Grad Committee Plans Protests

By J.D. WILSON
of The Daily Tar Heel Staff

William Coogan of the Graduate School Committee Against the War announced plans Friday for a number of anti-war and anti-draft activities which the Committee will be coordinating.

The Committee consists of approximately eight active workers and claims strong support among students and teachers in at least eight departments.

In commenting on the Committee's function Coogan said, "The principal purpose of the Committee is to act as a clearing-house for anti-war and anti-draft information."

He added, "We are seeking to coordinate opposition to the war among the various departments."

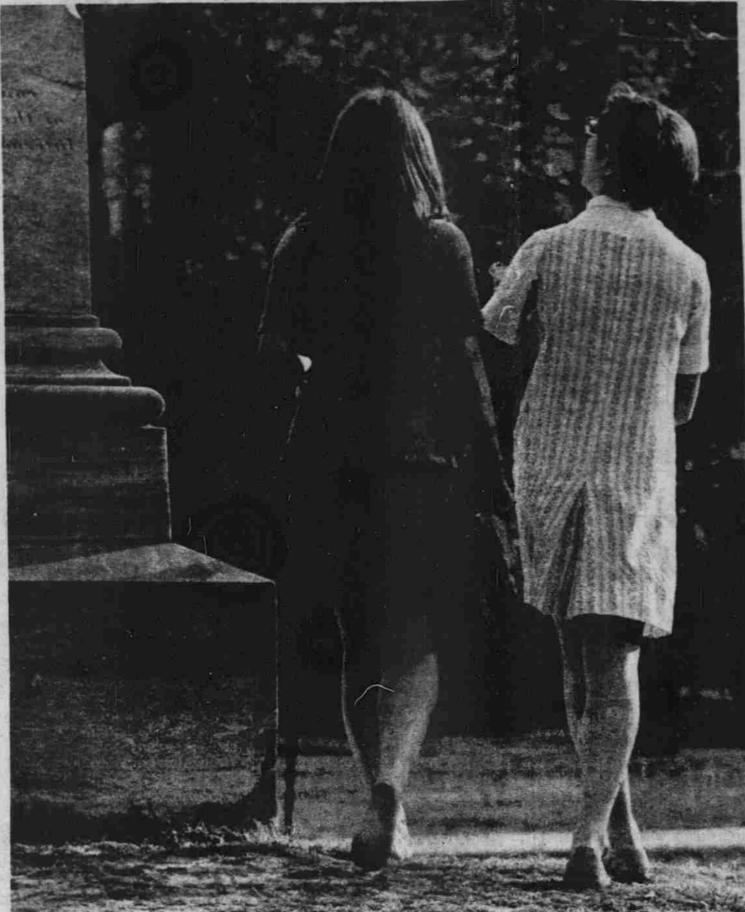

The Committee lists seven basic and immediate objectives:

1. Department policy statements insuring the readmittance of students who have gone to jail or left the country because of anti-war or anti-draft activities.
2. The circulation of petitions among graduate school departments asking for guaranteed teaching positions for first-year graduate students. (The North Carolina State Selective Service Board has shown a willingness to defer grad students holding teaching positions.)

3. Organization of a one-hour "moratorium of classes" on April 26 to coincide with the International Student Strike against the war.
4. Coordination with Kennedy and McCarthy supporters to place "peace delegates" on the North Carolina delegation to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago this summer.
5. Stimulation of interest and participation in the Choice '68 referendum to be held on April 24.
6. The passage of resolutions at the Faculty Council meeting of April 5 for calling for the exclusion of non-educational recruiters from the campus and/or the requirement of debaters to accompany recruiters.
7. The enlistment of representatives from each graduate school department to act as information-distributors and activity-coordinators.

Interested persons may contact the Committee at Box XYZ, Caldwell Hall.

Barefootin!

It was such a nice day and the sun was so warm and soft that these young ladies just couldn't resist the urge to take off their shoes.

Intercollegiate Seminar To Meet This Weekend

Representatives to the Intercollegiate Seminar, an outgrowth of the Carolina Symposium, will be visiting the campus this week.

The Intercollegiate Seminar program, directed by Jonathan Gibson and Jan Hansen, is designed to include other college students in the educational experience of the Symposium.

service for the university both on the national and state level. It should give a group of highly qualified students a chance to examine extensively the topic—"Red China and the West."

In addition to attending the lectures, the representatives will have the opportunity to participate in small group discussions with the Symposium speakers.

said Jonathan Gibson. "But the Symposium's reputation has made it possible this year."

While here the students will be guests of the university. They will stay in dorms, fraternities and sororities and several of their meals will be provided by fraternities and sororities.

Representatives will be arriving here Saturday from 32 colleges and universities in the eastern United States and Canada including North Carolina State University at Raleigh and Charlotte.

It is hoped that their trip will be a public educational

There will be banquets, receptions, and social events as well, which should give them a chance to get to know each other and to meet some UNC students and faculty members.

"Never before have we been able to pay the representatives' way to Chapel Hill,"

Twelve Aldermen Positions Vacant

Twelve positions must be filled by the elections of the Board of Aldermen for Odum-Village on April 8.

At present there are only five declared candidates.

great deal if only given a chance," said Mrs. Ackerman. "To do this we need the help of the administration and the participation from the Village."

"We have asked the administration about giving us the sidewalks that they admit we need, but nothing has been done."

Football

North Carolina football fans will be able to get their first look at the 1968 Tar Heel grid squad today.

Head Coach Bill Dooley announced yesterday that an intrasquad scrimmage will be held today at 2:30 p.m. in Kenan Stadium.

The Tar Heels have been going through spring practice for the past two weeks. The annual Blue-White game will be held in Kenan Stadium on May 4.

Today's scrimmage is being held for the benefit of students, faculty and area fans.

"We have conferred with them about the proposed new community center (plans dated 1962), but still no action."

"As long as the Aldermen cannot be effective in this way, no one will think that it is worth their time to become a member," Mrs. Ackerman said.

Mrs. Ackerman said that over 200 families have been benefited in some way this year, and she hopes that the people will realize the need for greater improvement and come forth and push for it.

April 1 will be the last date anyone may file for candidacy. That night a "Meet the Candidates Night" will be held at the Day Care Center. Anyone interested in running may turn in an application for candidacy at this time.

Polls will be at the Day Care Center and open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. on April 8.

Krichbaum Resigns; Student Legislature Considers Six Bills

By RICK GRAY
of The Daily Tar Heel Staff

Student Legislature, with little more than a quorum present, considered seven bills Thursday night and accepted the resignation of Student Party Floor Leader George Krichbaum.

Krichbaum resigned his seat to accept the appointment as Supreme Court Chief Justice.

He told the body:

"Two years of Thursday nights have kind of gotten to the point where I was a little bit tired. When you hit that stage your effectiveness starts to suffer a great decline. . . . It has been said that you should learn from the mistakes of others, not from your own. To this body I leave all my in stakes, so that it may profit by them."

The first item on the agenda was the court penalties bill which was re-committed the week before. However, the body voted to suspend rules to consider a bill to create a student committee to study the UNC Student Infirmary.

Mary Ellen Lane said that the purpose of the bill was to help remedy what she called serious problems. She said that the infirmary "unclean," and stated that the rest rooms were "filthy, the waste baskets seldom emptied, equipment racking and no visitors allowed."

Since the finance committee had not had a quorum present when the bill was introduced and had therefore not been able to take action, the body voted to re-commit the bill.

The court penalties bill which defines the penalties used by the student judiciary and which was re-committed last week was considered and passed with no audible negative vote.

The two legislators who had argued most against the bill, Larry Richter and Dick Levy, were not present.

Pete Powell's bill calling for a survey on whether students were in favor of changing the academic calendar so that exams would fall before the Christmas vacation was re-committed with the effect of killing it.

The bill called for the survey to be included on the ballot for the April 9 elections, but strong opposition in committee, some legislators felt, would prevent the bill from coming up again before the election.

Two supplementary budget bills for the 1968 Yackety-Yack were considered and passed with no opposition.

On another financial bill, the body appropriated $84.46 for a delegate to the Dartmouth conference on student participation in educational reform. The conference is being sponsored by the Esso Educational Foundation.

Dave Kiel asked for, and received without opposition, reconsideration of the bill asking for a constitutional amendment to create a coed honor court.

The reconsideration was asked for in order to change the wording of the bill, as pertaining to the section of the constitution on Judicial power, to read:

"the Student Legislature may by law authorize procedures whereby representatives of the Student Body participate in Faculty-Administrative judicial bodies."

A section of the bill referring to the faculty-administrative bodies as hearing cases "not within the jurisdiction of Student Government" was deleted from the bill.

Janus Permits Coed Members

By NANCY STANCILL
of The Daily Tar Heel Staff

The Society of Janus, a campus honorary organization, has voted unanimously to include women students in membership of its previously all-male organization.

Each spring the Society recognizes students, faculty, and administrative personnel who have made outstanding contributions to residence hall and residential college life at UNC.

sister honorary was also considered, since the Society has traditionally been composed exclusively of men.

However, the Society decided that the organizational aspects could be handled better with one group, according to Thomas.

The Society is now in the process of choosing 10-15 spring initiates, several of which will be women students.

After initiation at the annual spring banquet, the Society of Janus will announce the winner of this year's Robert White Linker Award.

The $150 Award is given annually by the Society to an outstanding residence hall student who has demonstrated scholarship, service, and determination.

The organization is also working on plans to furnish the Society of Janus Room, to be located in the new Student Union Building.

Dwight E. Thomas, President of the Society, said, "Although our traditional ties are with the men's residence halls, we also recognize that women are now beginning to develop leadership in campus residence life. This is most evident in the formation and success of co-ed residential colleges."

"The Society of Janus, believing that these leaders should be honored for their outstanding contribution, has unanimously voted to consider outstanding women students in its selection of new members, effective this spring," said Thomas.

Thomas stressed that the Society has considered choosing women students for membership for some time, but the question had to be thoroughly checked with the traditional bylaws of the organization.

The possibility of having a

Dr. Kessler, China specialist and Asian history professor here, has already met some of the delegates and is impressed. The one from Yale University, for example, is the number one student in Asian affairs there.

Levy said he was not informed of the replacement until Friday, Thursday midnight was the deadline for all petitions, and he would not be able to secure an NSA delegation petition as an independent.

Zimmerman declared that the executive board meeting was announced to its members and that Levy could not be contacted. He added that Levy was being "somewhat in-status if he continued to run for any position with party endorsement."

Asked if he was trying to divide his opponents' vote in the Daily Tar Heel race, Levy said "I'm not trying for anything."

King Defends Memphis March

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Friday defended his Memphis march that left one dead and 62 injured and said he had no intention of calling off demonstrations here or his massive "poor peoples" march on Washington.

"Riots are here. Riots are part of the ugly atmosphere of our society now," declared the integration leader.

President Johnson, while not naming King, but obviously referring to the Memphis violence, took a different position. Speaking before a labor group in Washington, the President said the nation cannot tolerate "mindless violence," regardless of what motivates it.

King said he would be back in Memphis for another mass march next week. "I'm absolutely convinced it's possible to hold a nonviolent march," he declared.

But he said he could not guarantee there would be no riots at the Memphis demonstration next week, or next month in Washington. "I can only guarantee our own demonstrations will be non-violent," he said.

Senators Attempt To Block King

WASHINGTON—Two senators called for federal action Friday to block Martin Luther King's planned "poor people's crusade" in Washington. The nation's highest Negro official agreed noting it would be hard for King to keep the crusade peaceful.

Following an outburst of violence during a King march in Memphis Thursday, Sens. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., and John Stennis, D-Miss., demanded King's planned crusade starting April 22 be blocked.

"If this self-seeking rabble-rouser is allowed to go through with his plans here, Washington may well be treated to the same kind of violence, destruction, looting and bloodshed," Byrd said in discussing the Memphis riot.

F111A Bombers Hit North Vietnam

SAIGON 5 U.S. Air Force F111A swing-wing bombers based in Thailand hit North Vietnam Friday for the fifth successive day. There were increasing fears one of the supersecret jets lost Thursday had fallen into Communist hands.

There was no confirmation from the U.S. Command of North Vietnamese claims that Communist forces shot down the missing F111A over the western part of Ha Tinh Province along the Laotian border about 100 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone.

Saigon headquarters maintained complete silence on the fate of the $6 million plane and its two-man crew under standard operating procedures denying the Communists any information detrimental to the United States.

U. S. commanders Friday night stuck by their first announcement saying the F111A was "overdue on a mission in Southeast Asia."

Wallace Threatens S. C. Election

COLUMBIA, S. C.—George Wallace's campaign forces Friday threatened a plan that could throw South Carolina's general election into chaos if they cannot prevent two vote-splitting slates of Wallace electors off the ballot.

Tom Turnipseed, a South Carolinian hired earlier this year by the former Alabama Governor, threatened to come up with additional slates of electors pledged to Democratic and Republican presidential nominees to split these votes as well.

The turmoil arose because of threats by the newly-organized South Carolina Independent Party headed by Maurice Bessinger to put up a slate of Wallace electors separate from the electors chosen by Wallace's designated campaign leaders in South Carolina.

Turnipseed said if this happens "we are going to court to have their names removed from the ballot."

If this fails, Turnipseed said, "we'll come up and put some more LBJ electors on the ballot and we'll also do so with the Republican party."

Levy Plans Protest Of UP Slate Change

By FRANK BALLARD
of The Daily Tar Heel Staff

Dick Levy said Friday he will protest having his name removed from the University Party's slate of NSA delegate candidates.

He also said that speculation about his candidacy for Daily Tar Heel Editor as an attempt to split his opponents' support is false.

Mike Zimmerman, Chairman of the University Party, said Thursday that after Levy missed the compulsory candidates' meeting, the party's executive board met and replaced him with Zimmerman as UP's fifth and final NSA delegation candidate.

Levy said he was absent from the required candidates meeting because he was out of town "for personal reason."

His candidate's application was accepted late by Norman Zettel, chairman of the Student Government Elections Board.

Friday Levy said that the replacement was not fair to him since he was not contacted about an executive board meeting. He is a member of the executive board.

He added that "there was no executive meeting" in his opinion and that the reported meeting was "party ploy" used against him "because I'm an independent."

Tuesday he announced his candidacy for President of the Student Body as an independent. The petition required for all candidates was submitted to Zettel Thursday night by him minutes before the midnight deadline for all petitions. It bore 186 signatures, 36 more than the minimum number needed.

Levy said that he planned to discuss his replacement as UP's NSA delegation candidate with Zimmerman.

He will not seek the NSA seat as an independent, he continued, since he was not informed of the replacement until Friday, Thursday midnight was the deadline for all petitions, and he would not be able to secure an NSA delegation petition as an independent.

Zimmerman declared that the executive board meeting was announced to its members and that Levy could not be contacted. He added that Levy was being "somewhat in-status if he continued to run for any position with party endorsement."

Asked if he was trying to divide his opponents' vote in the Daily Tar Heel race, Levy said "I'm not trying for anything."

James Offers Nickel Tunes

The nickel juke box is returning to Chapel Hill.

Thomas Shetley, director of the Student Stores, said Friday that the juke box, in the James snack bar will be set up Monday to operate on the price of a nickel per play.

"What we're interested in finding out," Shetley said, "is whether the number of plays goes up as the price of a play goes down."

The nickel juke box will be in competition with the free music machine in the large social room in James which the residents are paying for themselves.

Jed Dietz, vice president of the Student Body said of the move:

"This indicates that when students get down to work, cooperation between them and the Book Ex that is profitable to both results."

Three freshman—a Spencer coed and two Morrison suitmates—were charged Thursday in connection with a small cache of marijuana and LSD.

They had been arrested by Chapel Hill detectives March 12 on information from Dean of Men James O. Cansler.

All are free on $500 bond each.

They were identified by Chapel Hill Police Chief William D. Blake as:

Miss Meredith Ann Mullins, of 213 Spencer, from Severna Park, Md., who is charged with possession and transfer of "several ounces of marijuana" and six capsules of LSD.

Thomas S. House, of 947 Morrison, from East Point, Ga., who is charged only with possession of a single LSD capsule.

Chief Blake said the trio was charged Thursday on a Recorder's Court warrant after the State Bureau of Investigation laboratory in Raleigh had confirmed that marijuana and LSD were involved.

Trial is scheduled for 9 a.m. Tuesday before Recorder's Court Judge L.J. Phipps.

Joan Baez Will Appear In April

Joan Baez, celebrated folk singer, will speak on the war and the draft April 8 at 2:30 p.m. in Memorial Hall.

Miss Baez will be accompanied by David Harris, her husband and former student body president at Stanford University who recently refused induction.

The appearance is part of a national tour being conducted by the two opponents to the draft who are discussing with students the decision that must be solved in co-operating with induction.

The pair are tentatively scheduled to speak at Duke University at 8 p.m. the evening of April 8 in Page Auditorium.

Miss Baez's appearance is being sponsored at UNC by Bernie Gilman and Bob Conrad, members of Students for a Democratic Society, and graduate students in sociology.

Miss Baez has made no commitment to sing, but Conrad expects that she will.
