Food Price Rise Isn't Your Fault

By PETER HARRIS
DTH Staff Writer

Inflation has masticated the UNC cafeteria system. The self-sustaining cafeteria announced yesterday that a 33.4 per cent price hike in their raw food index, and a 21.82 per cent increase in wage costs over the past two years have been the main reasons for the rise in prices at the cafeterias.

The shocking price increase means that today the cafeteria's dollar buys only two-thirds of what it did in 1964.

STUDENT SPECIAL

The cost of a "student special" has risen from forty cents to sixty cents in the last year and a half.

After maintaining the special at forty cents for the eleven years from 1954 - 1965, the cafeteria found that is funds had been decreasing annually.

The only solution, save bankruptcy, was to raise the student prices.

George Prillman, Director of Dining Halls, told the DTH that a student can still exist on $1.50 a day, but as UNC Business Manager J. A. Williams pointed out, "most students have a larger appetite."

same system, still siphoned off volume from Lenoir Hall, and this caused two large over-heads instead of only one.

Another hardship is that all repairs and renovation costs fall on the shoulders of the cafeteria; they are not paid for by the state.

Lenoir Hall is to be renovated next summer but the tremendous loss suffered last year will handicap this project.

The DTH checked with the N. C. State Cafeteria System and found that they have been able to maintain the 45 cents special because they are part of a national food service — the Slater Corporation.

Mass buying is much less expensive than local purchasing. Al Clark, Director of Dining Halls at State, said that if they worked only on a local level their prices would be much higher, too.

This is the way Lenoir Hall spends each dollar:

- 38 cents on wages
- 50 cents on food
- 12 cents on operating costs such as electricity, silverware, napkins, and detergents.

EHRINGHAUS FINANCED BY ATHLETES

The Ehringhaus Cafeteria is financed completely by the Athletic Association. Athletes at training tables pay seventy dollars per month, while those who have grants - in - aid have their bills footed by the Educational Foundation.

Under the present cafeteria system, the University is caught in a bind. It has no control over outside prices and it is not allowed to subsidize the cafeterias.

CAFETERIA LACKS CONTROL

The most frightening part is the lack of control the cafeteria has on the prices it pays for its own food.

Price lists on twenty - five select items (listed) are received weekly from the major meat packing firms, such as Armour, Swift, and Wilson.

The cafeteria then chooses the product on a "low bid" basis. That is, it buys the least expensive brand.

Staples and milk are bought by the State Division of Purchase and Contract in Raleigh. This, however, is the only mass buying the cafeteria actually does.

The figures in the chart include the average prices per given quantity that the cafeteria (Lenoir, Chase, the Pine room and the Monogram Club) paid in 1964 and those which they are paying now. They show an average increase of 33.4 per cent.

The other unpredictable which destroyed last year's estimates and wrought an $80,000 loss on the cafeteria were:

- A 10 per cent increase in base pay for all employees.
- The State Legislature's Matching Fund of 11.82 per cent of all base pay (This was previously unheard of, and combined with the 10 per cent pay increase, it meant a total increase of 21.82 per cent in wage costs.)
- the working week was decreased from forty - eight hours to forty hours, which forced the cafeteria to hire more workers.

TWO OVERHEADS

Prillman noted that Chase Cafeteria, while a part of the

A solution for what seems to be an inefficient system is not clear. This reporter recommends a commission to study the difficulties facing the cafeteria system.

Faculty-Home Seminars To Begin Sunday, 16th

An opportunity for informal discussion in the homes of UNC Faculty is offered by the Faculty Home Seminar scheduled to begin Sunday evening, October 16th.

Sponsored by the Campus religious groups, the four seminars will meet for three consecutive Sunday evenings from 8:15 - 9:30 p.m.

Dr. Robert Miller of the History Department will be leading a seminar on "The American Character" at his home on Morgan Creek Road. Murray Mitchell (968-9146) is student convener.

"Sex and the College Student: Thoughts and Feelings, Actions and Reactions" will be the topic of the seminar led by Dr. Clifford Reifler of the Department of Psychiatry. David McFadden (968-9162) is student convener.

Dean of Men William Long will be leading a discussion of three current campus issues, i. e. the honor system, residential college system, and fraternity system. Bill Huntley (968-9072) is the student convener.

Dr. John Adams of the School of Journalism will be leading a seminar on "The Mor-

Cops Put Squeeze On Bagpipe Player

By PETER HARRIS
DTH Staff Writer

"Sweet Bird of Youth" had just finished playing at the Carolina, and walking down Franklin St. was almost lonely.

Then we heard it.

We raced down the steps by Ledbetters, through the Rathskeller alley, and to our amazement there appeared three dancin' couples, a drummer, and a bagpiper.

His fingers going lickety-split over the holes in the reed, Harvey Ritch blared out old Scottish folk tunes, while the lads and lassies jigged on into the night.

Unbelievable!

Rick Mercuri and Russ Sleeper, two swimmers, figured the little elf in the pool had finally caught up with them. But, no, this was all for real.

One of the dancers proposed that they troop across campus, and Ritch and his drummer, George Lund, said they had the guts if the rest would follow.

So, off they went, back through the alley, up the steps, and onto Franklin St., where they pranced to the tune of Scotland's finest.

For about a minute.

Then Chapel Hill's finest zoomed by, and an officer stopped the procession.

He said that there is a law against making noise (?) in town, but that he would summons them since he, too, was of Scottish descent.

The crowd roared.

Figuring the show was over, Ritch and Lund sadly walked away.

But, alas, good Scots do not give up so easily. Mercuri (Mercuri?) yelled, "Let's go on campus!"

The cop said it was okay, and then a boy in the crowd suggested they play at a fraternity.

Sure, said Ritch, which one? Tau Epsilon Phi, drawled the Greek.

So, off to Rosemary Street.

Ritch stopped and told a few risqué jokes in his South Charlotte brogue. The fellows liked that and all of a sudden a long - lost bottle of gin appeared. As we left, the bagpipes were still blaring away with no indications of the music stopping.

After all, the Pied Piper was bagged!

Focus Sets Science Talk

Focus '67 will present a seminar discussion Sunday evening on "Modern Science and Christian Faith," led by Dr. Fredrick P. Brooks of the UNC Information Science department.

This meeting, at 7 p.m. in the upstairs dining room of Lenoir Hall, is open to all graduate students and faculty.

The discussion will center around the lecture given October 2nd.

'Finian's Rainbow' Opens Carolina Playmakers' Season Here Tonight

"Finian's Rainbow," the season's first Carolina Playmakers production will open in Memorial Hall at 8 tonight.

One of the few musicals to be revived twice on Broadway, "Finian" is a song to the people of the mythical Southern state of Mississippi.

The play, which has been described as a "smile through your tears musical fantasy," played before New York audiences in 1947, 1955, and again in 1960.

The reason for "Finian's" popularity is that it's topical. The people of Mississippi are not very different from the ones in North Carolina, Virginia, or any of southern state. They harvest tobacco and cotton every year, worry over the high cost of living, and dream of the day "When the Idle Poor Became the Idle Rich."

Oh, yes . . . the people of Mississippi have a touch of racial bigotry, too, in the person of the politically ambitious Senator Billboard Rawkins. But whenever he comes around, the people just "Look to the Rainbow," and before they know it, their hearts start to pound, their feet start to pat, and Billboard and his bigtry get sung right out of the valley.

Designed and staged by Tommy Rezzuto, with musical direction by James Holmes, "Finian" features a cast of over sixty actors, singers, and dancers from both UNC and N. C. College in Durham.

Those in starring roles include Marky Buxton as Sharon, Michael Hardy as Woody, Thomas Mariott as Finian, Dorothy Silver as Susan the Silent, and Arthur Cain as Senator Billboard Rawkins.

Tickets for the Friday - Saturday - Sunday run are available at the Playmakers business office, 214 Abernethy Hall, at Ledbetter - Pickard, or at the door. Due to a large advance sale, those wishing to attend should reserve tickets as soon as possible.

Senator Stennis Predicts

Viet Forces May Reach Half Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Stennis said yesterday the United States may have 500,000 military men in Viet Nam by the end of next year.

"We must prepare for the long haul," the Mississippi Democrat, chairman of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, said in a Senate speech.

Current U. S. military strength in Viet Nam is estimated at 328,000. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, winding up an inspection trip, said today in Saigon:

"I saw nothing indicating substantial changes in the rate of operations or the deployment of U. S. forces in the months ahead."

Stennis' prognosis appeared to differ.

"Barring an unexpected turn of events it appears that we will have at least 500,000 military personnel in South Viet Nam by the end of 1967," he said.

"One high - ranking and greatly respected general is reputed to have forecast that there may be a requirement for at least 750,000 American troops."

Stennis did not identify the general and went on: "It is estimated that more than 5,000 American boys will lose their lives in combat next year.

"In short, this is by no means a little war by any standards or definitions."

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R. S. C., another member of the Armed Services Committee, told the Senate the "war has got to be taken to the enemy. They've got to feel it. . . when that time comes they will be glad to come to the peace table."

In Washington President monsoon offensive in Viet Nam which had given the United States much concern, has failed.

Lack Of Red Win Blamed On China

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin charged today that Red China's obstruction undoubtedly had prevented a Communist victory in Viet Nam.

Kosygin said China's refusal to cooperate with other Communist countries in joint support for Vietnamese Communists "renders a big service" to the United States.

The Soviet Union is providing "considerable additional assistance" for North Viet Nam, he said, adding:

"Military personnel for the armed forces (of North Viet Nam) are being trained in the Soviet Union."

Kosygin spoke at a Soviet-Polish friendship rally in Sverdlovsk, a West Siberian industrial city that he is visiting with Polish Communist Leader Wladyslaw Gomułka and Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz. The Official Soviet News Agency Tass reported Kosygin's speech.

"Had American imperialism encountered the joint rebuff of all countries of socialism (communism), of their united policy, then doubtless a quick end would have been put to its outrages in Viet Nam and the aggression would have been cut short," Kosygin said.

"China's position has become a serious obstacle in the struggle for this sacred cause."

China "inflicts increasing damage to the interests of the Vietnamese people, the interests of world socialism," he added.

Kosygin did not spell out just how China has hampered Communist support for North Viet Nam and the Viet Cong.

Reports circulating here for more than a year concern Chinese obstruction of Soviet military aid shipments overland through China to Hanoi.

Hope Tickets Selling Fast

Bob Hope is coming to Carolina Thursday, October 27, and will probably perform to a sell-out crowd, according to Graham Memorial officials.

His performance is co-sponsored by GM Student Union and the Arnold Air Society.

This is Hope's third visit to the Research Triangle area. He was at State last year and at Duke in 1964.

This is his first visit to Carolina.

Tickets are on sale at GM for UNC students and dates at $2.00.

South Campus Unites For Weekend Party

The four residence colleges on South Campus have pooled their resources to bring three big - name entertainment groups to Carolina next Saturday night.

Morrison, Craige, Scott and Ehringhaus Residence Colleges made plans last spring in a co-operative effort to give top entertainment and cut total social expense.

The groups appearing in Chase Hall from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. on October 22 include Maurice Williams and the Zodiacs, Dr. Feelgood and the Interns, and the O. J.'s.

The cost of the entire evening of entertainment is $2 for residents of the sponsoring colleges and $2.50 to all other students.

Ticket Sales Schedule and prices are as follows:

- South Campus Residents — $2.00 per couple
- Others — $2.50 per couple
- Tickets at the door — $3.00 per couple

Tickets may be bought at: Chase Cafeteria — Daily Mon. - Fri. 11:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. — 5:30-6:30 p.m.

- Lower Quad Sales — 7:30-7:45 nightly, in main lobbies of each dorm.
- Upper Quad Sales — 7:45-8:00 nightly, in main lobbies of each dorm.
- Joyner, Alexander, Connor — 8:00-8:15 nightly in main lobbies.
- Avery, Parker, Teague — 8:15 - 8:30 nightly in main lobbies.

Ehringhaus, Craige, Morrison — 8:30 - 8:45 nightly in main lobbies.

Also, at Y-Court and Pine Room from 11:30 - 12:30 daily.

A Firedrill?

What It Was, Was . . .

By KAREN FREEMAN
DTH Staff Writer

Spencer's freshmen girls ran onto the lawn in raincoats and towels at 12:35 a.m. Thursday while the bagpipes played the Alma Mater.

After recovering from their surprise, the men stood by and cheered.

The occasion was what was supposed to have been Spencer's first fire drill.

Usual fire drill procedure is for every girl to stop what she is doing, or get out of bed, and grab a raincoat, towel, and shoes, and run outside.

For obvious reasons, the time for the drill is not announced. So while plans for the drill were being made, different plans were being made at a Carolina fraternity house.

A group of pledges was told to serenade the dorm, led by a bagpipe-carrying, kilt-clad "Scot."

When the two forces met, the result was women receiving men visitors after closing hours.

The girls, most still half-asleep, panicked when the pledges' presence became known, but instilled obedience made them go out despite their dismay.

Meanwhile housemother Mrs. Loffingwell, thinking of a potential party raid, hastened to tell the girls that under the circumstances it was not necessary to go outside, but the well-trained girls proved too fast for her.

Not all of the plans for the night were abandoned, however. The pledges serenaded the girls as they were herded back within the walls.

Groups Receive Heart Awards

By STEVE BENNETT

Two Carolina student groups were presented North Carolina Heart Association Outstanding Organization Awards last night.

The international pre - med and pre - dent honor society Alpha Epsilon Delta and the Student Nurses Association were presented the awards for their help in soliciting contributions for the Heart Fund last February.

Several members of the group stood in front of the Varsity Theatre every night during the month to collect a total of more than $400.

The service project was the first in several years for the groups and resulted in more than 95 per cent participation from the 60 members of AED and the 100 members of the Student Nurses Association.

Dr. Ernest Craige, head of the Dept. of Cardiology in the School of Medicine and a leading researcher in the Heart Association, presented the awards to the presidents of the organizations, Dwight Wait and Linda Waring.

Wait received one of the coveted founders awards last year for his "outstanding contributions to the N. C. Heart Fund Drive."
