

Order Of Valkyries Taps Eleven For Membership

Black-hooded figures with burning candles and tolling gong stalked the women's residence halls and called forth eight undergraduate women and three honoraries to membership in the Order of Valkyries, the highest women's honorary organization on campus, in pre-dawn ceremonies this morning.

Tapped were Ellen Beattie Allen, Lyon, Miss.; Alice Kellogg Gann, Atlanta; Linda Yvonne Harrison, La Grange; Mary Elizabeth Haverstock, Roanoke Rapids; Jerri Thomazine Meser, Raleigh; Anne Greylin T. Reeves, Huntingdon Valley, Pa.; Carol Ann Shaffer, Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Larry S. McDevitt, Mrs. Mabel Brittain, and Mrs. Graham Ramsay were tapped as honoraries.

Valkyries, whose membership is limited to two per cent of the women student body, replaced Alpha Kappa Gamma in 1941. The order corresponds to the highest men's honorary, Order of the Golden Fleece.

Women students are selected on a basis of their ideals of scholarship, leadership, character and service.

Citations read as follows: MISS ALLEN . . . "One whose varied areas of contribution have included Student Government, the University Party, Residence hall leadership and academic excellence. Her warm personality, sincere interest in others, dedicated service and personal diligence have earned for her the deep respect of the University and the love of its students."

MISS GANN . . . "One who as President of East Cobb Dormitory and Secretary of the Women's Residence Council, has exhibited a high degree of competency, dependability, and quiet strength. In her work on the WRC Rules Committee, as in everything that she does, Miss Gann has shown true individuality and loyalty to her convictions."

"Miss Gann has also demonstrated unusual ability and interest in her academic field of English through her participation in the Honors Program."

MISS HARRISON . . . "One who has served the University with sincere dedication and without regard to personal recognition. Miss Harrison has been an exemplary member of the Women's Attorney General Staff, president of her nursing class, a member of Sigma Theta Tau, and a member of the Carolina Forum."

"She has shown true concern for the welfare of those with whom she works and lives, and has earned the highest respect of all who know her."

MISS HAVERSTOCK . . . "One who has diligently served as President of her dormitory and as Vice Chairman of Women's Residence Council, constantly demonstrating her endless devotion to serving the women students of the University."

"With sensitivity, initiative, and an attitude of cooperation, Miss Haversotck has met the challenge of revising women's rules, consistently keeping in mind the welfare of the University women. Her excellent performance and high ideals will serve as guides to future students."

MISS MOSER . . . "One who as President of the Carolina Women's Council has strived to bring about a more meaningful and happy life for dormitory women. She is commended for her contributions to the Ad Hoc Committee on the Residence College System, to the Chancellor's Day Committee, to the Women's Honor Council as clerk, and to her nursing class and profession. Her warm and friendly manner have endeared her to many."

MISS PEACOCK . . . "One whose performances with the Carolina Playmakers has brought much enjoyment to the University and to the Chapel Hill area. Her many hours of work both on the stage and behind the scenes have contributed to the success of the Playmakers' productions."

"Miss Peacock's dedication to the field of dramatics coupled with the charm and warmth of her personality has gained her the love and respect of her colleagues."

MISS REEVES . . . "One who is commended for her outstanding and superior execution of the position of Women's Attorney General. Miss Reeves has exhibited dedication, efficiency, and firmness tempered with understanding and gentleness."

"As a member of the Ad Hoc Committee on Judicial Reform, she represented women students with conviction, demonstrated her strong concern for and belief in the Honor System, and gained the genuine respect and friendship of fellow students, faculty members and administrators. Miss Reeves will long be remembered as a credit to her alma mater."

MISS SHAFER . . . "One who through extensive participation in campus activities and superb organizational abilities has been an invaluable member of the University community. Her enthusiasm and willingness to work have enabled her to be an outstanding coordinator of freshmen women."

"These qualities have, in addition, been carried over into her academic field of Nursing, her membership on Women's Residence Council, and her sorority life, as an active Pan Hellenic representative. Miss Shaffer is a dynamic member of any group in which she participates, serving as an inspiration to her fellow students."

MRS. BRITAIN . . . "One who has served the University for almost ten years as an outstanding housemother to several thousand women students. Mrs. Brittain has demonstrated a generous devotion and interest in her dormitory residents — giving both of her time and of herself in order to create for each a real and warm home. She is one to whom many have turned in times of trouble and for whom many feel a genuine love and respect."

MRS. McDEVITT . . . "One who is known for her sensitivity to the feelings of others and her sincere interest in students. Mrs. McDevitt, as assistant to the Dean of Women, has given encouragement to Women's Orientation, strength to Panhellenic, and has been a friend to all who meet her. Her personal warmth and enthusiasms for any task make her one to be loved and admired."

MRS. RAMSAY . . . "One who is an inspiration to all who know her. As hostess of Whitehead Hall, she is responsible for the rare fraternal spirit which prevades her dormitory, and has earned the unqualified devotion of countless students."

"Mrs. Ramsay, an integral part of campus life, worked with the Playmakers, served as secretary in three separate University departments, and now contributes willingly to numerous administrative committees with enthusiasm and fairness. Her character teaches by example, for she is gifted with a unique understanding of people."
