dickson's removal from office after it was made public that Dickson had been convicted by the Men's Council last August for a Campus Code violation.

Dickson received an official reprimand for taking a coed into a closed fraternity house.

"I respect the opinion that Sharon Rose has expressed and I consider it a privilege to have been associated with her in this matter," Kiel said yesterday.

"I have heard some questions raised about the disqualification of many of the signatures," he said. "I think there is a possibility that it may be necessary for the Constitutional Council to review the petition."

Germans Expect Capacity Crowds

A capacity crowd of almost 2,000 is expected to hear "The Platters" and comedian Woody Allen at Saturday night's Germans Club concert in Memorial Hall at 8 p.m.

But at least half the crowd — the male half — will give part of their attention to the 13 lovely ladies representing member fraternities in the club.

Bill Schmidt, president of the Germans Club representing Delta Kappa Epsilon, and his wife are the ceremonial and official leaders of this fall's Germans festivities.

University women's closing hours have been extended to 2 a.m. Saturday night by the Dean of Women's Office.

Sponsors of Fall Germans, pictured above, and their escorts are Mrs. Schmidt, Jacksonville, Fla.; Diane Morton of Washington, D. C.; with Geoffrey V. B. Parker of Mexico City, Sigma Nu, vice-president of Germans Club.

Nicky Yockey of Nashville, Tenn., with George C. Venters of Richlands, Zeta Psi, treasurer; Kathy Hamilton of Hendersonville and Jacksonville, Fla., with Olin G. McKenzie III of Miami Shores, Fla., Kappa Alpha, secretary.

Second row: Mary Ann Goodwyn of Dallas, Texas, with Richard Stagers, of Metairie, La., Kappa Sigma; Ethel Livingston of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., with William Keating Jr. of Savannah, Ga.; Carol Sandlin of Jacksonville, N. C. with Richard Baddour of Goldsboro, Sigma Nu.

Third row: Sandra Marian Grizzard of Roanoke Rapids with Manton M. Grier of Greenwood, S. C., Alpha Tau Omega; Connie Roper of Charlotte with William Elzie Bolen of Charlotte, Beta Theta Pi; Ann Plaster of Elkin with Tony G. Misenheimer of Salisbury, Pi Kappa Alpha.

Fourth row: Doly Cannon of Charlotte with Borden Parker of Goldsboro, Kappa Alpha; Jenny Sargantanus of Durham with James B. Black III of Richmond, Va., Zeta Psi; Margaret Cotten Skinner of Kinston with Hubert Parrott of Kinston, Phi Gamma Delta.

Representing other fraternities are James Joseph Wright III of Greensboro, Phi Delta Theta; John C. Egbert III of Cincinnati, Ohio, Delta Kappa Epsilon; Robert K. Cate of Winnetka, Ill., Sigma Chi; Lyman Goe Welton of Charlotte, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The Germans Club presents concerts each fall and spring. Bids are handled through the 13 fraternities comprising the club.

Woody Allen has been hailed by reviewers nation-wide as one of America's best young comedians.

The 25-year-old performer is best known for his role in "What's New Pussycat?"

"The Platters," who claim a large collection of gold records, made their first appearance on the UNC campus last spring at Jubilee.

Their rendition of such well-known hits as "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" and "Twilight Time" were applauded by a standing student congregation on Polk Place.

Pep Rally Tonight

"The biggest pep rally ever at this school!"

That's what Head Cheerleader Jerry Houle and CAA President Rick Kramer prophesied about tonight's yelling session in preparation for the Tar Heel's homecoming game with Georgia Saturday.

The shouting will begin at 8 p.m. on Emerson Field. Gound and aerial fireworks will paint the backdrop behind the UNC pep band and cheerleaders.

Even brighter than the sparkling fireworks will be the smiling faces of the homecoming court.

The pep rally will be wrapped up with the introduction of the football team.

"We want every student who possibly can be there to come to the pep rally," Houle said. "We want the team to know we're really behind them, and besides, what better way could there be to start off a great homecoming weekend."

A REPLICA OF THE GREAT PUMPKIN was presented to the girls of Smith Dormitory yesterday by members of APO, national service fraternity. J. C. Holding of APO made the presentation to Ann Cameron, president of Smith. Looking on are Ronnie McManus, Hubert Seymour, Susan Hays, Charyl Wollcroft, Bill Marks and Phyllis Little. —DTH Photo By Ernest Robl.

College Dedication Will Have Scott

Lt. Governor Bob Scott will speak on North Carolina and Higher education when he dedicates Scott Residence College Sunday at 3 p.m.

Scott College was named for former governor and U.S. Senator Kerr Scott, the Lt. Governor's father.

Campus beauties Peach Pearce, Toni Greenwood, Zacki Murphy, Mary King, and Sharon Waite will serve refreshments to the guests.

The motorcade will pass down Franklin St., up Columbia St. past Big Fraternity Court and turn down Cameron Ave. to the Upper Quad.

It will proceed behind the library, around Memorial Hospital, east Ehringhaus, Craige and Morrison Residence Halls, and will arrive at Scott College at 3 p.m.

Scott will greet crowds from a convertible automobile.

Chancellor Paul F. Sharp, Scott and Scott College Governor Bob Hunter will address the crowd.

One thousand chairs will be set up in the street in front of Teague Hall, and the speaker's box will be constructed on the sidewalk.

Three giant banners on Avery and Teague halls will celebrate the event.

After the dedication, Lt. Gov. Scott and his mother, Mrs. Kerr Scott, will go to the new $4,000 social room in Teague Hall, where Mrs. Scott will cut a ribbon and unveil a portrait of her husband donated by the Young Democratic Club.

Former governors, state legislators, trustees of the University, members of the councils of state, faculty, administration, students and interested persons are invited to attend.

"This will be the biggest event on campus this year with the exception of University Day and Jubilee," Hunter said yesterday.

"There has already been a terrific improvement in the spirit of Scott College residents since the completion of the social room," he said. "I expect the dedication ceremonies to be a big boost to the residence College System at Carolina."

The street in front of Scott College will be blocked from 1 a.m. Sunday morning until 6 p.m. Sunday night.

Three "walkie-talkies" will be used to coordinate the program.

Hunter said a brass band may accompany the motorcade on the last stages of its trip.

Campus Briefs

FLU VACCINE
Flu vaccine is available at the Infirmary for all UNC students for $1.

Dr. E. M. Hedgepeth, director of the Student Health Service, said students may receive the vaccine from 9-11:30 a.m. and from 2-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Between 2,000 and 3,000 doses of the preventative medicine are now on hand, and more can be obtained if necessary, according to Hedgepeth.

There are no side effects with the vaccine, he said.

PARKING REFUNDS
Friday, Nov. 5 is the deadline for collecting refunds for "T" parking stickers. Students who paid $5 for such a sticker should go to the Dean of Men's office in the basement of South Building to get a $2.50 refund.

COBB SPEECH
Mrs. Bernard Boyd spoke to Cobb Dormitory women on "Restorative Revelry" Wednesday night in the first of a series of dorm speeches planned by Cobb this year.

Geared especially to the freshmen, her talk centered around the need for everyone to set aside a few minutes every day for a little "spot of quiet" in order to evaluate himself and check his course.

After her talk an informal tea was held. Mrs. Boyd is the wife of Dr. Bernard Boyd of UNC's Department of Religion.

