Nine-Story Book Exchange Set For Completion By Spring Of '68

By STEVE BENNETT
DTH Staff Writer
The new Book Exchange building scheduled to be started this summer at a cost $3,225,000 will be nine stories, high and is supposed to be completed by the spring of '68.

The high-rise totally air-conditioned structure will be located between the new Undergraduate Library and the new Student Union. It will have a lower level opening on the Raleigh Street side only, two floors for the Book Exchange facing Lenoir Hall and six glass enclosed floors for office space.

Arthur N. Tuttle Jr., Director of planning, said that the plans for the building were changed from the original plans which only called for a three-story building.

Each floor will contain about 12,500 square feet of floor space.

The bottom floor will be divided about evenly between the office supply store located new in the basement of Y Court and the duplicating offices.

The main entrance of the building will be on the Lenoir Hall side and will be on the second floor. As the building is entered from this location, a two-story open section in the middle of the building will show the ceiling of the third floor and will aid in unifying the Book Exchange part of the building.

'Gods' Make Stars Perform In Skies

There are two students on this campus who virtually "play God" to hundreds of children every week. They are holders of perhaps the rarest "self-help" jobs and get perhaps the highest hourly wage of any working student. Henry Aldridge and John Stupak are student narrators for the Morehead Planetarium. Their job consists of running the planetarium instrument and delivering a 50 minute lecture at the same time. "But it is not quite that simple, said Stupak, the junior member of the team. "You work in complete darkness running an instrument from a console containing over 150 different switches and dials, 30 of which you must use in the average show."

"Then you have to lecture for almost an hour about what is going on overhead and you can't use a scrip in the dark either."

The "instrument" Stupak mentions is a $185,000 Zeiss Planetarium Projector which weighs 2 1/2 tons. It is one of only six such instruments on the North American Continent. "Zeiss is the Cadillac of planetarium projectors and costs ten times as much as any other."

The Zeiss instrument projects over 9,600 separate stars, all visible planets, the sun, the moon, and even portrays sun-

Phi Kaps' Coed Open House Will Officially Orientate Coeds

Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity's annual coed open house has been made an official part of fall orientation.

The Orientation Committee Monday night approved the inclusion of the fraternity's traditional event — which began in 1946 — in the Orientation Program for transfer and freshmen coeds.

Invitations will be sent to each girl and her orientation counselor to visit the Phi Kap house from 8 to 10:30 on Wednesday of Orientation Week.

"It's just to show the girls what a fraternity at Carolina is like and to let them meet the type of guys who are in fraternities here," said Hop-

Hudson, president of Phi Kap. Hudson said the brothers will return to Chapel Hill a few days early to straighten the house up before the open house.

Attendance at the buffet and punch affair, he said, usually averages about 300. Plus the girls and their counselors, there are the chapter sweetheart and hostesses representing each sorority and girls' dorm.

The open house was held every year from 1946 until 1961, when it was discontinued for three years. In 1964, though, it was resumed as an annual event.

New Spending System O.K.'d By Legislature

By LYTT STAMPS
DTH Staff Writer
Student Legislature approved a requisition system for spending Student Government funds in a special session Wednesday.

Legislature also began the slow item by item consideration of the budget. It was not balanced when introduced by Frank Longest (SP), chairman of the Finance Committee.

The requisition system requires the Student Body Treasurer to authorize one to three persons of each organization which receives Student Government funds to sign requisition forms.

Before the organization may spend any funds, the authorized person must obtain a form from the Student Activities Fund Office which will state the amount to be spent and that the expense is provided for in the budget.

Under the requisition system, Student Government would not be liable for funds spent without a requisition form. The person spending the funds without the form would be liable for them.

Violation of the system will be an Honor Code offense.

The system may be suspended for an organization if written request is submitted to the chairman of the Finance Committee and a vote of the committee approves.

The Finance Committee may suspend the system only under "a strictly specified situation." The bill does not define what these situations are.

University Floor Leader Ed Wilson told Legislature that they could not afford to wait another year to begin the system of the unbalanced budget. Dick Levy (SP) called the system "unnecessary red tape."

Longest said the system as necessary now to "make people think" before they spend Student Government funds.

Eric Van Loon (SP) said there was a bill presently in the Ways and Means Committee to study the financial set-up of Student Government. He did not want the system installed until further study could be made.

The vote on the section of the budget defining the requisition system passed in a voice vote.

After approving the new system, Legislature considered the budget until 10:45 p.m. when the rules state that they must adjourn.

Included in the budget was $1,903.30 for NSA. Rumors had been abundant that the Finance Committee had cut NSA out of the budget totally. When this part of the budget was considered on the floor, $45 was added to the funds appropriated.

Ban Suit Answer:

Defendants To Ask Dismissal Of Case

By ALAN BANOV
DTH Staff Writer

The defendants in the Speaker Ban suit will ask for dismissal of the case when they file their answer to the suit later this morning in the U. S. District Court for the Middle District of N. C.

Col. W. T. Joyner, senior member of the Raleigh law firm which aided the Attorney General's staff in preparing the Defense, said yesterday that the answer "will contain motions of dismissal."

The motion would admit the validity of the facts in the plaintiffs' evidence, but assert the merits of the Speaker Ban Law.

The suit was file March 31 by 12 students, Marxist Herbert Aptheker and Frank Wilkinson against Chancellor J. Carlyle Sitterson, Consolidated University President William C. Friday and the UNC Board of Trustees.

Attorney General Wade Bruton said yesterday that a representative of his staff will leave Raleigh about 9 a.m. today to file the answer in Greensboro.

The deadline for the answer to the suit is May 15. The defense would be required to file their answer by 5 p.m. today, since the court in Greensboro is closed tomorrow and Sunday.

UNC Officials To Request $ Increase

University officials have announced plans to request an increase in the per-occupant expenditure permitted on the construction of new dormitories, according to Acting Chancellor J. Carlyle Sitterson.

At present the Advisory Budget Commission enforces a State requirement that a maximum of $3,000 per occupant be spent on dorm construction.

Consolidated University President William C. Friday said last week that no decision on the amount of the increase to be requested has been reached. A meeting has been held with the State Department of Administration to discuss the matter, he said.

Sitterson said the University "will seek relief from the restriction shortly." He added, such a requirement "puts an unrealistic ceiling on dormitory construction and will cause a sharp reduction in the size of the two-man dormitory rooms."

He said such a reduction would become necessary if the per-occupant expenditure is not increased in line with rising labor and building cost.

Friday said, "We will request an upward revision in the figure and the Department of Administration will probably make a similar recommendation."

"It is a statutory matter and must be taken up by the 1967 General Assembly."

Consolidated University Business Manager A. H. Shepherd Jr. said the per-occupant expenditure has risen from $2,687.50 (set by the 1961 General Assembly) to $2,750 (set by the 1963 Assembly)

Janus Inducts 14

Fourteen men were initiated last night in secret ceremonies by the Society of Janus.

New members were picked up at midnight at various locations on campus and taken to the temple of the society where they were inducted. After the initiation a reception was held for old and new members.

New members are: Duane Gary Boggs, Llewellyn G. Brown, Jerry Wayne Cannady, Chan Chandler, William T. Elliott, John Edward Ellis, Terry Clayton Fox, Worth Timothy Haitcock, James Gaston Hough, Charles R. Miller, Ernest Allen Shepard, Dwight E. Thomas, Jr., William Samuel Woodard and Rev. Harry E. Smith.

The Society of Janus is a secret honorary society composed of students, faculty administration officials, and others who have demonstrated outstanding leadership and service to residence halls of the university.

The society makes selections on the basis of leadership, scholarship, and honorable character.

Serving as officers this past year were A. D. Frazier, Praecept; Bill Robinson, Vice-Praecept; Jim Pender, Notarius; and Pete Williams, Quaestor.

Other active members on campus are Gordon Appell, Ronnie Aycock, Gerald Droze, Phil Baddour, John Ingram, Chuck Longino, Byron McCoy, Bob Payton, Paul Russell, Bob Hunter, Clark Brewer, Ed Burt, Arthur Hays, Jim Fullwood, Don Carson, Paul Dickson, Alan Craig, Sonny Pepper, and Lanny Shuff.

E'haus Surfers Set Luau Blast This Afternoon

An Hawaiian Luau Party will be sponsored by Ehringhaus Residence College on Friday, May 13.

Bathed in the lights and sights of the tropics, the Shadows Combo will play from 7:30 until 12:30. This party is a group project by the six houses of the college and big plans are now being made for the event.

Admission will be free for persons appropriately dressed for a luau (wild swim suits, sarongs, etc.).

This combo party will be the major event of the spring social activities for Ehringhaus Residence College. Plans now call for the lawn to be fully decked with appropriate decorations.

All persons will be greeted with a free lei.

The event will be held on the front lawn. The entire campus is cordially invited and refreshments will be served.

This will be the last big outdoor dance and festival on campus. Wear your "boggies" or your "hang-ten".

Spring Art Show: A Splash Of Colors On Franklin Street

SPLASHED ACROSS the drab sidewalk by Battle-Vance-Pettigrew today and tomorrow is a cacophony of color. The annual Spring Art show opens today with a host of new works on exhibit. Signaling the opening new spring glasses, Melody Dickenson surveys some paintings. Meanwhile Jeannine McGuire rolls in the grass where her mother's paintings will hang. And here comes "Mabel." (the painting is "Mabel," the boy is Bryan McDaniel.) Mabel is by Tom Livengood. If none of this makes sense, it's because you've got to see the exhibit for yourself. — DTH Photos by Jock Lauterer
