

Graham Memorial will be open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday. From Sunday to next Sunday, it will be open from 4 to 10 p.m. Regular schedule (9 a.m. to 11 p.m.) will be resumed on Monday, April 11.

The Daily Tar Heel

The South's Largest College Newspaper—All-American Award Winner

Good-bye Fans!

Tomorrow will be the last issue of The Daily Tar Heel before Spring Vacation. We will return with Fred Thomas as editor on Wednesday, April 13.

Volume 74, Number 133

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1966

Founded February 23, 1893

THE STONE nameplate of Davie Hall gets unceremoniously toppled from the front building by a destructive crane. Davie now stands gutted looking remarkably like some bombed-out building of the Second World War.—DTH Photo by Jock Lauterer

Score Tied 25-25

No Majority Seen In SL

By ANDY MYERS
DTH Staff Writer

The Student Legislature split down the middle this spring with both the University Party and the Student Party placing 25 legislators in office. There were no independent candidates elected.

According to Arthur Hays,

Chairman of the Elections Board, it was the final recount of M. D. X (Ehringhaus) which divided the SL evenly.

After more than three recounts it was decided yesterday that winners in Ehringhaus were Ben White (SP), Larry Richter (UP), and Neel Dunivant (UP).

SP WINNER

Student Party members seated in the legislature were:

Dick Capps, Juan F. Carvajal, Haywood Smith, Myles Eastwood, Steve Hockfield, Jay Jacobson, Steve Jolly, Jed Dietz, George Kirchbaum, Sandy Hobgood, Ben Hawfield, Steve Hope, Dan Wall, Ben White, Dick Levy, Frank Longest, Lacy Reeves, Eric Van Loon, Rene Clark, Jar Wuehrmann, Ann Brownless, Carrie Rouse, Anne Belcher, Elena Codispiti and Marie Harris.

UP WINNERS

University Party members elected were:

Roberts Crowder, Bill Gordon, Dave Crockett, David Keil, Rick Miller, Ed Wilson, Hank Hankins, Steve Salmony, Randy Worth, Bruce Jolly, Art Robinson, Tim McKeithan, Tommy Cannon, George Isherwood, Noel Dunivant, Larry Richter, Charlie Mercer, Chase Saunders, Bob Sheppard, Marian Johnson, Holly Williams, Birch Liptord, Julie Jones, Linda Bernasek and Pam Nielson.

Hays said yesterday that all counts are final, with the possible exception of Women's District I. There is a difference of only three votes between the lowest scoring winner and the highest scoring loser, he said.

Run-offs were also held in Morrison Residence Hall and in the BVP, Old East, Old West, Carr district. SP candidate Joe Chandler had protested the election there since a UP candidate, Bruce Jolly, had been listed as an SP member.

Jolly was elected in the run-off. In Morrison a run-off was held because it was learned on election day that one candidate had withdrawn his name earlier.

In Old East there was a first in the residence hall vice presidential race. Write-in candidate Noel Free tied during the first election last week with the candidate on the ballot Bill Wick.

A run-off was held Tuesday and they tied again, each receiving 36 votes. Another run-off will have to be held there.

YMCA Officers To Be Decided In Vote Today

By GLENN MAYS
DTH Staff Writer

YMCA officers for the coming year will be elected today by members of the organizations and persons who have served on YMCA committees. Polls will be opened from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the YMCA Building.

Vying for the presidency will be Jonathan Gibson and Edwin Williams. Eric Clay and Phil Clay will compete for the vice presidency and Ralph Levering is the only candidate running for treasurer.

Gibson, a sophomore from Chattanooga, Tenn., is a Morehead Scholar and is president of Phi Eta Sigma. He has served on three Student Government committees and is chairman of the Inter-faith Council and Religion Emphasis Committee. He is a psychology major.

Williams is a junior from Wantagh, N. Y., majoring in Political Science. He has been in the Carolina Political Union, Maverick Senate, Careers for Carolina, the Human Relations Committee and the Y Tutorial Program and has worked with the Carolina Symposium and the N. C. Heart Fund.

The vice presidential candidates are sophomores. Phil Clay is from Wilmington and Eric Clay is from Durham. Levering, unopposed for treasurer, is from Mt. Airy and is also a sophomore.

Three Win Use Of Mustang GTs

John Calhoun, a senior from Chapel Hill, won the use of a Ford Mustang GT during Jubilee Weekend at the Roger Miller show Tuesday night.

His was the first ticket to be drawn at the concert sponsored by the Ford Motor Company.

The car, donated by Crowell Little Ford Company in Chapel Hill, was one of three drawn for at the concert. The other two cars are Hertz Rent-a-cars and were won by Clarence Cheatham, Jr. and John Boulware.

Tickets were also drawn during intermission for three free record albums from the Record Bar. Winners of these were Larry Davis, John A. Jones and Lee Carlin.

Ruling On Legality Of Dickson's Order Planned For Today

By STEVE BENNETT
DTH Staff Writer

The Constitutional Council will meet today at 3 p.m. in 311 Peabody Hall to rule on the appeal which has been made challenging an executive order by Student Body President Paul Dickson.

The executive order prohibits its fraternities and sororities with discriminatory clauses in their constitutions from receiving Student Government funds for the purchase of televisions.

The appeal concerns whether or not the President of the Student Body has power, beyond that of a veto of a legislative bill, which grants him the authority to unilaterally block the execution or alter the provisions of any legislative enactments.

The case rests on an article of the UNC Student Constitution which states, "The President of the Student Body shall have powers to enforce and administer laws enacted by the Student Legislature."

Steve Salmony and Hugh Blackwell in appealing to the Constitutional Council said, "The president has neither the power nor the authority to choose which laws he will enforce nor may he establish conditions under which he will enforce particular laws if such conditions conflict with existing legislation or with the provisions of the Student Constitution."

"Finally, the President may not, through executive action, presume to act for the Constitutional Council by interpreting the Constitution with regard to legislative enactments."

The Student Legislature on March 24 disregarded Dickson's executive order of March 17 and ordered the immediate implementation of the television act.

After the television bill was passed March 3, the Legislature amended its by-laws and the constitutions reviewed by the legislature's Rules Committee.

Dickson's executive order attached the following provision to the original television act:

1. Any organization wishing to purchase a television through Student Government should submit a statement of its willingness to submit its by-laws upon request to the Student Body Treasurer and the Director of the Student Activities Fund office for review.

2. Any organization with a "discriminatory clause in its by-laws or constitution should not be eligible for Student Government funds.

A representative of the Student Activities Fund office said yesterday that no fraternities have made application for a television since Dickson made his executive order.

around the rim of the stone in circular fashion would be one of two quotes from Wolfe — "A stone, a leaf, an un-found door, and the lost Lane-End into Heaven."

"O lest, and by the wind grieved, ghosts came back again."

On the stone, in addition to the inscription, would be some sort of relief such as an angel, or a stone, leaf and a door. Made of Mount Airy Granite, the memorial would possibly be 4-5 feet in diameter.

Harmon said the Buildings and Grounds Committee "has been most co-operative in considering the plan thus far. We hope we can arrive at a design that will be satisfactory to all. If approved, we would like to have the memorial installed by graduation, if at all possible."

Maupin pointed out that there is enough money in the class treasury to pay for the stone as well as the annual senior festivities.

"The Senior Class will be handling concessions at Jubilee and did quite well on the Homecoming Mum sale. Also, we inherited some money from last year's Junior Class."

The year 1966 marks the 50th anniversary of Wolfe's arrival at UNC. The two class officers agreed that "it would be fitting for our class to undertake this project. After 50 years we think it's time to show that Thomas Wolfe can come home again."

Granite Memorial Will Honor Wolfe

By CAROL GALLANT
DTH Staff Writer

Senior Class President John Harmon and Vice President Armistead Maupin said yesterday the proposed gift to the University from the Class of '66 is a memorial to Thomas Wolfe. The memorial would be a large granite medallion to be inlaid in the circular brick area in Polk Place.

Before installing such a memorial, plans must be approved by the Buildings and Grounds Committee. Maupin said the plan was submitted last week to Dr. Stoudemire and his committee and they are now considering the proposal.

The decision is pending submission of the design which is being made by the Art Department. It will be submitted shortly after Spring vacation.

"We have been looking in to the possibility of such a plan all year," said Harmon. "There is a serious need for a memorial to UNC's most celebrated alumnus. Short of the Thomas Wolfe collection in Wilson Library, there is no tangible evidence that Wolfe was ever a student here."

He would fill this memorial need and would not destroy the present topography of Polk Place."

The circular granite slab would be flush with the walk. It would read, "In Memory of Thomas Wolfe — Class of 1920."

Sitterson Chooses Three New Deans

Three new University deans were named today by Acting Chancellor J. Carlyle Sitterson following approval by the University board of trustees.

The three new deans are Dr. Carl Wilson Anderson, School of Social Work; Dr. Norton Lewis Beach, School of Education and Dr. James W. Bawden, School of Dentistry.

There are now only three dean's positions which are not filled with what needs to be a permanent basis. Dr. Frank M. Duffy is the acting dean of the School of Arts and Sciences and Dr. Earle Wallace is the acting dean of the Graduate School. Miss Margaret Kalp has been the acting dean of the School of Library Science for the past several years.

The appointments of Anderson and Beach become effective June 1 while Bawden will become dean on July 1.

In making the announcement, Sitterson underscored the importance of strong leadership at this particular period in the University's history.

He emphasized the "substantial progress being made in securing necessary administrative leadership to enable the university to meet the educational challenges of the next decade."

Anderson is presently commissioner of the Office of Children and Youth, Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare, Harrisburg, Pa.

Notable among his accomplishments is his revision and modernization of the public child welfare laws of Pennsylvania.

Beach who will become dean of the UNC School of Education is currently a professor of education at Columbia University. He holds two degrees from Boston University and the Ed.D. from Columbia.

Bawden, a member of the dental faculty here since 1961, will become the second dean of the school. He is currently a professor of children's dentistry, assistant dean and coordinator of dental research here.

Murphy, a junior from Leaksville, has been charged with driving on the wrong side of the road, according to Police Chief William D. Blake.

The accident occurred about 7:20 p.m. between Avery Dorm and the entrance to the Ramshead Parking Lot.

Mark Morgan, the operator of the motorbike, suffered minor cuts and bruises. The second passenger, Allen Moser, was taken to the emergency room of Memorial Hospital and X-rayed for a leg injury. Both students live in Morrison Dorm.

Murphy was unhurt. An ambulance was called by several DTH staffers who arrived at the scene of the accident minutes after it occurred.

Doctor's office? Well, the kindly gentleman in white will tell you what shots you'll need before leaving the country. If you are only going to be in Western Europe, a smallpox and typhoid shot will probably suffice.

Take the attractive yellow vaccination card he will give you to the local health department to be stamped. After this, hang on to this card as if it were your ticket or passport. It's just as important. In fact, keep them all together as I did, so when you lose one, you lose all.

You get passport information and forms at the Post Office or the courthouse. Before going to fill out the appropriate forms, have your passport photograph taken. This, along with your birth certificate, is necessary before your passport forms can be sent.

My plans for going to Europe were rather spur-of-the-moment. I was able to receive my passport in five days only because of a high contact in the State Department (My neighbor's cousin's

Travel In Europe For $5 A Day?

By CAROL GALLANT
DTH Staff Writer

Second In A Series

One of the more difficult parts of traveling to Europe is getting out of your own back-yard. It's easy to say "someday I'll go," and leave the details to be arranged sometime in the hazy future.

Then one day you do make the decision and announce it proudly to your family and friends.

After everyone has gotten a good chuckle you let them know you are serious, and then you head for the doctor's office.

Doctor's office? Well, the kindly gentleman in white will tell you what shots you'll need before leaving the country. If you are only going to be in Western Europe, a smallpox and typhoid shot will probably suffice.

Take the attractive yellow vaccination card he will give you to the local health department to be stamped. After this, hang on to this card as if it were your ticket or passport. It's just as important. In fact, keep them all together as I did, so when you lose one, you lose all.

You get passport information and forms at the Post Office or the courthouse. Before going to fill out the appropriate forms, have your passport photograph taken. This, along with your birth certificate, is necessary before your passport forms can be sent.

My plans for going to Europe were rather spur-of-the-moment. I was able to receive my passport in five days only because of a high contact in the State Department (My neighbor's cousin's brother-in-law is the janitor there). To be on the safe side, you best apply four weeks ahead of departure time.

Your next move is to visit your local travel agency to secure information on the countries you will be visiting. Get a currency book, and information on the weather in the countries you'll be in.

Pack lightly! Take clothes suitable to the weather. Yours truly did not do this and got a cold the first week (I didn't know the French word for nose-drops either) and 20-inch biceps from lugging two, not one, but two heavy suitcases around.

The bags may not feel heavy on the trip from your room to the car, or when Uncle Harvey is carrying them, but you will be the one carrying them in the Metro (Paris subway) to save taxi fare in reaching the train station, or up those seven flights of stairs in the hotel. This also is the weary voice of experience speaking.

Now, let's say you have arrived safely. If you traveled by ship you are now in Southampton or Le Havre probably waiting for a train to London or Paris. The ship arranges such "boat-trains" for you.

Yes, here you are in Europe. Hope you remembered to make reservations for a place to stay before you left home or else you may end up sitting on your suitcase in Gare St. Lazare in Paris for an hour calling hotels (The operators here speak French incidentally. Somehow I had expected them to speak English since I was in town.)

If you didn't make reservations you can still manage. My first night I got a lovely little room with a bathtub in it, and a bed. That's all. I found out this was the "Bain" or bath for the whole hotel. Luckily no one felt dirty that night.

Europe On Five Dollars A Day is the book to use in finding a place. The book gives addresses, telephone numbers, descriptions and rates of hotels and restaurants all over Europe.

Let's Go To Europe is written especially for students by students. It suggests places in line with student budgets, as well as places where young people hang out, uh, frequent.

At the airport in London, a housing bureau will aid you in finding a place. In a neat little building across the street from the train station in Amsterdam, a housing bureau will aid you in finding a place. In a neat little building across the street from the train station in Amsterdam, a housing bureau will aid you in finding a place. In a neat little building across the street from the train station in Amsterdam, a housing bureau will aid you in finding a place. In a neat little building across the street from the train station in Amsterdam, a housing bureau will aid you in finding a place. In a neat little building across the street from the train station in Amsterdam, a housing bureau will aid you in finding a place. In a neat little building across the street from the train station in Amsterdam, a housing bureau will aid you in finding a place. In a neat little building across the street from the train station in Amsterdam, a housing bureau will aid you in finding a place. In a neat little building across the street from the train station in Amsterdam, a housing bureau will aid you in finding a place. In a neat little building across the street from the train station in Amsterdam, a housing bureau will aid you in finding a place. In a neat little building across the street from the train station in Amsterdam, a housing bureau will aid you in finding a place. In a neat little building across the street from the train station in Amsterdam, a housing bureau will aid you in finding a place. In a neat little building across the street from the train station in Am-

CAROLINA STYLE
with Ed Freakley

Are You Farkling Me?

Some guys were sitting around in Peabody Hall Tuesday night in the office of a psychology professor listening to the Chuvalo-Clay fight.

The professor was wearing a sweatshirt that said, "2% Olympic Farkling Team."

One of the guys asked the prof what a "Farkling Team" was.

"Well, I'm not real sure," he said. "Three years after I joined I found out I was the only member. But it has something to do with picking berries. The 2% stands for the alcoholic content."

"But the important question," the prof said, "is after farkling do you say 'thank you' or 'excuse me'?"

WE DECIDED to look farkling up in Webster's. We didn't find the word farkling. But we did find that the prof wasn't giving us any berries.

Webster's New International Dictionary, on page 919, has a farkleberry. It is a shrub or small tree (Batodendron arboreum), family Vacciniaceae, of the southeastern United States.

The origin of which is uncertain. How would you like to catch that on a Trivia question?

Join Or Die

Somebody needs to look into a possible monopoly situation. Bob Spearman, now in England on a Rhodes Scholarship, was president of the Student Body last year. He was also a member of Chi Psi Fraternity.

Paul Dickson this year's Student Body president is a member of Chi Psi.

Bob Powell student body president-elect is a Chi Psi.

Fred Thomas editor-elect of The Daily Tar Heel is a member of Chi Psi.

Fred Seely, co-editor of The Daily Tar Heel last year, was a Chi Psi here.

Bob Wilson, orientation chairman and presidential assistant, is a Chi Psi.

The list could be extended much longer. It could include cheerleaders, etc., etc.,

LOOK FELLOWS, why don't you move the Lodge down here to GM and stop Chi Psi-in-us?

And In True Love

"Hi. Yeah, I'm fine and you."

"Beach, what beach?"

"Oh. That's in Florida isn't it?"

"No. I'm afraid not. I have something else in mind."

"Well I thought I'd stay here over the break and catch up on my studying. But the real reason is I hear that Commi might come here during that time and I really want to hear him."

"Yes, that's right. I believe in the Easter Rabbit, Santa Claus, Good Fairies and Carolina athletic teams, too."

A VIEW for $3. Students can find clean hotels in Paris with an unbeatable attraction — they're cheap.

— DTH Photo by Carol Gallant