

Hickey Shuts Door On Spring Practice

Coach Jim Hickey opened spring practice here this week by shutting the door. The Tar Heels of North Carolina will work behind closed gates throughout 19 of their 20 days of allowed practice.

"I feel the only way to get the maximum out of our drills is to prevent any distractions," said Hickey. "We have much to learn from our newcomers to the varsity. We also may do some position shifting."

Hickey will have 31 lettermen available next fall, but a number of his veterans are participating in spring sports, limiting the experience for the current working crew.

The job is wide open for a punter during the spring practice. Bill Edwards, who did most of the kicking for the past three years (compiling a 39-yard average over the span), graduates. Danny Talbott, who booted some last fall, is a member of the UNC baseball team.

"Our plans are to have Talbott do the punting next fall unless we come up with someone better over the next few weeks," said the coach. "We are well situated with kickoff and field goal men. Billy Dodson, a freshman back, looks like a first-rate field goal kicker."

The Tar Heels will wind up spring duty on April 30 with an intra-squad game. Hickey will work his men 10 afternoons and then call for a vacation break on April 2. They will reassemble on April 12 for another 10 workouts.

Carolina Will Open Lacrosse Monday

By PETE CROSS Special to DTH

UNC's lacrosse team clashes with highly-touted Yale Monday afternoon on Navy Field. Coach Cony Steele is "optimistic" about the opener — and the entire season.

Of the eight-game slate his men will play this year, Steele says, "If anything, we are optimistic. They'll be close, but I think we can win them all."

Right now though, Steele's squad is pointing only toward Monday's encounter with a Yale team which finished 13th nationally last year. It will be the first meeting between the two clubs.

"They've got a very strong offense with three real good attack men," said Steele. "Two of them were chosen for All-American honors last year."

Carolina will counter with its own strong attack line and A-A material. Attack center Jeff Parker was selected for the honorary team last year, and goalie Harvey Stanley must be considered a choice candidate.

Last year's lacrosse squad was ranked 19th in the nation in only their second year of varsity competition. That edition finished with a 5-2 record and provoked a great enthusiasm among the student body. "We've got an even tougher schedule this year," said Steele. "We'll be the underdog in five of our games." Of the student support which seemed to swell during the season last year, Steele noted, "We're hoping for the same support this year."

"Lacrosse has come into its own very quickly here. I think it will remain on solid footing. It's appealing to the spectators much like basketball."

"The game provides speed, body contact and stickwork — also there's an important element of free lancing," continued the coach. "I also think it helps that students can identify with such fine boys as Parker and Stanley."

Parker and Stanley serve as co-captains for the team. Both are seniors, and both merit their tutor's praise.

"Harvey is our coach on the field," said Steele. "Of course that's the responsibility of all goalies, but he's better than any I've ever seen."

No scholarships are awarded for lacrosse, and this makes the team's success even more creditable. In the first year of competition (1964) the lacrosse team topped Duke, and this single victory enabled UNC to claim the Carmichael Cup by one-half pint.

Presently, only Maryland and Virginia field teams among ACC schools, but both finished within the top ten nationally.

Daily Tar Heel

SPORTS

Carolina Falls To Pirates, 5-3

East Carolina College picked up five runs in the first two innings of yesterday's baseball game to beat the Tar Heels, 5-3.

Starting pitcher Mike McLaughlin ran into control trouble in the first inning walking the first three batters. Mike Flannigan relieved McLaughlin but the Pirates scored four runs in the first inning.

East Carolina scored another run in the second on a home run.

Carolina picked up their first run in the third. They scored again in the sixth inning on a double by Bob Bonczek and a single by Charlie Carr.

The Tar Heels threatened to take the game in the ninth but was able to plate only one run with two men stranded.

A more complete account of the game will be in tomorrow's paper.

Duke Blue-White Tilt Ends Practice

DURHAM — A month-long spring practice for 70 Duke University football aspirants ends at 2:30 p.m. today with the playing of the annual Blue-White Game in Duke Stadium.

New head coach Tom Harp has named "specialists" who will appear on only the first offensive or defensive team.

"But, I'm sure there'll be some changes made after the coaches finish film evaluation," said Harp.

"Just because a boy will be going both ways doesn't mean we are not going to take a good look at him." In more than one past contest an "unknown" has turned in a fine performance and replaced a seasoned veteran.

"We're still seeking our 22 best players," said Harp.

Juniors Jake Devonshire and Frank Ryan at halfback, junior Jay Calabrese and senior Page Wilson at fullback and senior Todd Orvald and junior Al Woodall have the specialty assignments in the backfield.

Going one way today in the defensive backfield are All-ACC Bob Matheson and sophomore Glenn Newman at linebacker with seniors Art Vann, Jim Barrett and Mike Shasby and juniors Andy Beath and Mark Telge in the defensive secondary.

Senior speedster Dave Dunaway, junior Mike Swomley and sophomore Jim Kidd will be at offensive end, senior Mike Renneker and junior Bedford Cannon at tackle, seniors Jerry Barringer and Roger Parker, junior John Alexander and sophomore Carl Gersbach at guard and senior Bucky Fondren at center.

On the defensive line will be senior Bill Serravezza and Bruce Wiesley and junior Bill Phipps at end, juniors Robin Bodkin and Bob Lasky at tackle and junior Bob Foyle at middle guard.

Track Team Meets Tigers In Opener

By DRUMMOND BELL DTH Sports Writer

After a successful indoor track season the Carolina thinclads begin their outdoor season in Columbia, S. C. against the Clemson Tigers today.

Coach Hilton feels that this will be no easy task since Clemson appears stronger in the spring season than they were indoors as a result of the added field events.

In the past, the javelin which is strictly an outdoor event has been a fairly strong point for Carolina.

This year Coach Hilton has returning letter man Pat Toney and Tom Perry, who last year threw 190 feet. The two, if they perform up to par, should strengthen the field events.

Another event, the discus, which is not included indoors, has Barney Varner, Bo Wood, and Ron Short as its entries. Wood placed fourth in this event at the Penn Relays last year and has great potential.

Coach Hilton will go with Ron Short, Felix Alley, and possibly Barney Varner in the shot. Alley, who did well in the ACC Indoors Games is the strong contender in this event for the Tar Heels.

In the high jump Carolina has been given additional strength with the return of Jim Frye, who won the Big Four Freshmen meet last year in this event. Tilden Bridges has shown fine improvement. Indoors, Bridges cleared 6'2" to take fifth in the ACC. Frye and Bridges are strong performers in the high jump and have a fine chance to take first place laurels.

Lester Hyder and Archie Hicks are Carolina's entries in the pole vault. Indoors Hyder did reasonably well, but Clemson is strong in this event, and both of these men will have to vault better in order to give Carolina needed pints.

In the broad jump the thin-clads have a strong performer in Gary Iverson, who placed second in the ACC Indoor Games. Iverson is also the mainstay of the Hop, Step and Jump, which is an event of extreme difficulty. However, Iverson has the competitive spirit needed to win.

Indoors, the running events were the Tar Heels forte. Outdoor is no exception. Mike Williams, a highly touted sophomore who won the ACC Weil Trophy for his victory in the mile, is centered in the half-mile and mile.

In the mile Bill Bassett and Co-Captains Jim Meade will give Clemson a hard time along with Williams. All of these runners are capable of running in the 4:20's and Williams has shown that he can beat the best in the ACC.

Co-Captain Bill Janowitz, who did not do extremely well indoors in the half mile is ready for the outdoor season and the cinder track. Tom Carpenter, who placed second in the 100 yd. run in the indoors games, gives Carolina a very strong trio in the half. Carpenter runs consistently under 2:00 as do Williams and Janowitz.

Gary Mead, Jim Frye, and Richie Ambrose give the thinclads a strong contingent in the high hurdles. Mead and Ambrose are great competitors, and Frye who won this event, plus the high jump as a freshman in the Big Four, will be hard to beat in the hurdles.

The 440 yd low hurdles are strictly an outdoor event. Richie Ambrose and Bill Mitchell are Hilton's picks. Ambrose has experience in this race and must only overcome a weak kick in order to become a strong contender for the ACC crown.

The 100 yd. dash is led by Jon Levin, who won the ACC 60 yd. dash title this winter. Levin will be hard pressed since Clemson has a pair of fine dashmen. Backing up Levin are Winborne King and Gay King is a new addition to the team and has shown fine speed in early season workouts.

In the 220 yd. dash Levin will again be Carolina's first man. Steve Kropelnicki and Ed Daw will hopefully press Levin and give Carolina additional points. Daw is Hilton's mainstay in the 440 yd. dash. He has run under 50.0 throughout the past year and is faster indoors. Frank Kurth, who ran the 880 indoors has moved down to the 440 for this meet to give Carolina more depth in this race which has always been a strong one for the Tigers.

The two mile run should go to Carolina. Co-Captain Jim Meade is back to his old form, and Trip MacPherson and Charlie Worley, next year's captain's elect of Cross Country, are out to stay with Meade and finish near the top.

On the whole, Carolina has an advantage in the distance events. However, they will meet strong opposition from Clemson in the dashes and field events. Last year, Clemson won this meet, but Carolina seems to be stronger this year and with good effort, should register its first win of the outdoor season in Columbia.

FORMER UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA basketball greets Jim Hudock (left) and Ray Respass will represent UNC once again next Tuesday night at Duke Indoor Stadium in Durham when the All-Star Alumni teams of Duke and UNC meet. Joining Hudock and Respass will be other former Tar Heel performers: Larry Brown, Pete Brennan, Dan Lotz, Charlie Shaffer, Dick Kepley.

UNC Track Coach Joe Hilton

Former Tar Heel Basketball Greats In Alumni Game Battle Blue Devils

DURHAM — Residents of the Triangle Area get their last opportunity to see college-level basketball until next fall when the All-Star Alumni teams of Duke and UNC meet Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Duke Indoor Stadium.

Stars of Duke's (No. 1 National Champions) (Finalists in the National Championships) who will make their final appearance on local collegiate floors include Steve Vacendak, AACAC player of the year, Phil Allen and Bill Zimmer. Stars of former years include R. Haskell Tison, Howard Hurt, Doug Kistler, Scott Williamson, Buzzy Harrison, Ron Herbst, Jay Buckley and Jay Beale. The Duke team will be coached by Art Heyman, collegiate player of the year in 1963.

Carolina's team is headed by Larry Brown, star of the Championship U. S. 1965 Olympic Team, as well as Pete Brennan and Dan Lotz, both members of the UNC team that won the National Championship in 1957.

Of more recent vintage, Charlie Shaffer, Art Katz, Dick Kepley, Yogi Poteet, Mike Cooke and Ray Respass will represent the older guard, and seniors John Yorkley, Jim Hudock, Jim Smithwick, Bob Bennett and Mike Smith the current generation.

The game, an annual event sponsored by the Durham Academy DADS, drew a capacity crowd in last year's thriller. Proceeds are applied to language laboratories, arts, music and physical education equipment for the school's new campus.

Special guests will include the entire 1966 NCAA (finalist) (Championship) squad.

Referees are Lou Bello and Joe Mills, both of the ACC.

Burl Ives, a frequent visitor to the area, will throw the first ball, and active participant will be Bones McKinney, who retired recently as head coach of the Wake Forest Deacons. Sound effects will be provided by the cheerleaders and pep bands of both schools, and an amateur contest between Durham and Chapel Hill disk jockey promises the college teams little in athletic competition but much in the line of entertainment.

Athletics Will Open ROTC Military Week Activities

Athletic events will open the annual Military Week of the local Air Force and Navy day, March 21.

In the past the competition in these athletic events was between the Air Force and Navy. However this year, "to develop team spirit within the units" and not against each other the competition will be between classes.

The teams will be composed of half Air Force cadets and half Navy cadets.

On Monday, March 21, the Military Week begins with tag football and softball. The cadet seniors will play the juniors and the sophomores will take on the freshmen.

Volleyball and basketball games will be played Tuesday with the same pairing as in football and softball.

The winners will pair up for the championship Thursday and Friday.

In case of a tie between two classes, there will be a playoff on Saturday.

As an added attraction, there will be a volleyball game between the ROTC and AFROTC staffs on Friday afternoon.

This week of athletic events will be climaxed with the annual Military Ball, Saturday, March 26 at the American Legion Hut.

These activities are being sponsored by the Scabbard and Blade, a national military honor society of Air Force and Navy ROTC cadets here.

Sing-Out '66

Cast of 140

You'll Love It

Carmichael Auditorium

March 21 - 8 p.m.

No Adm. Charge

A Wide Selection
Individual Terms

T. L. KEMP
Jewelry

125 East Franklin
943-1231

Asheville Motel Makes Bid For Falcon Training Camp

ASHEVILLE (AP) — A firm building a $1 million motel at the Asheville Airport announced Friday it is trying to get the Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League to hold summer training in Asheville.

Ernest L. Harris, president of Hallmark and Co., Inc. of Charlotte said if the deal goes through, his firm would build training facilities, including a practice field and housing for the players in conjunction with the 150-unit motel.

The City of Asheville will lease the property for the motel and training facility to Harris' firm. The motel will be built even if the team does not train in Asheville, Harris said.

Grail Jamboree Heads Campus Sports Scene

By BILL HASS DTH Sports Writer

A combined team from Pi Kappa Phi - Mangum won the ninth annual Grail - Mural Sports Jamboree Thursday night. Pi Kappa Phi - Mangum totaled 104 points to win. Phi Delta - Teague was second with 92, Sig Ep - Connor third with 87.12, TEPC-Craig C fourth with 87 and ZBT-BVP fifth with 83.

There were seven events and a different winner in each one. Phi Kappa Sig - Mangum II won the foul shooting contest. Fernstrom and Cortes both hit 22 of 25 shots for a combined score of 44. Second was Chi Phi - Graham with Snipes and Balcom scoring 43.

In half-court basketball, the team of ATO - Old East came in first. The ATO members were George Tennielle

DTH WANT ADS

FOR SALE — '59 AUSTIN Healey. Black with black and red interior. 6 cylinder, wire wheels, overdrive. $750. Call Day - 942-6256; Night - 942-3048.

FOR RENT: New Two BEDROOM airconditioned 10' x 50' mobile home. $90 month, also 45' x 45' two bedroom home, $75 month. Available immediately. Tel 942-1749 or 942-3268.

CARS FOR SALE, WHOLESALE. Any make or model. All cars are guaranteed. Contact Gordon Barnes in 302 Mangum or call 968-9183.

NEED EXTRA CASH? Single coins, rolls or sets, circulated or uncirculated, can be sold to J. P. Riggsbee, Chapel Hill Ice Co. Call 942-3268.

A professor of classical Greek kept searching for objects unique. They caused him to snicker Except Colt Malt Liqueur — So he sat down and drank his critique!

A completely unique experience!

SPECIAL PRODUCTS DIVISION THE NATIONAL BREWING CO., BALT., MD.