

Heels Begin ACC Slate; Lemonds To Pitch Today

By OWEN DAVIS
of The Daily Tar Heel Staff

Atlantic Coast Conference baseball begins for Carolina this weekend when the Tar Heels host three conference contests.

Maryland, one of three second place finishers last season, invades the UNC diamond today for a single game while UNC meets Virginia in a doubleheader Saturday.

Gametime for the Terp encounter is 3 p.m. Saturday's twin bill will begin at 1:30.

Carolina, 5-1 to date, tied Maryland and South Carolina for second place in the ACC last year.

Coach Walter Rabb has named his three ace starters, David Lemonds, Tom Buskey and John Yancey, to inaugurate the conference slate.

Lemonds, a sophomore lefthander from Charlotte, will start against Maryland. He has a 1-1 record and low 0.65 earned run average. Lemonds has struck out 23 in 14 innings pitched.

Buskey and Yancey will handle mound chores Saturday in the two seven-inning games.

Buskey, 1-0, has hurled 14 2-3 scoreless innings. Yancey, also 1-0, has pitched six innings and recorded a 1.50 ERA.

"I'll let them go as far as they can," said Rabb. "I hope they can go all the way. We'll have to get full performances from four pitchers with all these doubleheaders."

Righthanders George McRae and Chip Stone and southpaw John Richards will be available for relief work.

The rest of the lineup is set except for left and right field. It is still uncertain whether regular left fielder Neil Wester will be ready after a leg injury. Wester has missed several games with the injury and Gary Tolley will replace him again if the leg hasn't mended.

Right field is up for grabs between Clem Medley and Doug Lanham. Medley started at the first of the season but has not hit well. Lanham, a freshman, is a hefty portside swinger.

Maryland has a strong pitching staff according to Rabb. Tom Bradley, a junior righthander, was one of the best hurlers in the ACC last year with a 5-2 record and 1.79 ERA. He will probably start today's game.

"They have several young pitchers besides Bradley," said Rabb. "They also have several new faces in their field."

Virginia, sixth in the ACC last season, should be much improved. The Cavaliers beat South Carolina in a doubleheader in Columbia earlier in the season.

"Any time you beat South Carolina once, especially down there, you're a pretty good team," said Rabb. "When you beat them twice, you're extra good."

Netters Nip Williams

North Carolina's tennis team swept to its ninth straight victory Thursday by drubbing Williams College of Massachusetts 9-0 on the UNC courts.

It was the second straight shutout that the Heel racquetballers had administered to Williams. Coach Don Skakle's crew blanked the same team Tuesday.

Gene Hamilton, the defending Atlantic Coast Conference champion in singles, set down Ed Cunningham 6-1, 6-3. Hamilton has lost only once this year.

Bob Davis remained undefeated by taking two of three sets from Bruce Simon. Davis won 6-4 and 6-3 and lost 1-6.

Lee Langstroth shut-out Wayne Eckerling 6-0, 6-0 in the battle of third singles.

The fourth singles match went to Bill Trotter. He decisively Peter Kinney by a 6-1, 6-1 count.

Fred Rawlings won the fifth singles over John Fulkerson. The final results were 6-2, 6-2.

Joe Dorn defeated Dave Blackford 6-3, 6-1.

In the battle of first doubles,

Davis and Rawlings again proved too much for their Williams foes. Picking up their ninth consecutive win of the season, the Tar Heel pair was 6-1, 6-2 conquerors of Simon and Kinney.

Bob Hershey and Jack McBroom played the second doubles for Williams and the results were not much different from the opening contest.

Carolina's Trotter and Hamilton won that match in comparatively easy manner. The score was 6-4, 6-2.

In the final doubles, Blackford and Eckerling were the victims of another Tar Heel shutout. Langstroth and Dorn were victorious 6-0, 6-0.

Carolina will be in action again tomorrow on the UNC courts. Harvard will supply the opposition. The two teams were slated to play Wednesday, but were forced to call off that meeting because of rain.

The Heel netters play their final home match before Spring break on Monday. That game will be an ACC match with Clemson. Coach Skakle will then take his team south for matches with Jacksonville and Florida.

Oaks Lose Big K

By RICK BREWER
of The Daily Tar Heel Staff

Pat Boone, who usually croons a pretty good tune, was singing the blues in Greensboro Wednesday.

The singer-actor and half owner of the Oakland Oaks of the American Basketball Association was in the Gate City to play in the pro-am of the Greater Greensboro Open.

The reason for Boone's sadness was that the Oaks' number one choice in the college draft, Bob Kauffman of Guilford College, signed with the Seattle SuperSonics of the NBA instead.

Boone's number two selection, Henry Logan of Western Carolina, has reportedly already signed a $120,000 three-year, no-cut contract. Oakland's third choice, Skip Harlicka of South Carolina, has not yet signed.

The ABA got the jump on the established NBA by conducting an early draft. The NBA held its first round selections Tuesday—six weeks before they were scheduled in an effort to sign the top college prospects before they inked with the other league.

The big surprise in the NBA picks was that All-Americans Larry Miller of UNC and Don May of Dayton were not selected. The top choices were Elvin Hayes of Houston, Kaufman of Guilford, Wes Unseld of Louisville, and Tom Boerwinkle of Tennessee.

Gary Gregor of South Carolina was a surprise pick of Phoenix's new expansion team. By the way, Hayes has reportedly dropped out of school.

Perhaps Carolina should have second thoughts about trying to sign 6-6 All-America prep star Dennis Wuycik. It seems that the Tar Heels lose almost every time he sees them play.

Wuycik was at Chapel Hill the night South Carolina upset UNC. He was on the West Coast as the guest of UCLA when Carolina lost to the Bruins in the national finals.

According to reliable sources, Carolina is high on Wuycik's list of schools.

Dave Corliss, a graduate student working on his Ph.D in physical education and assistant freshman basketball coach, is in Australia. Dave is working for the Billy Graham Crusade there.

He is finding time to keep up with his basketball though, coaching and playing in an amateur league.

Former Green Bay Packer coach Vince Lombardi received ed one write-in vote in the Wisconsin Presidential Primary Tuesday.

Two fifth grade classes in Wauwatosa, Wis., were asked to select their favorite hero a couple of weeks ago at a Methodist church school.
