

Basketball:

Basketball is a strange kind of sport. It can take you from the height of ecstasy to the depths of despair.

It's a game of yes, no and maybe, and sometimes all at the same time.

The tension and the joy sweep the spectators into the game. Here the face of Carol Skinner mirrors some of the action of the sport.

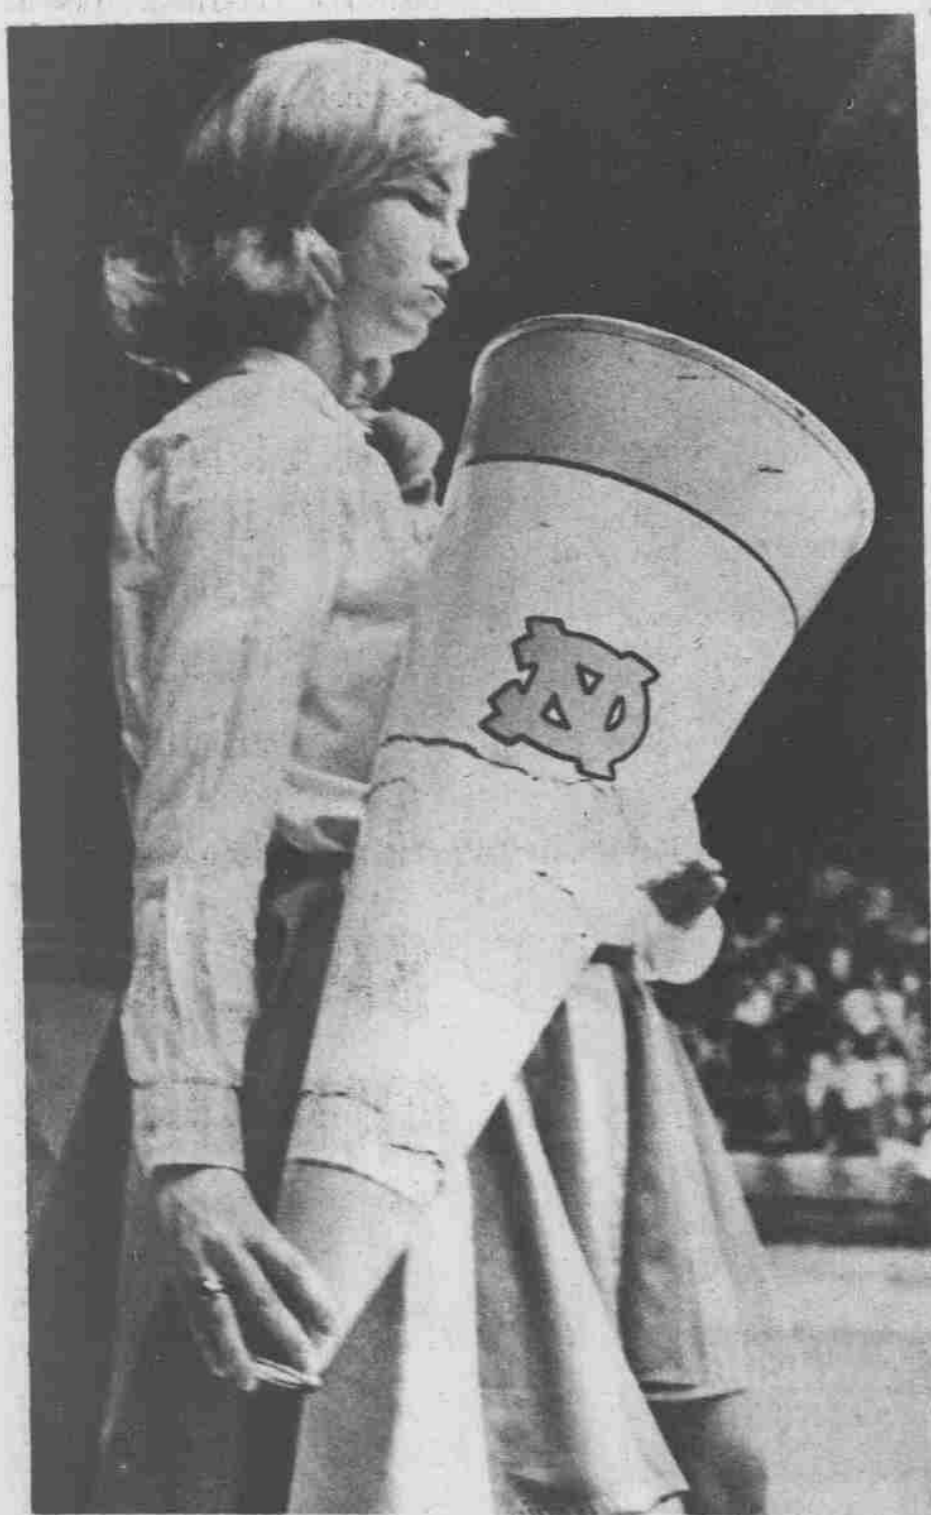

Carol is a freshman cheerleader from Durham.

Funny, how excited people can get over whether or not someone manages to get a certain round object to go through a certain hoop.

People will go into all kinds of antics at one of these games. But then, some people just flip over basketball.

It's That Kind Of A Game...

*Photos And Text By
Ernest Robl*

