

ISC Projects Coffeehouse As New Student Interest

By MARY BURCH
Tar Heel Staff Writer

Excavation for the International Student Center's coffeehouse-multi-purpose room in the basement of Carr Dormitory began this week.

"We hope the construction will be completed by orientation in the fall," said Danielle Withrow, co-chairman of the ISC for next year.

The proposal for the excavation and construction was approved last week by Dr. Claiborn S. Jones, Chairman of the Space and Allocations Committee and by the Dean of Student Affairs C. O. Cathey.

The proposal submitted by the ISC requested that they be allowed to establish a multi-purpose room in the basement of the center to expand their facilities and programs.

The room will be transformed into a coffeehouse and a conference area for the use of the center and the students on campus.

"The plans for the 'coffeehouse,' as it will be called, are very flexible," said Miss Withrow. "The basic concept is the establishment of a place for students to come and sit and relax with a cup of coffee. We hope to have student entertainment, poetry readings and other activities of interest."

"There is a possibility that we will be able to offer the coffeehouse for the experiment college program this fall," Miss Withrow added. "In that way we would be contributing more to the residence college program in its goal of the living and learning experience."

The inside decor has not been planned in detail. "Chris Casler, one of the artists for the center, will be doing a lot in the way of decorating," she said.

"The most unique idea so far has been to install strobe lighting so we will have the facilities for body painting parties."

The coffeehouse will not have kitchen facilities and will therefore be limited as to what can be served.

The money for decorating and initial operation will have to come from donations, Miss Withrow said. Anyone who wishes to contribute may send his donation to the International Student Center, Carr Dormitory.

Miss Withrow said she is very pleased with the student response to the center during the past year it has been in operation.

"This past year was spent in becoming established on campus," she said. "Most of the programs were on a spontaneous basis. This coming year we will be more organized and we will be able to offer more activities—the coffeehouse is an example of this—because of student interest and participation."

News From The Old Book Corner FESTIVAL OF LIBRARY DISCARDS

This Week

Adult Non-Fiction

From today through Saturday we'll be showing the last of the adult non-fiction. The price on Friday will be 15c per volume, on Saturday 5c each.

Coming Sunday Children's Books

Coming from a library, you can depend on two things. First, the titles will be good ones, carefully selected. Second, the books will be well worn, with just about one more reading in them. Ideal for the summer shack, in fact.
