

Messy

The impossible clutter of any construction site is mirrored in this shot of the new student union complex. The only really meaningful question, though, is whether or not the new union will be finished by the time students return to school next fall.

UNC Sends 15 To Annual SSL

Fifteen students from UNC will represent the student body next week at the annual meeting of the State Student Legislature at the Sir Walter Hotel in Raleigh.

Of the 30 colleges that are sending delegates to the meeting, UNC's is expected to be the largest.

The president of the SSL this year is a UNC student, Charlie Mercer of Laurinburg.

"We expect this to be the largest meeting ever," said Mercer. "At least 300 delegates will attend the four day session."

Each delegation comes to the session with a bill ready to present to the SSL House of Representatives and Senate.

This year a bill which calls for the establishment of two new regional medical centers in Greenville and Cullowhee is to be submitted by UNC.

The bills are discussed and possibly adopted.

At the end of the session the bills are drawn up and copies are given to the State General Assembly with the hope that they may serve as suggestions for future action.

According to Mercer, several important speakers are going to attend the SSL for informal talks and informative sessions.

Among these speakers will be State Senator Robert Morgan, past Speaker of the House of SSL; Mayor Travis Tomlinson of Raleigh; Lt. Gov. Bob Scott, candidate for Governor of North Carolina; Rep. Jim Gardner and Smith Bagley, a Winston-Salem businessman who is running for the U.S. Congress.

Last year UNC won awards for the best delegation from a large school, the best bill, and the best debator in the House.

This year's delegates from UNC are Mike Zimmerman, Lexington; Steve Tanger and Dick Levy, Greensboro; Diane Ellis, Holly Springs; John Williford, Pinetops; Harry Diefendal, High Point; Tom Webb, Albermarle; Tom Benton, Roanoke Rapids; Lacy Reeves, Raleigh; Danny Davis, Goldsboro; Steve Yelverton, Fremont; Barbara Hall, Athens, Ohio; and Susan Scripture, Bridgeville, Pa.

Connor Phones Operative Soon

Private phones are being installed in Connor Dorm and are expected to be in operation by March 11, according to O. S. Hunt, Assistant Plant Manager.

Connor residents petitioned earlier in the year for the phones and will be billed $9 per person or $18 per room each semester, according to Mrs. Graham Ramsey, Housemother of Connor. Installation fees were paid by the University.

Wiring of Connor was begun last summer when the dorm was converted from mens to a women's residence hall and was completed recently.

The new numbers will begin operating from the phone exchange on Rosemary Street, but will later be transferred to the new exchange which is planned for South Campus, according to Hunt.

The new exchange is planned to eventually get the whole campus under one exchange and to relieve the central office, he added.

It will not be in operation for at least a year, he indicated.

Peace Corps: 7 Years Old

Gov. Dan Moore has proclaimed the month of March as Peace Corps Month in North Carolina. During this month the Peace Corps celebrates its seventh year of existence, having been established in March of 1961 under President Kennedy.

Today there are over 30,000 Volunteers who have served or are now serving in 57 countries around the world. The state of North Carolina has produced a total of 329 which makes it one of the top-producing states in the South.

In conjunction with Peace Corps Month in the state there will be thirty recruiters visiting 24 colleges and universities, most of them during the week of March 11-15.

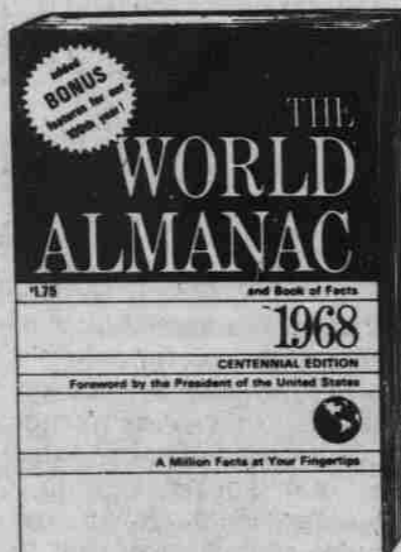

A number of senior staff officials from Washington, D. C. will be assisting in the recruiting effort, including C. Payne Lucas, Director of Africa Region; Walter Car-ington, Deputy Director of Africa; Ray Holland, Director of Recruiting; and Howard Dodson, Deputy Director of Recruiting. They will be speaking to Peace Corps seminars that have been set up on selected campuses in the Triangle Area as well as Greensboro.

In an attempt to establish a more permanent presence of Peace Corps on these campuses and a better working relationship with their administration, a sub-regional office has been opened up in Chapel Hill.

It is under the direction of Galen Hull, Doughtry Long, and Marianne Hodges, and is located in the Wesley Foundation, 214 Pittsboro Street, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27514. They will be assisting with the seminars, arranging lectures, showing films, and counseling anyone interested in applying to the Peace Corps.
