

Studies In Sex Education

Population Center Aids Family Planning Projects

By FRANK BALLARD
Special To The Daily Tar Heel

Projects in family planning and sex education are being aided in three North Carolina counties by UNC's Carolina Population Center, the nation's largest population study center.

Integrate a sex education curriculum into their classes. Next fall, the sex education curriculum will be introduced at the fourth, seventh- and tenth-grade level. By the fall of 1971, it will be taught in grades four through twelve.

A unique aspect of this program is that emphasis is on teacher training and that the Population Center plans an evaluation of the project in 1972.

This unit cooperated with the Department of Radio, Television and Motion Pictures last summer in producing a family planning film to be shown to clinic post-partum patients. The film, "Under One Roof," is the true story of three North Carolina couples and the problems caused by their large families.

The Charlotte-Mecklenburg family planning clinic was one of the first in the nation to distribute oral contraceptives in clinical usage. "The pill" and the intra-uterine device (IUD) have become the most popular devices offered by the clinic.

North Carolina is one of the Population Center's four areas of concern. The others are Thailand, the United Arab Republic and India. Many Population Center staff members have worked in India, including its director, Dr. Moye Freymann, who headed the Central Family Planning Institute in Delhi.

Discovery '68

Because of a lake that met a river that eventually connected with the Mississippi, a city was born — "Chicago — America's Inland Seaport" the subject of ABC News' "Discovery '68" in color Sunday, Feb. 4 at 11:30 a.m. on Channel 5.

With Bill Owen as host, "Discovery" traces the development of Chicago as a major American port from its beginnings in the 19th century and views the throbbing metropolis of the midwest as it is today.

In 1803, Louis Jolliet and Father Jacques Marquette became the first white men to learn that by carrying their canoes some distance they could cross over from a river that led to the Mississippi to one that led to Lake Michigan.

A hundred years later their discovery was put to use with the establishment in 1770 of a fur trading post. By 1803 the government had put up nearby Fort Dearborn, soon to be destroyed by hostile Indians. A new fort was erected and by 1847 a canal was completed to make it possible to sail directly from Chicago to New Orleans.

The opening in 1859 of the St. Lawrence Seaway brought ocean-going ships from all over the world to Chicago, today the world's largest inland port.

Book Traces History Of British Socialism

"Left Luggage" By C. Northcote Parkinson. Houghton Mifflin Company. Oct. 26, 1967 ($4.95)

After reading an early copy, Holmes Alexander praises Mr. Parkinson's book saying "Parkinson has given anti-Socialists a thrusting weapon here. He is brilliant and epigrammatic, particularly effective when showing that 'excellence' (a show-word of the Gt. Society) is entirely inconsistent with egalitarianism and 'fairness' as ways of government. Book is best in its thesis and in profiles of Shaw, Marx."

C. Northcote Parkinson has turned his satire in the past on Bureaucracy, Over-taxation, and on Organizations that suffer from being Too Big. But

A Daily Tar Heel Book Review

Behind the modern state he sees always the basic doctrines of socialism — theories which are more assumed than proved, theories which are only feebly attacked by people on the Right. In politics, our choice seems often to be between those who are devoted to socialism as a theory and those who have reluctantly accepted it in practice. But Parkinson denies the whole basis of socialism, whether extreme or moderate. He shows that the doctrines of the Left are based neither on reason nor experience. He shows that the practice of socialism is not even a practical possibility — except as communism. He tears the doctrine apart and stamps on the fragments.

To do this, he analyzes the different elements that make up the Labour Party in Britain and shows the weakness of each. He traces the process by which the different elements were fitted together by Beatrice and Sidney Webb, maintaining that the Labour Party has not had a new idea of any kind since about 1917, if not indeed since 1894. He describes, finally, how intellectual stagnation has led to Britain's present crisis and to the chaos for which she appears to be heading.

But what has this to do with America? It is more relevant than one might think. Few socialist votes may be cast in the U.S.A., but the influence of socialism is everywhere encountered; and strongest often among folk who talk the most of free enterprise.

Karl Marx has triumphed in one thing, even in U.S.A. — he has persuaded mankind to think of government in terms of that Economic Science he tried to capture for the Left. All our arguments are in terms of "Das Kapital," even though most people have never waded through this unwieldy tome and no one, in any case, has taken it seriously for years. What is the result? We forget that our basic problems are not economic at all, but political.

This account of the rise and fossilization of socialism in Britain will give no pleasure to socialists. It will not please liberals who are inclined toward the Left. It will not please conservatives who have made a tacit agreement with the socialists they pretend to oppose. But those who are allergic to socialism (or who like to see the "establishment," whatever its nature, attacked), will find in this book they have been waiting for. Parkinson leaves their enemy dead upon the stricken field. C. Northcote Parkinson is the author of numerous previous books, among which are "Parkinson's Law," which added a new term to our language.

Television Viewing Today

Table with 2 columns: WUNC-CHANNEL 4 and 1:30 Sign Off. Lists various TV programs like News, U.S. History, Phys Science, World History, Mathematics, News Conference, Spectrum, Mid-Day News, Friendly Giant, ELEM Science.

Fire And Ice

Icy tree limbs frame a streetlight on a snowy night in Chapel Hill.

On WRAL Today

7:30 PM. Garrison's Gorillas—Hour-long dramatic action series about the exploits of a group of ex-convicts who, during World War II, go into enemy-occupied territory on dangerous missions. Ron Harper stars as the leader with Cesare Danova, Brendon Boone, Christopher Cary, Rudy Solari. "Ride of Terror" with guest star Claude Akins. The Gorillas enter a P.O.W. Camp to rescue an American officer and find that the inmates are planning a prison break.

8:30 PM It Takes a Thief—Hour-long adventure-suspense series starring Robert Wagner as Alexander Munty, a debonair master thief paroled from prison to exercise his talents exclusively for the SIA, a U.S. intelligence agency. Malachi Throne, series co star, with Suzy Parker, guest, in "When Boy Meets Girl." Alexander Mundy sets out to smuggle a defecting woman scientist back to the Free World. Featured are David Hurst, Richard LePore, Donnell Rhodes, others.

9:30 PM N.Y.P.D. — Dramatic series based on cases of the New York Police Department and produced against the actual backgrounds of the city. Jack Warden stars as Det. Lt. Mike Hames with Robert Hooks and Frank Converse. "Which Side Are You On?," storyline to be advised.

10:00 PM Invaders — Hour-long adventure series starting Roy Thinnas as architect David Vincent who discovers aliens from a doomed planet have landed on Earth in an attempt to conquer it for themselves. Kent Smith, series regular. "The Organization," storyline to be advised.

11:30 PM. The Joey Bishop Show—90-minute variety show, live from Hollywood, with a wide range of guest celebrities. Regis Philbin, announcer, and composer-arranger Johnny Mann, as musical conductor are regulars on this Monday through Friday series.

Campus Calendar

LOST: Pair of girl's glasses with brown rims. Reward. Contact Chris Leavitt at 968-9152. $50 reward for return of box of negatives only, taken with other camera equipment in early November. No questions asked. Work through GM or write Joel Simpson, 418 Whitehead Circle, Chapel Hill. A Myers Park High School 1966 Ring in Dey Hall. Contact D. Carrozza at 933-2033, extension 30. Navy blue English notebook with yellow pad on inside. Reward. Philip Wood, 631 Ehringhaus. Laundry bag in vicinity of Morrison parking lot. Reward. Call 933-4013, 813 Morrison. Pair of medium brown leather gloves with fur lining. Paulette Todd, 968-9015. White gold necklace with pearl pendant in Monogram Club. Reward. Kathy Galloway, 968-9067. Woman's wool dress overcoat, light green, size 12. Lost at Pika rush party, got identical coat, size 6. Call Mae McKeown, 968-9185. Black leather wallet in vicinity of Joyner. Call James Yopp, 314 Ruffin, 968-9182. Cream colored purse, contains needed papers. Reward. Call Ellen Dixon, 968-9048.

Advertisement for MEDICO Alma Mater FILTER PIPES. Includes an image of a person and a large 'UNC' logo. Text: 'your college letters here' and 'NOW AT YOUR LOCAL STORE $4.95 AND $5.95'.

DAILY CROSSWORD

- ACROSS: 1. Bivouac, 5. Malevolent, 9. Ganges, for one, 10. Proof-reader's mark, 12. South American fish, 13. Near: poet, 15. N.Z. fort, 15. Part of a hurricane, 17. Ruthenium: sym., 18. Chemical suffix, 20. Planet and rocket, 24. Moist, 26. Most choice, 27. Man's name, 29. Forbid, 30. Inhere, 33. Fort, 36. Conceives, 38. Sorrow, 39. 3.1416, 40. Silent, 42. Fa's daughter, 43. Anesthetic, 47. Bestows, 49. Drench, 50. Solitary, 51. Pause, 52. Lease.

Crossword puzzle grid with numbers and a 'YESTERDAY'S ANSWER' key listing words like Color, Large, worm, Soak, flax, By noble birth: Ger.

Four comic panels featuring a dog character. Panel 1: 'GET THAT SHIRT IRONED AGAIN - THE COLLAR'S CREASED!' Panel 2: 'IT LOOKED ALL RIGHT TO ME' Panel 3: 'I'M NO JUDGE, EH?' 'OF COURSE YOU ARE, PET - YOUR JUDGMENT'S ALWAYS BEEN BETTER THAN MINE' Panel 4: '...IT MUST BE - I MARRIED ME, I MARRIED HIM!' 'I WOULD HAVE MADE A GOOD SCHOOL PRINCIPAL!'

Western Electric advertisement. Text: 'How would you like to jump into your career with both feet... and be on the run from the beginning?' 'Western Electric has a unique program of individual development for those interested in a management career...' 'ing team visits your campus on February 1-2. And before that, get your copy of the Western Electric High Risk, High Reward booklet from your Placement Officer. Or write: College Relations Staff Manager, Western Electric Company, Room 2508, 222 Broadway, New York, New York 10038. An equal opportunity employer.'