The Appian Way

That do-it-yourself brick walk out near Morrison Residence Hall is progressing through the swamp lands. As of yesterday morning at 11 it was 53 paces long. That comes to 5,908 bricks, give or take 10.

Pretty soon you Moes will have your own "Appian Way" leading out of the dark-ages to the civilized area up here on campus.

N...B...C

Most of you missed Wednesday night's NBC news which had the films of Communist Herbert Aptheker's appearance here at UNC.

HERE IS a run down on how it went with Chet Huntley doing the commentary.

"We now take you to Indonesia where thousands of students sacked the embassy today." The films show students running around throwing rocks etc.

"Rioting also broke out in the Dominican Republic today." Same kind of film, same type of student, only the place has been changed.

THEN HUNTLEY said, "We take you now to Chapel Hill, North Carolina." Here the films showed students running to get a place in front of Silent Sam where Aptheker first appeared. There were also a number of beards that appeared. The film had a caption under Student Body President Paul Dickson which said, "Dickson — a student leader."

Huntley came back on and said that Aptheker's daughter had been suspended from the University of Southern California at Berkeley for participating in two get out of Viet Nam demonstrations last week.

Huntley said they had a rule out there that you could only be in one get out of Viet Nam riot a week.

Goodnight Chet.

A New CFI

Something mysterious is going on around Davie Hall. Of course we all know that their "tearen" her down to build her over again." We realize the need for some kind of barrier to keep students from walking by and getting a brick stuck in their ear.

BUT WHAT is this barbed-wire stuff? Is there some kind of government project going on? Rumors say members of losing athletic teams are going to be thrown in there. We also hear that 180-pound police dogs will be patrolling the grounds at night.

The whole thing is unlawful. We propose a new CFI — institutional Fences Immediately.

The Lost Tambourine

They say they're going to set up booths in Y-Court, Chase Cafeteria and Lenoir Hall to collect money for the free speech courthouse — but mind you, that's just what they're saying.

Actually, "they" is Paul Dickson. And lately there's been considerable divergence between what Paul has said and what is.

Last Sunday CFI and Dickson said booths would be set up Monday. They weren't. He said the same thing again Monday for Tuesday. They weren't.

And again on Tuesday he said it. They weren't. And on Thursday. They weren't.

Yesterday, a release from Dickson's office promised that today — TODAY FOR SURE — the booths would go up. Or at least, that's what the yellow piece of paper said.

Referendum Could Affect Pepper's Decision To Run

Supporters of MRC President Sonny Pepper indicated yesterday that he would be an independent candidate for student body president.

Pepper could not be reached for comment.

His supporters said his decision hinged on whether the Constitutional Council ruled last month's referendum valid. The referendum stated that candidates for student body president and vice president had to run on the same ticket.

The referendum was passed by a majority vote of the student body, but was held invalid at a Constitutional Council meeting yesterday because of improper election procedures.

"The question now is what is going to happen if the students pass the referendum again," said one Pepper supporter, who asked not to be identified.

"If the referendum is passed," he continued, "what will be the ruling on Sonny's candidacy? He will have already been a qualified candidate by the time of the referendum. Forcing him to comply to a ruling made after he was a qualified candidate is the same thing as passing an ex post facto law.

"Sonny doesn't have a vice presidential candidate now and I'm sure he won't have one the 15th of next month when the new referendum is held."

Rebuilding Progresses

The "house - fixing" project being executed by Morrison and Nurses Dorm has progressed considerably since it was started two weeks ago.

A core group of about 15 students has worked every day painting, hammering and digging around the house, which is to be occupied by a family of ten.

But there is still a need for paint, tile, money and workers so that the work can be completed by the end of next week.

John Ellis, one of the workers, says the response from some merchants was very good, but that because of a lack of publicity many necessary materials have not yet been donated.

The students, led by Ellis, Gary Boggs, Pat St. John and Ward Maillard, have installed sewage lines and painted both the outside and inside of the house.

They have also put wood siding on the outside.

These students are looking for help in completing the project by next week, so anyone having materials they wish to give or time to spend working, call Gary Boggs at 929-5001.

Honor Court Endorsement

By STEVE BENNETT
DTH Staff Writer
The Honor Systems Commission announced yesterday the 15 candidates it has endorsed for positions on the Honor Courts.

After interviews that were held on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons this week, the Commission has endorsed candidates for all but three districts. These districts are Men's District II and Women's Districts II and V.

Any student who had desired to run for the Honor Council in these districts would only have had to get 50 names, of students who are constituents of the office he seeks on a petition, but the deadline for the completed petition to be given to the Elections Board was yesterday.

Therefore the new student body president will appoint the people of his choice to the empty seats in these districts.

The election of members to the Honor Council will be held on March 22.

The Commission endorsed the following students for seats on the Men's Honor Council:

M. D. I—Robert E. Dornbush, M. D. III—Albert L. Ellis and John R. Corne, M. D. VI—John E. Lawrence, Jr., M. D. IX—Robert L. Farb and Bill Miller.

Aptheker Attacks Johnson And 'Aggressive Policies'

By ANDY MYERS
DTH Staff Writer
Herbert Aptheker told a group of Carolina students and faculty Wednesday night that his recent unauthorized trip to Hanoi now seems "like a nightmare."

Speaking at the interdenominational Community Church on Purefoy Rd., the Communist described his experiences with North Vietnamese leaders.

"The Vietnamese feel the war is a struggle for independence, and I believe them," he said. He argued that the people of Viet Nam "do not want to wage war with the United States. They do not seek to damage our cities. Defense is their main concern."

Commenting on President Johnson's "peace offensive," Aptheker said he agreed with the North Vietnamese, who considered it "demagogic." He reported that the North Vietnamese premier told him that the United States had not contacted his government, despite the American claim to have "knocked on all the doors."

Aptheker was introduced to the 350 persons present by Gary Walker, former chairman of Students for a Democratic Society.

The State Department revoked Aptheker's passport after the illegal Viet Nam trip. Straughton Lynd, a Yale professor, and Tom Hayden, founder of SDS also took the trip.

SDS invited Aptheker to speak here, but he was denied a platform by Acting Chancellor J. Carlyle Sitterson last week.

Brick Sidewalk Will Be Relaid At 'Mighty Mo'

By STEVE BENNETT
DTH Staff Writer
The brick sidewalk which is being built by Morrison residents and which is now 53 feet long will be taken up next week and reconstructed by a crew from the Building and Grounds Department.

B. L. Ross, assistant Superintendent of Building and Grounds, said that the sidewalk has not been started before now because of the bad weather that has continued for the past several months.

The thousands of bricks to be used as material for the sidewalk from the back of Morrison along a path to the field house parking lot have been stacked there since last November.

Ross said, "After we begin the construction at the end of next week, it should be completed in two or three weeks if the nice weather continues."

The cost of the project is covered by the money left from the construction of the dormitory for use in the construction of sidewalks and landscaping.

The students living in Morrison who park in the Ramshorn parking lot have been having to climb the steep bank to the dorm all year. Ross said he plans to look over the situation and see if steps are needed from the parking lot to the dorm.

"If steps are needed to protect the bank and help students get to their residence, we will build it also," he said.

The dirt path from the field house to the north entrance to Kenan Stadium will remain as it is until some further appropriations are allotted to the construction of walks on campus.

New Elections Set

Council Declares Referendum Void

By GLENN MAYS
DTH Staff Writer

The UNC Constitutional Council yesterday ruled that the Feb. 22 referendum on the so-called "slate amendment" was not valid. The Council set Tuesday as the date for another vote on the amendment.

Council Chairman Van McNair in announcing the council's decision said, "After considering all the facts in this case, we can find no other decision than to say that the referendum on the 'slate amendment' is not valid."

BARBER EARL BARKER stepped out of his underground shop Wednesday to get a look at what all the noise was about. What he, and the couple to his left saw, of course, was Mr. Aptheker and Co. — DTH Photo by Jock Lauterer.

Before the hearing was conducted, the council deliberated about 40 minutes on the question on whether the protest of the referendum was filed within the 96-hour limit set in the election laws.

McNair said the board could not find "any definite guidelines" on which to act and would hear both sides of the case.

Baynard Harris, a resident of Alexander Residence Hall, filed the protest on the grounds that polls in Alexander were not opened for the referendum and that polls at Y-Court were not properly manned.

In the hearing, Harris said there were "flagrant violations of the election laws and a significant number of voters were not allowed to vote" and asked the council to rule the referendum invalid. He said his protest was not based on a "technicality" but on the "flagrant misconduct" during the election.

Arthur Hayes, representing Student Government, told the council that showing there was error in the election process was not enough to invalidate the referendum.

"There is no need to hold another election," he said, "no need whatsoever."

Jim Little, SP chairman, also recommended to the council that the results of the election stand as valid.

In his statement to the council, Harris said there was a "possibility" for ballot box stuffing and that minimum safeguards were not provided for in the referendum.

Following the announcement of the decision, Harris said, "The student body has been rendered a great service with this decision."

Harry Day, housemaster of Alexander Residence Hall, should serve as due notice to those in charge that they should discharge their obligations consistent with the importance that the election process bears to Student Government and to the student body.

McNair said he felt the students want the "slate amendment" but "the election was grossly mishandled and there was no other way for the council to rule."

The council chairman emphasized the need for "comprehensive legislation" to be passed by Student Government concerning the election process. "We are continually appalled by the irresponsibility of the elections board," McNair said.

The constitutional amendment passed Feb. 22, by a two-to-one majority in a light turnout.

Another referendum is set for Tuesday so that if the amendment is approved, it will be in effect in the March 22 elections.

CFI Meeting Held

The steering committee of the Committee for Free Inquiry will meet at 2:30 p.m. today in the Executive Offices of Student Government.

Student Body President Paul Dickson, chairman of the steering committee, announced the meeting Wednesday, March 9, along with the opening of a "Free Speech Defense Fund" in the Student Activities Fund office in G. M.

Dickson and Student Body Treasurer Tom White are the only persons authorized to remove monies from the fund.

Dickson said booths will be set up in Y-Court, Chase Cafeteria, and Lenoir Hall to solicit money for the fund. Before individuals give money to students, they should make sure the solicitor has a letter from Dickson authorizing him to solicit funds.

However, persons may send checks for the fund to Student Government offices, according to Dickson. "We are asking each student to give at least $1 and, if possible, more," he added.

Some $1500 to $2000 will be needed at first for legal services for a law suit, and any money not used will be donated to the North Carolina chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, Dickson explained.

CFI Holds Seminar

The Committee for Free Inquiry discussed Herbert Aptheker's talk on Viet Nam yesterday at a seminar led by SPU chairman Chuck Schunior, CFI member Richard French and political science professor Lewis Lipsitz.

More than 50 persons heard Lipsitz and Schunior criticize the United States' Viet Nam policy while saying they did not agree with all of Aptheker's foreign policy views.

Lipsitz said Aptheker's opinions are excessively influenced by Marxist dogma.

At least 100 persons attended the seminar, which lasted more than three hours and was held at Polk Place. Many stayed for only five minutes and then wandered off.

Most of French's remarks were directed against the speaker ban.

Ehringhaus Art Show

Ehringhaus will stage its Second Annual Art Exhibit March 12 through 20. The show will contain works by Ehringhaus artists and will include sculptures, oils, water colors, inks and photographs.

The exhibition will be officially opened Saturday at 1 p.m. by the Assistant to the Dean of Men, Robert Kepner. An informal reception attended by the college officers will be held following the opening.

Shake-Up In MRC

By STEVE LACKEY
DTH Staff Writer
Elections were held in the MRC meeting Wednesday night, but only after 26 members were purged from the roll because a quorum was not present.

Members having more than two unexcused absences were removed from the roll after a quorum was called and it was discovered that only 47 of the standing membership of 94 were present.

Gary Nordan, representative from Ehringhaus, moved for a quorum, saying that his action was "purely a matter of principle."

He did not feel it was right to "have 25 members electing the president to serve over the entire residence hall" system. MRC president Sonny Pepper recessed the meeting for 15 minutes so that a majority could be found. It was during this recess that Pepper and Gary Boggs, acting as secretary, purged the roll.

Pepper attributed the low attendance to "the general apathy of the men's residence halls."

He said that when a member leaves because of absences his residence president is supposed to appoint a new MRC man. Then "they just don't come," Pepper said.

There were no representatives at the meeting from Battle - Vance - Pettigrew, Everett, Ruffin or Carr Halls.
