

Who is Fauntleroy going to let win today's big football games? See page four for the answers.

The Daily Tar Heel

BEAT GEORGIA

The South's Largest College Newspaper

Vol. 74, No. 40

CHAPEL HILL NORTH CAROLINA SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1965

Founded February 23, 1893.

Petition Organizer Intends To Appeal Board's Ruling

By JOHN GREENBACKER
DTH Political Writer

David Kiel, an organizer of the presidential recall petition, announced yesterday he intends to appeal of the Student Government Constitutional Council an Elections Board ruling that the petition is invalid.

The board ruled last week that the petition was invalid after 55 of its signatures were disqualified for being fictitious, duplicated or untraceable.

The petition contained 1,917 signatures when presented to the board, and needed 1,863 valid signatures for a recall election to be held.

Petition backers seek the ouster of Paul Dickson as student body president.

Dickson was convicted last August by the Men's Council for a Campus Code violation.

Kiel announced his intention to appeal the board's decision in spite of a statement issued Thursday by the petition's original sponsor, student legislator Sharon Rose, which said she accepted the board's action.

"Since yesterday afternoon," Kiel said, "I have been contacted by many persons who are greatly disappointed with the manner in which the recall petition has been handled.

"Admittedly the chairman of the Elections Board has been in the most difficult position of trying to examine a petition concerning the recall of his boss and of trying to do so under tremendous partisan pressures," he said.

Kiel referred to Elections Board Chairman Alvin Tyndall. "I wish to suggest that the Elections Board be unburdened with the tremendous clerical task of checking the petition," Kiel said. "This can be done by turning 'untraceable nicknames' and other questionable signatures over to the Department of Central Records for location."

Kiel said the department's clerical staff would quickly determine whether the names are valid.

"I wish to announce," he said, "that because the Constitutional provisions for recall are ambiguous and because provisions which do exist have not been entirely followed, I am asking the Constitutional Council to convene at the earliest possible time to consider the status and validity of the recall petition.

"I continue to feel that the students have manifested their desire for, and deserve, a voice in this important matter," he said.

Carolina Faces Georgia In Homecoming Contest

Rep. Weltner Speaks Here In December

Charles L. Weltner, liberal Democratic Congressman from Georgia, will address the student body Dec. 13, according to Carolina Forum Chairman George Nicholson III.

The speech will be sponsored by the forum and the YMCA Human Relations Committee.

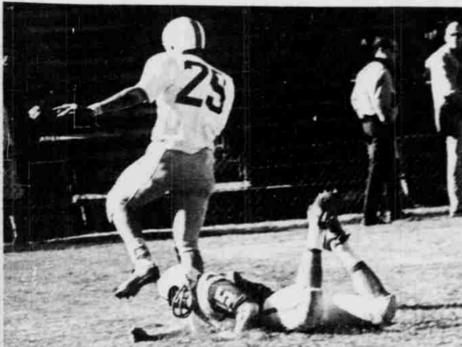

Weltner, a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, will speak on the current investigation of the Ku Klux Klan.

A recent CBS documentary film on the Klan will also be shown during the program.

A second term congressman from Atlanta, Ga., Weltner is a graduate of Oglethorpe and Columbia universities.

Weltner, a member of a distinguished Georgia family whose members include the first chief justice of the state supreme court and a Confederate general, was the only deep South representative to vote for the 1964 Civil Rights Bill.

Last February he rose on the House floor and demanded a congressional investigation of the Klan, saying "It will plague us tomorrow unless we quash it today."

TAR BABY Wingback Billy Dodson eludes Jack Lieb of the State trosh to score UNC's first touchdown in yesterday's game. The tally came on a 37-yard pass from Gayle Bomar. Carolina won, 21-13.

Invading Bulldogs Defeated Michigan

A homecoming crowd of some 45,000 will pack into Kenan Stadium to eye a pretty queen, a running back named David Riggs and the Tar Heels of North Carolina duel Georgia.

Riggs replaces senior M a x Chapman, who led the ACC in rushing through the first half of the season with 375 yards and then was benched after UNC loss to Wake Forest last week.

Chapman gained only 38 yards in that one while Riggs, his understudy, picked up 41 on only five carries. Coach Jim Hickey said that Chapman would play but that Riggs would start and would be given a shot at the job.

Georgia comes into today's game with a limp. The Bulldogs have lost their last two games (Florida State University and Kentucky) after winning their first four.

Early victims include Alabama, ACC leader Clemson and Michigan. The Wolverines are the two teams' only common foe. Georgia beat them 15-7 away and North Carolina lost 31-24 here in Kenan Stadium.

Georgia will be limping today literally speaking. Its injury chart is too long to list. Suffice it to say that the Bulldogs are minus their star tailback Bob Taylor, who was averaging 5.1 yards per carry when he broke his leg against FSU.

The Bulldogs completed 11 of 18 passes for 137 yards last week, the most attempts and completions in the past two years, since All America Larry Rakestraw graduated.

Hickey expected to see more of the same today.

"I'm sure their scouting report told them how Wake Forest beat us — with the bomb. That's no secret. I has happened to us in other games, Virginia, for example."

If it comes down to a field goal, as Carolina's last four games have, Georgia is prepared to play football. Their kicking specialist, Bob Etter of Chattanooga, has booted eight so far this season, which ties the Georgia record.

Georgia holds the edge in 70 year series, 13-12. Two games have been tied. The Bulldogs won last season in Athens 24-8 in a game described by Coach

Vince Dooley the Bulldogs best of the year.

Georgia Athletic Director Joel Eaves offered to forfeit that game after it was discovered that Georgia used ineligible players but UNC AD Chuck Erickson declined the offer.

Crowning of the 1965 Homecoming Queen will highlight halftime ceremonies.

Zacki Murphey, 1964 queen, will crown the winner of last Wednesday's campus-wide balloting.

The winners of homecoming display judging will also be announced at halftime.

Awards will be made for best fraternity, best sorority, best men's residence hall, best women's dormitory and best all-campus entries. Displays will be judged between 10 a.m. and game time today.

Harvard Dean Will Preach At Wesley

Dr. Samuel H. Miller, dean of the Harvard Divinity School, will preach the regular service at the Wesley Foundation Chapel tomorrow.

The service will begin at 4 p.m. in the chapel of the new Wesley Foundation building, 214 Pittsboro St.

Dr. Miller is an ordained Baptist minister. He served as pastor of Old Cambridge Baptist Church before being named dean of the Divinity School.

He is the author of numerous books, including the Lyman Beecher Lectures at Yale, entitled "The Dilemma of Modern Belief."

The 80-voice University Chorus, directed by Wayne Zarr, will sing three selections at this service.

Dr. Miller will also speak at 7:30 tomorrow night at the Wesley Foundation Symposium on Dostoevski's "The Grand Inquisitor," along with Dr. Kenneth Reckford of the Department of Classics.

The services are non-denominational and are open to all members of the university community and to townspeople.

Hoover Opposes Letting Reds Speak On Campus

J. Edgar Hoover told The Daily Tar Heel in a letter dated Tuesday that he doesn't believe Communists should be allowed to speak on college campuses.

In a letter to DTH columnist Michael Jennings, the FBI director said that while he believes in academic freedom and freedom of speech, "I do not feel these privileges grant license to deliberately present distortions and falsehoods."

Hoover said that the Communist Party is trying to increase its influence among the nation's young people and to "create a new image of respectability and legitimacy" as a liberal political faction free from foreign domination.

As for communists on campuses, the veteran crime fighter claimed that campus speeches are used by the Party to gain respectability. "One principal objective," Hoover said, "is to gain status by appearing on the same platform with legitimate political leaders and educators."

North Carolina's speaker ban law bars communists and persons who take the Fifth Amendment on loyalty questions from speaking on the campuses of state-supported schools. Hoover did not specifically refer to this law and made no comment on speakers other than communists.

Hoover said that some students can recognize propaganda, but others cannot. "Therein lies the danger," he added, "because communists have made and are making recruits in our schools, colleges and universities."

Hoover's complete letter is reprinted on page two.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor law, will discuss various aspects of the duty of students to dissent. An open question-answer and discussion period will follow.

The public is invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will present "The Free University in a Political State" Monday night at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Rev. Banks Godfrey, Chaplain of the Wesley Foundation; Norman Gustavson, director of the YMCA; and Michael Katz, professor