

First UNC BA Dean Honored

The Ford Foundation Visiting Professorship — which has made possible the visits of distinguished research professors to the Harvard Business School — has been renamed the Thomas Henry Carroll-Ford Foundation Professorship of Business Administration.

Thomas Henry Carroll who was the first dean of the UNC School of Business Administration.

He was dean at UNC from 1950 to 1954 when he left to become a vice president of the Ford Foundation where he directed a program to improve business education at the college and university level. The fellowship named in honor of Dr. Carroll enables the Harvard School to invite distinguished research professors to the School for varying periods of a year or more to work on promising research projects. Presently there are two Ford Foundation Professors.

UNC Gets Grant

The University here has been awarded a grant for the study of how U.S. space installations affect community health, it was announced Thursday.

Factors Near Major Aerospace Installations."

The study will be directed by H.A. Tyroler of the School of Public Health.

The $41,313 grant, given by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, will support research entitled "Study and Assessment of Community Health

UNC was one of 18 institutions receiving over $2 million in new grants, supplementary grants and contracts from NASA.
