Carolina's Larry Miller Goes Up For A Layup

SEC's Maravich, Walk Claim Scoring, Rebounding Honors

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — End-of-season statistics issued Friday show the Southeastern Conference had a record-setting year in which two of its players rose to prominence as the nation's top scorer and the nation's top rebounder.

Peter Maravich of LSU led the nation in scoring with 1,138 points and set a national collegiate record for highest per-game average at 43.8.

Neal Walk of Florida finished with 19.8 rebounds per game to edge Garfield Smith of Eastern Kentucky for top national honors. Smith had 19.7 per game.

Maravich set six SEC records and two national records during his sophomore season as he shot 1,022 times — the most in the history of collegiate basketball. He passed the old points per-game average of 41.7 set by Frank Selvy of Furman in 1954. Selvy scored 1,209 points that season in 29 games; Maravich played only 26.

Walk collected 494 rebounds in 25 games for a new SEC mark — barely ahead of the old mark of 492 by Bailey Howell of Mississippi State.

Tuttle, Grubar Shine For Heels

By LARRY KIETH of The Daily Tar Heel Staff
CHARLOTTE — North Carolina has won its way into the finals of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament, no surprise by any means, but perhaps the way the Tar Heels made it is.

Throughout the season, Dick Grubar was never much of a scoring threat. His average was 7.3 and his previous scoring high was 17. Gerald Tuttle, a seldom heard from reserve, was even less of a threat. But Friday night, these two scored six of the Tar Heels' eight overtime points in an 82-79 victory over South Carolina. Grubar, who finished with 20 points, put Carolina ahead, 78-77. It was Tuttle who made Carolina's Dean Smith look like the master coach, though.

Tuttle, who had made two untimely errors in the 87-86 loss to the Gamecocks late in the regular season, went into the overtime period with only 4 points on just two field goals in eight attempts. He redeemed himself. His two steals preserved the 78-77 lead, and his two free throws with 35 seconds remaining extended the margin to a more comfortable three. "We had Gerald in the lineup for Bill Bunting," Smith explained afterwards, "because against a team that lacks height and uses a zone we don't need Bill's rebounding as much."

cent from the floor. As for tonight's finale he added, "Unless you win three there's no reason to be here. I think that this overtime will help us however."

SUICIDE TOLL
REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) — Suicide, which accounts for 20,000 deaths annually in the United States, ranks among the country's top 10 causes of death, the Peninsula Suicide Prevention reports. The organization says someone tries to kill himself once every minute in the United States. About one in nine succeeds.

Tourney's A Happening

The Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament only happens once a year. To be sure, when it does, it is happening spelled with a capital "H". It can mean many things to many different people.

For instance: Dean Smith, UNC coach, after his team defeated Wake Forest in the opening round said, "We had a fine overall effort, but it wasn't an easy one." In other words, who says the top seeded team gets an easy game in the first round?

Bobby Roberts, whose Clemson Tigers almost pulled the upset of the season with a narrow 49-40 slowdown loss to Duke picks the Devils to go all the way.

"I'm here to tell you Duke has a great club," the likable Tiger mentor said. "I'm picking Duke to win the tournament. I think everybody else that plays them will run and that's how they will beat you."

Basketball officials are the subject of almost constant ridicule throughout the cage season. This year in the ACC, that almost has nearly turned into an absolute.

Jack McClosky whose Wake Forest squad lost to Carolina in the opening round made a special effort to make it known how he feels about the ACC arbiters.

"Something must be done about the officials in the ACC," he said. "One of the turning points of the game was when we were on the short end of some bad calls in the first half. They were 'atrocious calls.'"

McClosky continued: "I've been coaching for some 21 years—and this is the second time I have made a public complaint about officiating. The other coaches in the ACC know exactly now I feel about it." The five tourney officials are Lou Eisenstein, Lenny Wirtz, Otis Allmond, Ralph Stout and Hal Grossman.

Auerbach doesn't see much hope in picking up the big Blue Devil Lewis, however. "By the time it's our turn to make a pick, he'll be gone," he said.

Hugo Germino of the Durham Sun on Carolina's Miller: "Miller has so many jerks and twitches in his shooting style, especially when he's picking up 'garbage' under the basket, that you never know whether it's the ball or his head he's throwing up there."

And the "Happening" goes on.

College students:

Going into business for yourself can be a good idea. Northwestern Mutual Life offers this opportunity—and without capital investment on your part.

A career in life insurance offers an exceptional chance for personal achievement and reward. No waiting to get ahead. Make your own breaks.

Is there a "best background" for life insurance? No. Successful NML agents are from many academic fields. They have this in common, however: they are all strongly independent men who like running their own business.

What you should know about NML
• We're among the ten largest life insurance companies in the U. S.

• We are a "specialist" life company. We particularly specialize in individually-underwritten life insurance with high dividend return and high cash value. Specialization gives the NML agent a demonstrable sales advantage.

• Northwestern Mutual Life is well-known for having a fine training program—and you earn while you learn

An NML representative will be on your campus March 14. Ask your placement office to arrange an interview.

Norman Mailer's Best Work... The Steps of the Pentagon

March 1968 75 cents

A documentary report about the famous Washington weekend during which thousands of Americans marched across the Potomac in the name of peace, and some-- the author among them--ended in jail. Along the way, many of our most basic problems are illuminated, while a cast of brilliant and wonderfully entertaining characters play out their roles in the action.

What's happened to America? Searching for the answer Norman Mailer takes a journey to the core of contemporary life. He questions the intellectuals who marched: Paul Goodman, Robert Lowell, Dwight Macdonald, William Sloane Coffin, Jr.—and Norman Mailer. He dares his readers to match his frankness about fame, power, drugs, sex, the draft and the young. The whole scene.

In Washington something happened to Norman Mailer. Something as vital as the World War II experiences which gave birth to The Naked and the Dead. And we are running THE STEPS OF THE PENTAGON as the longest piece of original writing—93 pages—ever carried in a single issue of Harper's in the magazine's 118 years.

Harper's Magazine, March. 75 cents at your newsstand.
