ipplause, Protesters, L&M Greet Humphrey

Humphrey Emphatically Answers Powell's Question -DTH Photo By Jock Lauterer

Vice President Defends U.S. Vietnam Involvement

By DON CAMPBELL DTH News Editor

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey upheld United States' commitments abroad Tuesday and strongly defended our presence in Vietnam. Speaking on a Carolina Forum panel, the Vice president said, "Our readiness has stop-since World War II." Dealing with Vietnam at great length, Humphrey noted the numerous bombing pauses observed by the U.S. in a fruitless search for peace

ped aggression several times

"The purpose of bombing the north is not to stop infiltration, but to make it more costly," he said.

ping the bombing in the past had only led to increased infiltration of South Vietnam. and that regardless of contacts with Hanoi through intermediaries, had resulted in no peace talks.

"We are prepared to speak with Hanoi on any responsible forum . . . if we can get some assurance it will not be

"We went through two and one - half years of talks during Korea," he continued, "and most of the Americans killed in that conflict were killed during those talks."

Humphrey was questioned by a panel including Student Body President Bob Powell, economics professor David Lapkin, American history professor Samuel Wells and lion on all programs for the political science graduate stu- poor in 1961," Humphrey said. dent Gary Byrne. Carolina Forum President Robin West acted as modera-In opening remarks before our involvement in Vietnam, an overflowing audience in he said. "And after the war, Memorial Hal, Humphrey plugged the Peace Corps and the domestic war on poverty, society." urging his listeners to "join in

Asked by Lapkin if the cost of the war was not disproportionate to the amount of money spent on domestic social programs, Humphrey gave figures to show that les is spent on defense today proportionately than during the Korean conflict.

"We spent less than $9 bil-

Founded February 23, 1893

By 1968, we will spend more than $25 billion.

"We haven't sacrificed American society" because of we will be able to convert even more of our resources to our

Powell asked the Vice president way the U.S. has put the "burden of negotiating" the Vietnam war on the other

Humphrey responded with "Let's look at the facts - not guesses."

"People who know most about Hanoi's willingness to negotiate are people who have never been there," Humphrey

He then recounted the several bombing pauses and other attempts to come to terms with Hanoi, the latest coming two weeks ago through a meeting of Premier Kosygin and Prime Minister Wilson in Lon-

"Wilson asked us for concessions" to bring about negotiations, Humphrey said, We conceded and those concessions were sent to Hanoi.

"Wilson and Kosygin received no response to our concessions," Humphrey added.

Humphrey said the problem of peace is "not in Washington - it's in Hanoi."

"We are prepared to leave South Vietnam six months after peace comes," Humphrey said. "But we are not going to leave 14 million people there as victims of aggression from the north." "We're promoting political democracy in South Vietnam, he said, "and when the nationally elected government gets in office there next summer, you'll see peace in Viet-

When that election comes, Humphrey said, "You'll see more Viet Cong defections and renewed support for the Viet-namese people." Professor Wells asked Humphrey about the importance of talks with Russia on ballistic missile control and the effect of the Vietnam war on those talks. Humphrey called the talks "highly important" and stressed the necessity of forestalling an arms race with the Soviet Union. "The Soviet Union is a much more cautious and prudent power than she was 20 years ago," he said. "We didn't get where we are today in our relations with the Soviet Union by letting her take what she wanted." "The Russians have learned to live in this world because we stood up to them," he continued. "It's about time the American people understood this." Humphrey said that the free world must stand up against China just as the U.S. has stood up against Rusia.

He cited support of our po-sition in South Vietnam by southeast Asian government heads as evidence as this stand against communism. "Those who are closest to the source of the trouble understand it most," he said, in reference to the southeast Asian nations. Asked how far criticism of war should be allowed to go Humphrey said "We shouldn't brand people who disagree with us as disloyal.

"Dissent is just one - half of the coin," Humphrey declared, "I think the campus should always be open for dis-

There were plenty of dissenters on hand to greet the Vice President.

Between 50 and 60 picketers and marchers filed around in a long loop in front of Memorial Hall for an hour before Humphrey arrived. Most of the pickets were under the leadership of the Students for a Democratic Society, but one picket was held by a representative from the National States Right Party. The crowd inside Memorial seemed to approve of the Vice President's remarks, in general, but there were more pickets greeting Humphrey as he left the hall. The panel program was attended by Governor Moore, U. S. Senators Erwin and Jordan, Consolidated University President William Friday and Chancellor J. Carlyle Sitterson.

La Resistance

VP Meets L&M Pair

At Arrival

By STEVE KNOWLTON DTH Staff Writer

"Mr. Vice President, here are two boys whom I think you'd like to meet, Bob Lewis and Larry Miller."

James Leutze, vice presidential press assistant thus yesterday intoduced the Vice President of the United States to the famed duo of UNC's basketball squad. "You boys look good, very good," said Humphrey. Where do you stand presently in the national basketball ratings?"

Miller answered, "We're ranked number three, sir." "That's good boys. That's better than I can do. I'm only a wobbly number two," the Vice President quipped.

The three chatted amiably for a few minutes while press and dignitaries crowded around. Then they separated, Humphrey to appear at a panel discussion of the II nited States's foreign policy and the L&M boys to board a bus headed for South Carolina for a basketball game there tonight. "I certainly want to wish you well," Humphrey told the court stars as he climbed into (Continued on Page 4)

Humphrey said that stop-The Bailu Car Geel

Volume 74, Number 112

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 1, 1967

The South's Largest College Newspaper

The Demonstration

Was Peaceful Affair

By HUNTER GEORGE DTH Staff Writer

There were demonstratorsa lot of them-but no disturb-At 2 p.m. the first protester, a middle-aged man in a suit and tie, started walking back and forth in front of Memorial Hall, where the Vice President of the United States was scheduled to speak shortly.

His name was Lloyd Jacobs and he said he represented the National States Rights Party in Durham. "They'll be taking your Bibles from you next," he muttered to an amused crowd of students that was gathering outside the hall. "Then they'll put you in concentration

A few minutes later about a dozen placard-carrying stuin front of the auditorium.

The signs read: "Hubert, anyway. you lie," "Hubie is a murderer of Vietnamese children," "Drop Rusk and McNamara, not napalm," and "Shame on you, Hubert."

As the minutes passed, the number of marchers grew. By 2:15 p.m. there were 30 pickets (many without signs) and a crowd of 150 student onlook-

Twenty minutes later, the number of pickets increased to 45, then 55, as students seemed to melt into the moving cir-

One marcher, who did not carry a sign, said he was not in SDS (which organized the protest) but was "against the war in Vietnam." Henry R. Luce Succumbs; Founded Time, Life, SI

(AP) - Henry R. Luce, cofounder of Time Inc. who brought to magazine publishing a brand of personal journalism that informed and amused, and sometimes irritated, died today at the age

Luce was editorial chairman of Time, Life, Fortune and Sports Illustrated. The magazines have a combined worldwide circulation of nearly 14 million. He succumbed to a massive coronary attack at St. Joseph's Hospital in Phoenix, Arizona. He lived in an unpretentious tan brick home at Arizone Biltmore Estates, a winter resort, with his wife, the columnist and writer, playwright, former Connecticut Congresswoman and former U. S. Ambassador to Italy. the kept in touch with his en- died in 1929.

terprises, which also included book publishing and a group of radio and television sta-

"The magazines that bear his stamp are an authentic part of life in America," the President said. "They are living memorials to a man of great courage, farsighted vision and strong convictions. His enlightened judgments will live and grow despite his

Bright and brash, Time magazine was born 44 years ago this week of the inspiration and talents of two young newspaper reporters, Luce From an office in his home and Briton Hadden. Hadden

Luce "a pioneer of American journalism. . . (who). . . penetrated the surface of events to interpret their meaning, their causes and effects. . .

President Johnson called

dents marched from Y-Court Another was not sure why he and began walking in a circle was marching, but tagged along at the end of the line

There were students from Duke - eight of them - who said they represented the Liberal Action Committee. They marched, too.

At 2:20 p.m. a shiny black Lincoln Continental with an American flag blowing from the radio antenna drove up to the curb and stopped in front of Memorial Hall.

A figure in a white trenchcoat jumped off the back bumper and ran around to open the door The crowd, which had grown to several hundred by this time, became hushed and looked in the direction of the car. The door opened and out stepped a student. Everybody got a kick out of that. Finally, at 2:50 - right on schedule-another shiny black limousine, escorted by several police cars, rolled into Hanes parking lot. It was attended by scores of campus and city police, SBI agents and, of course, the Secret Service. When the door to that car opened, Vice President Hubert Humphrey got out and was immediately whisked into the

The crowd didn't disperse. It just adjourned to the open windows of the packed building to hear the Vice President

An hour and a half later, when Humphrey was escorted out amid great confusion and snapping of flash bulbs, the crowd was still there.

The signs were there, too. But as the Vice President drove off in his Lincoln, the boos of the protesters were drowned out by the cheers of the other students.

As Humphrey put it: "This is the finest quality of good manners that I've seen on any college campus."

-DTH Photo By Jock Lauterer

The NSA At UNC -

First Test Of NSA Strength Here Came In May, 1963

By DON CAMPBELL DTH News Editor

(Fourth in a Series) est in the organization remain-

Though Carolina was host to a regional convention of NSA in February of 1949, the inter-

Al Lowenstein headed the UNC delegation to the NSA convention in the summer of that year, and returned with some strong words for the Student Legislature. "It's time for the University to stop wavering and realize that the NSA is us," he Lowenstein said the conven-

Again things were quiet on the NSA front. At a meeting in Madison, Wisconsin in January of 1950, the executive committee of NSA singled out the loyalty oath of the UNC NROTC for condemnation. "The oath is too sweeping and not restricted to the needs of national security," President Robert Kelly asserted. Apparently, controversy was hard to come by in those days, because nothing was made of the charge on campus, or if so, it wasn't recorded in the

Until January, 1953, NSA was again a quiet issue. (Continued on Page 4)

Coeds Divided On Pill tion had convinced this delegation that UNC "ought to stay in NSA and become more active in it." The dominant phases of that By Carol Wonsavage private matter and should not be institutionalized. If one year's convention, Lowenstein DTH Staff Writer is going to do it they should figure out their own ways to reported, was student freeavoid pregnancy." dom, federal aid to education, "If the pill were made available," another coed said, race relations and internation-"I think relations would occur more with people you don't on many campuses today. An opinion poll of UNC coeds love, for many people hesitate only because of fear of In the international field, showed about half for the pill, half against, for varying pregnancy. Given the pill, it would become a moral questhe convention had voted to cooperate with projects with the tion rather than a question of fear." International Student Union, a "But," added another coed, "one is going to have re-Communist dominated organilations, pill or no pill. There are enough protections right zation in eastern Europe, if now for those who would make use of the pill if it were the ISU would meet NSA suddenly available." vice. If you plan to use the pill you have already solved conditions. "It should be made available to girls over 21. It would UNC provided the "only southern leadership" at the not lower morals, but only lower the number of unwanted convention, Lowenstein said, Still another disagreed, "It shouldn't be made avail-"and for this reason it is imable because the fear of pregnancy has probably kept perative that we continue to many girls from relations." take an active part in the morality. It would be much easier to yield to temptation." "And love and sex would become completely separated Association." eventually," another added.

Sunlit Audience Listens To The Open Forum

-DTH Photo By Jock Lauterer

Should birth control pills be made available to anyone who wants them? This is one of the prominent questions

"Yes," said one coed, "I don't think making the pill available would result in a decrease in moral standards because the morals should be already there. If one is going to have relations the pill will only be a safety de-your moral question." as for medical reasons, the pill should be available, but Another disagreed. "I think that in certain cases, such not for general use because not everyone would know how to use it. To some it could become a license for im-

"It should be made available," said another. "I don't feel that it would be a signal to bring about wholesale promiscuity. It would alleviate many unfortunate circumstances, such as forced marriages, which happen when it isn't available. Changes in the moral code which bring standards down will have to result in increased availability." "No," another said. "Because unmarried girls (call me a prude) should not have access to it since this thing is a the pill. "If the pill is made available more relations will go on than do," she said. It would make this occur more frequently with those you love, thus breaking down the moral values between the two of you and eventually resulting in loss of your self respect.

One girl used a different explanation in condemning