

Cairns Warns Of China War

While Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt talked with President Johnson in Texas last week, a Labour Party leader, Dr. James Cairns, told an audience here that a situation has been unleashed in Vietnam "from which a massive war with China could come."

Cairns spent nearly an hour Thursday night describing Southeast Asian countries to emphasize that the "situation is more complex than the simple stereotypes on which we make up our minds." He stated his belief that revolutions cannot be exported and pointed to communist failure in Indonesia.

Five Students Given Rewards

Five of the University's most outstanding students, including Tar Heel Editor Don Campbell, were recently recognized for their contributions to the University.

Campbell won the Ernest H. Abernathy Award of a plaque and $50 for "the most distinctive work during the current year in student publications." Campbell served as news editor of the Daily Tar Heel during the 1966-1967 session.

John William Stupak of Greensboro won the distinguished Magnum Medal in Oratory.

The Algernon Sidney Sullivan Award, established in 1928 for the senior boy and senior girl "who have best demonstrated an unselfish interest in the welfare of their fellow man," was presented to Florence Elder Witt of Chattanooga, Tenn., and John Lindsay Freeman of Charlotte.

Robert S. Powell of Thomasville won the John Johnston Parker Jr. Medal for Unique Leadership in Student Government.

Cairns warned that U. S. intervention is dangerous and quoted Laotian Premier Souvanna Phouma to prove it unwanted. The Laotian Premier told Cairns, "I will never invite foreign troops in, for if I did, it would insure my defeat."

Cairns, who had visited Southeast Asia in 1966, quoted the Laotians as being more concerned that disorder and disruption would spread as a result of spreading war, rather than with an invasion.

Cairns disagreed with those who see Communism as an "active, expansive and aggressive force." He called it "just the opposite: cautious, passive and defensive."

He charged that Holt and Australian 'hawks' "think China sees Australia as the pot of gold at the end of China's rainbow." He condemned the Prime Minister's support of the war as an attempt to "create a moral obligation on America to defend Australia" if the need should arise. He asserted that Australia's position "is not one of enthusiastic support."

Cairns charged that Australia entered the war without any "serious consideration to consequences of our involvement." He cited the need for better knowledge of Asia... a knowledge "we must get from the scholars."

"Serious consideration for escalation is evident in Washington," the Labour leader said, "and nothing is likely to complete with this." Cairns concluded, "we have reached the stage where security and well-being depends on the cessation of hostilities."

Cairns' visit to the U. S. was sponsored by SANE, the Committee for Sane Nuclear Policy. On campus, he was the guest of the YW-YMCA.
