

Y Sponsors Honor Court Open Forum

By SHARI WILLIS
of The Daily Tar Heel Staff

An open forum on the Honor System Referendum will be sponsored by the YM-YWCA tonight at 7:30 in 104 Howell Hall.

A panel discussion presenting different views of the honor system will feature Earl Hadden, past president of the Di-Phi as moderator.

The discussion will attempt to relate directly to the Attitudinal Survey on the Honor System, which will be presented to the student body Feb. 15. Members of the panel will discuss the pros and cons of the present system.

Hadden will tell how the referendum started with a Di-Phi petition in November which collected 1,500 signatures asking for the referendum. He will also present issues brought up by the Ad Hoc Committee of Student Government concerning the honor system.

Mike Katz, a Law School professor, will present legal issues concerning the present honor system.

Jed Dietz, student body vice-president, will present the student's point of view.

Dershie McDevitt, Assistant Dean of Women, is scheduled to present the administration's reasons for supporting the present system.

Chairman of Men's Honor Court Bill Miller will discuss the practical applications of the honor system, how it works in reality.

The referendum, or "Attitudinal Survey," will be administered to students in regular district polling places on Thursday.

The survey consists of four parts.

The first contains philosophical questions concerning the maintenance of a code of academic discipline at the University.

The second part deals with social discipline and the campus code.

The third article deals with the court structure and trial procedure under which violations of the Honor and Campus Codes are prosecuted.

Exp. College Enrolls 270

By RICK GRAY
of The Daily Tar Heel Staff

More than 270 students signed up for Experimental College courses Monday, according to Roger Thompson, associate director of the college.

"We were expecting 700 to sign up at first, but after today I expect enrollment to reach 300 which will make this our biggest and probably our best Experimental College ever," Thompson said.

The largest enrollment for a single course came when 26 signed for Course Number 47—"Let It All Hang Out." The course is designed by leaders Paula Wise and Ron Moffatt to do just what the title proclaims by talking, singing, painting, writing, playing, dancing, listening, meditating, visiting the local zoo, blowing bubbles, flying kites or "anything the heart desires."

The catalogue describes it as "a course in the art of being happy. A practical course in communication. The only requirement is uninhibitedness."

The course was originally limited to 15 people, but Thompson said that the college would not limit the number of people in any course. All limiting of classes will be left up to the course leaders.

Thompson added that if any limiting had to be done, it would be made on a first come-first served basis.

Of the 50 courses listed in the catalogue, two are curriculum planning courses which will plan a course to be offered to the student body for credit in next fall's experimental. The two are

Course 30, Psychological Research, and 34, Urban Problems.

Psychological Research is, according to the catalogue, "the only publicized opportunity offered for undergraduates to do their own experiments other than the psychology honors project in the psychology honor program in the senior year."

Anyone who did not get a catalogue can pick one up at the GM Information booth or downtown at Sloan's or Sutton's Drugs or the Intimate Bookshop.

Each year over $2 million in scholarships, loans, and part-time jobs are awarded to students at UNC. Approximately $400,000 is available in scholarships and grants with annual stipends ranging in value from $175 to 520 women students in the 1971 class and 2,045 men.

The fact that the women freshmen score higher than the men on the College Boards Scholastic Aptitude Tests doesn't mean that women are more intelligent or better educated, generally, than men. It's just that the women admissions requirements can be more carefully screened because of the limited number of women admitted in the past few years.

Other pertinent facts: 98 per cent were in the top half of their graduating class scholastically.

One of the major differences noted in 1971 as compared to 1970 is the significantly larger amount of financial aid this year's freshmen have received. It came about as a result of the awarding of a great many more Educational Opportunity Grants this year under the Federal Higher Education Act of 1965.

There are more women freshmen this year than there have been before. There are

Frosh Statistics Improve

The typical freshman at the University in Chapel Hill is smarter than freshmen have ever been before in the University.

Statistically, that is, from the College Boards and entrance exams scores.

The average freshman scores 1,151 rated on College Board exams.

A "profile" of the class of 1971 at Chapel Hill reveals interesting facts about the 2,565 freshmen. The large majority, of course, are from North Carolina. Of the North Carolina-born students enrolled at UNC, 18 per cent of them are products of the public school system of this State.

Among the out-of-state students enrolled at Chapel Hill (a number of them sons and daughters of alumni of the University and North Carolina natives now living out of state) about half attended public schools and the other half prep schools.

There are more women freshmen this year than there have been before. There are $2,000. There is over $800,000 a year available from the Student Loan Office.

This group of students, constituting approximately one-sixth of the resident enrollment at Chapel Hill, is culled from the 9,325 who sought admission as UNC freshmen. Of those who applied, 4,380 were admitted, and, as may be extracted from these figures, almost 59 per cent of those actually registered.

There are 448 freshmen (about 18 per cent of the class) who are sons and daughters of alumni of the University at Chapel Hill.

Falcons Ink Two To Pacts

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Atlanta Falcons Monday signed two defensive backs, the National Football League team's 14th- and 17th-round draft choices, for the 1968 season.

Joe Polk, 6-foot, 205-pound Livingstone (N.C.) College standout, was the first player to be drafted from the college.

Jim Schmidt of San Francisco State College was the Falcon's 17th-round choice in the Jan. 30 college draft.

A representative from Carolina Telephone will be at the University of North Carolina on Friday, February 16. Any members of the June, 1968 graduating class wishing to discuss employment possibilities should contact The Placement Service, Gardner Hall, to arrange a scheduled appointment.

Jed Dietz's Car Stolen

A beige 1963 Falcon station wagon was reported stolen Sunday by its owner Jed Dietz, Vice President of the Student Body.

Dietz said the car, which has New York license plate number S 2617, was taken from the Morehead Planetarium parking lot Saturday between 8:30 and 10 p.m.

Dietz said friends occasionally borrow the car so he was reticent to report it to the Chapel Hill police, who would consider the car stolen and could charge the driver with a felony if the car were found.

The keys were in the ignition, Dietz said.

Dietz said he was primarily interested in retrieving the car, not in punishing whoever took it.

An almost-completed term project of about 30 pages — along with many books and "items that can't really be replaced" — were in the car when it was taken, Dietz said.

"If worse came to worse, the car could be replaced," Dietz said, "but not the paper and the books and other things."

He asked that if anyone sees or knows of the car to contact him at Student Government offices or at his room, 413 Morrison.

THE FIRESIDE GIRL OF THE WEEK

The Bonnie & Clyde look as worn by Robin Castle of Nurses Dorm, with brown striped patent "baby doll" shoes by GOLD from the Fireside.

If we were happy with the world the way it is, we wouldn't need you.

Kids choke on polluted air. Streets are jammed by cars with no place to go. Italy's priceless art and libraries are ravaged by floods. This is the way the world is, but it's not the way it has to be. Air pollution can be prevented. Better transportation can be devised. Something can even be done about the weather. Many people at General Electric are already working on these problems, but we need more. We need help from young engineers and scientists; and we need help from business and liberal arts graduates who understand people and their problems. If you want to help solve important problems, we'd like to talk to you. We'll be visiting campus soon. Drop by the placement office and arrange for an interview.
