British Jet Disintegrates: 124 (84 Americans) Killed

GOTEMBA, Japan (AP) — A British jetliner with 124 persons — at least 84 of them Americans — broke up in the freakish air over Mt. Fuji Friday and fluttered like a leaf down to disaster on the sacred mount's slopes.

Aviation experts, probing the wreckage, said yesterday freak air currents and sudden severe winds may have ripped the British Overseas Airways Corp., Boeing 707 apart minutes after takeoff from Tokyo's International Airport.

Japanese soldiers working under a full, predawn moon carried down the bodies of all 124 victims and placed them in wooden coffins in a Buddhist Temple in Gotemba, 70 miles south of Tokyo.

Among the Americans were 75 persons on an Asian tour sponsored by the Thermo King Corp., of Minneapolis, Minn., a refrigeration equipment firm. Three top company officials and many of the firm's key dealers in the United States and their wives were among the dead.

A company spokesman said virtually every one of the company's top dealers in the U. S. was on the plane. "This has got to be the most disastrous thing a company could experience," he said.

All had attended a company convention in San Francisco last week and left last Saturday for Tokyo, honored for their sales work. For the last several years the firm has sponsored vacation trips for dealers showing the most improvement in their sales.

Last night Warren Trigg, Thermo King executive vice president, received a cablegram from Ralph V. Kerkin, comptroller, Kerwin referring to a crash the day before that killed 64 persons at Tokyo Airport, reported he was safe.

There was Charles Gaibo, 52, of Cheektowaga, N. Y., who told a friend back home before he left, "I don't think I'll see you any more."

Japanese witnesses said they saw the plane break apart, then swirl down like a leaf, trailing fire and white smoke. Its wreckage scattered over wide area on the rugged slopes and set fire to trees and brush in some places.

It was Japan's second major air disaster within 19 hours and the third in a month. In history's worst commercial air disaster involving a single plane 133 persons perished in a Japanese Boeing 727 jetliner that plunged into Tokyo Bay.

Ironically, as the doomed wreckage at Nameda Airport of a Canadian Pacific DC3 jetliner that crashed while landing in a fog Thursday night, killing 64 of 72 persons on board.

The three crashes took a total of 321 lives. Officials from Britain and Canada were en route to Tokyo to investigate the causes of the last two crashes.

Death still lingered over the scene of the Japanese airline crash. Officials reported that a helicopter in the continuing search for bodies plunged into Tokyo Bay, killing two of five crewmen on board.

Just minutes after the BOAC 707 took off at 1:58 p.m. for Hong Kong en route to London, reported severe winds over Mt. Fuji, noted for the freak air currents swirling around its

Mormon Culture Talk

Dr. Donald W. Meinig, Professor of Geography, Syracuse University, will speak in Howells Hall 8 p.m. tomorrow on "The Mormon Culture Region."

He will also speak informally to student groups Tuesday, and will deliver an address at Meredith College in Raleigh and at Davidson.

12,389-foot, snow-draped peak. At noon, the weather bureau said the winds at Mt. Fuji were a sustained 70 miles an hour and three hours later a sustained 86 miles an hour, with gusts likely to be higher. Officials at the scene said the winds and air currents could have overcome the plane, then braced its fall.

Vet's Bill Will Effect Housing

President Johnson signed a bill into law Thursday that could bring a critical housing shortage for married students here.

According to the Veteran's Regional Bureau in Winston-Salem the state has 191,822 men who now are eligible for benefits under the new GI Bill.

James E. Wadsworth, UNC director of housing, says that a large influx of married students to the campus could create a critical housing situation. He believes that single veterans can be accommodated.

I hope that this new problem will make us aware that there is an immediate need for more low-rent housing for married students," says Wadsworth.

He called attention to the disappearing Victory Village constructed in 1947 by the federal government to help meet campus housing needs of married veterans who flooded the campus after the war.

The 250-unit Village is scheduled soon to fall before bulldozers to make room for expansion of N. C. Memorial Hospital.

UNC Business Manager James A. Branch said recently no Victory Village apartments of the 50 scheduled to be demolished later this year would be moved to other areas on the University property.

A request for 300 additional married housing units will go before the General Assembly in 1967, but according to University officials, several more temporary units may fall by then.

Red Denied Again

Church Officials Say No To Aptheker Talk

By ANDY MYERS
DTH Staff Writer
Speaking privileges have been denied Communist Herbert Aptheker in an off-campus location — the Presbyterian Church on East Franklin Street.

The request, made by Student Body President Paul Dickson last Thursday to Rev. Vance Barron, was turned down by the Church Session in a majority vote after more than two hours' debate.

Aptheker would have spoken on "The War in Viet Nam," had his speech been permitted.

The denial by the church came even before the Aptheker case has been considered by Acting Chancellor J. Carlyle Sitterson. Aptheker is scheduled to speak here next Wednesday but no requests have been made to reserve a hall on campus.

The Session, during a regular meeting, was informed of the request only 30 minutes before it met. Rev. Barron issued a statement to The Daily Tar Heel yesterday commending the members of the Session for the seriousness with which they sought to consider the issues involved in this difficult decision.

"I believe the relevant issues were identified and expressed in the discussion," he said.

Rev. Barron said that the vote "was very close." About half the members present at the Session are members of the University.

Dickson was not available for comment yesterday.

A resolution was passed by the Session following discussion about Aptheker's appearance. The resolution stated, in part:

That this Session go on record as being in favor of inviting speakers representing opposing philosophies, provided that the format be that of a panel presentation which shall include a speaker representing the Christian point of view."

Rev. Barron stressed that his personal feelings do not counter with the vote of the Session.

It is my personal conviction that, by granting this request, we would have expressed our confidence in the power of truth to prevail in any open encounter," he said.

There were members of the Session who share these same concerns who do not think that our granting this request would further these concerns.

The Session has final jurisdiction in the use of the properties of the church," he said.

Aptheker will speak at Duke University Tuesday, one day before he is to speak here. Duke President Douglas McKnight granted permission to Aptheker to use speaking facilities at Duke.

No Pickets Show; CFI Plans Falter

By BOB HARRIS
DTH Staff Writer

There was no picketing around South Building yesterday although the Committee for Free Inquiry voted Thursday to picket from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily until Communist Herbert Aptheker's scheduled appearance Wednesday.

The picketing was to be held in protest of Acting Chancellor J. Carlyle Sitterson's decision last week denying HUAC Abolishment chairman Frank Wilkinson and student body president Paul Dickson speaking privileges in Carroll Hall last Wednesday night.

Gary Waller, the only CFI steering committee member The Daily Tar Heel was able to contact, said picketing would be discussed again Sunday night at 7:30 p.m. at a Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) meeting.

Waller did not know why the picketing had stopped. Asked why picketing lasted only from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Friday, Waller replied, "I think most of them were graduate students who had afternoon classes."

Thursday's CFI decision to picket was held in the absence of student body president Paul Dickson who was in Greensboro conferring with lawyers about a prospective court case.

Richard French, who chaired the CFI meetings until Thursday's picketing decision said he thought the picketing fell flat on its face.

I think it was a stupid idea to begin with," French added. Bob Keiser took over CFI chairmanship Thursday after French, who had acted as a moderating influence on the CFI, stepped down.

The picketing decision was reached under Keiser's chairmanship.

Davie Hall Will Employ 'Hollow Square Scheme'

By ANDY MYERS
DTH Staff Editor

If you imagine the addition to Davie Hall resembles the State House in Raleigh, you're right. Because it was designed by the same firm, Holloway-Reeves Inc.

Davie Hall's new face will employ about the same basic design of the State House, called a "hollow square scheme" in architect lingo.

UNC Director of Planning Arthur Tuttle says the hollow square design serves a definite purpose.

A hallway rings the central part of the reinforced concrete structure with offices along the outside and laboratories taking up the bulk of the center.

"The reason for this," Tuttle says, "is that offices need sunlight." Most psychologists like to be able to control as many conditions as possible in the lab, so the loss of direct sunlight to the center of the building is actually an advantage.

In this way, psychologists can create whatever lighting situations they want.

The Davie Hall addition will be attached to the "new" wing (circa 1925) of the present building.

The new building will form a "T" with the back of the present Davie Hall. Tuttle said the stone wall, now blocking passage across Cameron Avenue outside Davie Hall and New East, will be altered so people can cross the street outside the new entrance.

The modern appearance of the Davie Hall addition met with surprisingly little opposition, according to Tuttle.

"The design of surrounding buildings has been taken into account," he says. "Howell Hall, New East, and Carr Residence Hall all have deep, distinctive and repetitive door and window designs."

And unlike many buildings on campus with a "flat" red brick appearance, the buildings around Davie are of white brick or tinted brown stucco.

The addition will have white brick facing, offset by brown tinted vertical concrete slabs, but will be of a sharper, more contemporary style.

This will make it possible to "sweep out" any walls between rooms if needed. Citing psychology as a young science often advancing much faster than available facilities, Tuttle says new research projects and the discontinuation of old ones might make such internal changes necessary.

"If they want to build a special lab in any part of the central section there need be no worry about knocking out a supporting wall," he said.

Davie will be finished two years from the beginning of construction. Complete occupancy is expected about five years after that. Contractors will be T. A. Loving Co. of Goldsboro.

CAROLINA STYLE with Ed Freakley

Fauntleroy Is A Cheater

THAT RENOWNED prognosticator, FAUNTLEROY, has been charged with conspiracy to cheat.

Saturday night when Faunts heard that South Carolina was leading North Carolina State in the second half he became a bit worried.

Faunts had picked State to easily beat the Gamecocks. But when USC captured a six point lead with less than 15 minutes to go in the game the great one went back to change his story that appeared in yesterday's DTH. But State finally pulled it out, so Faunts didn't have to actually pull the switch.

Faunts' trial before the Honor Council will be coming up soon and the DTH will cover it in full.

Dogs Don't Even Fade Away

THEY CAN take away our rights of free speech, they can tear down our buildings, — they can do a lot of things. But there is one thing "they" will never do. Chapel Hill dogs, like the two below, are here to stay.

Dogs, of any sort, are not the best things about the University. They aren't the worst either.

Who's In Charge Here?

THE CFI is at best a strange organization. The steering committee was informed that the last meeting was being called by an unknown party. Yesterday Richard French, who chaired that meeting said he wasn't even a member of CFI.

French said he felt the committee had fallen flat on its face. Those beards would make good brooms.

Chicken Dinner Planned

The sophomore class will sponsor a southern fried chicken dinner Tuesday night just before the Johnny Mathis performance.

The dinner will be served 5:15 to 7:45 in the Tin Can. Tables and chairs will be set up for those who would like to eat in the Tin Can before attending Johnny Mathis.

Tickets are on sale at Y-Court at $1.25 per person.

WRC Calls Meeting

The Women's Residence

Council has scheduled a series of meetings in the women's residence halls for the purpose of explaining rules changes and the WRC in the coming elections.

Attendance will not be compulsory. Meetings will be held in the date parlors on the following nights:

Monday—9 p.m., Cobb; 10 p.m., Winston.
Wednesday—9 p.m. Nurses' Dorm; 10 p.m., Whitehead.
Monday, March 14—9 p.m., McIver; 10 p.m., Alderman.
Wednesday, March 16; 9

p.m., Smith; 10 p.m., Spencer.

Pageant Interviews

Representatives from seven leading outdoor historical drama companies will audition actors, dancers and singers for summer employment March 18 through 20 in the Forest Theatre.

Performers over 18 years of age, who are available for the run of the season, are eligible to audition.

Further information may be obtained from the Institute of Outdoor Drama, 213 Murphy Hall.

Sanders To Speak

UNC Institute of Government Director John Sanders was one of five experts in government invited as an advisor for a one-day seminar on in-service training of local government officials this week in New York City.

New York state does not have a university-based organization such as the UNC Institute of Government nor an overall plan for conducting such training.

Piano Recital Tonight

William Robinson of Whitmire, S. C., pianist, will present a senior recital 8 p.m. today in Hill Hall.

Robinson, a student of Dr. William S. Newman, was most recently heard in a performance of the last movement of Rachmaninoff's Second Piano Concerto with the University Symphony Orchestra in December.

In addition to the Chapel Hill recital today, Robinson will perform this spring at Newberry College in Newberry, S. C., and at the Museum of Art in Columbia, S. C.

ARTIST SKETCH — The architect's drawing of the Davie Hall renovation project adds a touch of the modern to the center of the campus. The renovation project, which will cost $1.5 million, is expected to be finished in about 18 months. Spectators are urged to stay a safe distance from the construction project. Davie Hall will house the UNC Psychology Department.
