One had the GUTS

One had the GUNS

... The GAL they had

Shows 1-3-5-7-9

between them!

Imps Try To Snap Carolina Jinx

By CHRIS COBBS DTH Sports Writer

Forget it, man. There ain't no way.

This could be the new feeling at Duke in regard to athletic competition with CArolina.

The blue Dooks haven't beaten UNC this year.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the freshmen basketball teams of the two schools play for the third time this year, their second meeting in Durham.

Not only have the Tar Heels taken wins in football, wrestling, and varsity basketball, but coach Bill Guthridge's hardwood Tar Babies have defeated Duke by Hail Joanna Every now and then a movie comes things are going to change. They don't really or at least very slowly and haltingly, for habits of mind and operation in so expensive a medium as that of feature film are relatively fixed and the tandency is relatively fixed, and the tendency is to do it the old way. But then The Graduate suddenly breaks through, or Bonnie and Clyde, and a few more people get the chance to do it their own way. This year it may well be Joanna, which Twentieth Century-Fox is releasing, that will signal another change of direction. In technique it is fresh; its spirit is contemporary; its attitudes are youthfully free of cant or moralizing.

"ONE OF THE YEAR'S 10 BEST

SPECIAL LATE SHOW SAT NIGHT 11:15

RIALTO, Durham

convincing scores in two is scheduled for Fayetteville. previous tilts.

Carolina victories have been 80-42 in January and 119-77 earlier this week.

The game tonight concludes the regular season for the Tar

Babies and Blue Imps. Next

Carolina has already clinched the Big Four title for the regular season.

The Tar Babies, with a 12-2 record going into the game, have played very well in their past two outings.

demolished

Carolina last Saturday and levelled Duke by combining fine outside shooting and tenacious defense.

Forward Dennis Wuycik scored 40 points against ECU and 22 against Duke and was on target about 60 per cent of the time in both contests.

He had capable support on the long range perimeter from guards Steve Previs and Kim Huband and inside help frrom forward Bill Chamberlain. They will be joined by the team's leading rebounder. center Craig Corson, in the starting lineup tonight in Durham.

week the big Four tournament Carolina Freshman Kim Huband:

A Quiet And Modest Champion

DTH Sports Writer

Robert Kimley Huband is a quiet champion.

Reserved, quiet, and modest might apply to his personality off the court, but "championship" is a good modifier for his basketball

"Kim" to his friends-which may someday include much of Tar Heelia-Huband is a starting guard with Coach Bill basketball squad.

of him-sit tight-the chances However, he never really took are good that you just might in the game seriously until he left the next few years.

A native of Wilmington, Huband came to Chapel Hill after glancing over basketball offers from about 20 other grab back-to-back city colleges and universities, some championships. as far away as New Mexico and scholarship papers at Carolina for two reasons. First, he wanted to stay close to home if possible and be guaranteed a good education.

SHE LOVED

Red & Blue Nightshirts

But perhaps the key which opened the door to Huband's Carolina court career was the Tar Heel coaching staff.

"I was really impressed with the coaching staff here," remembers Huband, "not only about basketball, but as individuals."

Huband started tinkering Guthridge's freshman around with a basketball in backyard courts when he was a In case you've never heard sixth-grader in Wilmington. junior high.

In junior high Huband learned quickly about winning. Two years there saw his teams

In high school, under whom he calls "excellent coaches," he He never really had much fell into the winning habits inking the again. With Huband leading the way, Wilmington finished second in the state 4A playoffs his junior year, then rambled on to the state title the next

> Here at Carolina, Huband has had good opportunity to keep on winning. The 1968-69 edition of the Tar Babies has sewed up the Big Four regular season crown and boasts a 13-2 mark going into the last game at Duke tonight.

Huband hasn't always been sold on basketball, but by his first year in high school he figured there wasn't another sport his lean, six-foot-four frame was better suited for.

In his sophomore year, he

By T.C. RICKETTS

DTH Sports Writer

had to change his shooting style-from a clumsy, two-handed method to the orthodox style he uses today.

"I wasn't shooting well then," he explains, "but when I was little, I guess my arms were too weak to hold the ball any other way."

Since then, he's improved. Huband is a deadly shooter from anywhere along a 20-foot radius of the basket and he has connected on over 50 per cent of his field goal attempts

Against Duke, with whom the Tar Babies finish up tonight, Huband has done exceptionally well. In two games, he has hit on 12 of 17

Huband had to collect the customary list of laurels in high school to be considered for big college offers.

He made the All-Eastern 4A Conference list for two years. then in his senior season, he was voted All-State and High School All-America by "Coach and Athlete" Magazine.

Perhaps the most important change Huband had to make when he put on a Carolina uniform concerned defense. "We had to learn a whole new concept of defense," he said. "Here it is consistent pressing."

Huband's goal is simple-He does not want to be a bench-rider as a sophomore. "I like to try to be realistic about things," he said, "but I do want to play next year."

Unselfishness is perhaps his hallmark. Huband constantly passes off to teammates instead of taking the shot himself.

and certainly in the Tar Heel way of doing things. But he explains it another way: "I don't look for shots-I only shoot when I'm open."

Huband devotes what time he can to what he calls a "sort of hobby": he works landscape prints onto wood, shellacs them, and hangs them up in his Huband has a close tie with religion. He follows the Fellowship of Christian Athletes closely.

By RUSTY CARTER

DTH Sports Writer

in College Park, Md., and all

they can be is "hopeful,"

according to Coach Sam

is the overwhelming favorite to take the championship again

with nine returning champions

from the 11 weight divisions.

Maryland," Barnes conceeded.

all 11 places."

first inthe East.

"They could very easily sweep

The Terps tied Navy last week 15-15 which moved them

into the top ten nationally and

"No one will touch

The University of Maryland

The UNC Grapplers begin

UNC Wrestlers

Begin Tournament

Freshman Guard Kim Huband ... Quiet Man Off The Court

FRIDAY SPECIAL

Special Fish Platter

Slaw, French Fries, Tarter Sauce, Lemon & Hush Puppies

(Orders packed to take out) 414 W. FRANKLIN ST. 942-2339

Mon. - Sat. 11-2 & 4-9, Closed Sun.

As for Carolina, they are Some would say this is noble Ruggers Get Another Shot

One year ago today a legend sigh7, by whatever means came into Chapel Hill and wrecked the hopes of thirty the scourge of the East Coast, aspiring young men. The fighting, punching, kicking, legend was the Old Blue Rugby gouging, and literally biting team from New York City and their way through anyone who the young men the Carolina dared step on the field against > chance at the twice National Championship club as they come into Chapel Hill for three games Saturday beginning at 1:30 on Lion's Club field in faced by UNC's to wing forward.

Old Blue has built up their non-to-gentle George Wirth. legend over the years by Wirth commented on the game beating every Rugby team in this week in practice saving. "I've been looking to this game possible. The Blues have been for a year now. I think our side is up for the match, we're in decent shape and ready to give Old Blue a really tough match."

Haywood Davis will lead UNC's scrum into the battle. Now Carolina has another Davis is over 200 pounds and can be best described as a brutal runner. One thing is certain, no single man will bring him down.

New to Carolina side will be Read Jolliff starting at hooker. The game looks to be a Read is a stocky 190 and hits battle of the scrum-halves as like a bull. He will replace the infamous Jack Donelli will Keith Rusmisell who will move posting a 5-10 going into the final bouts of the year but a few points look encouraging.

"I was pretty glum a week the first round of the Atlantic ago," Barnes said, "but our win Coast Conference over Duke and the loss of two championships this afternoon, top boys by N.C. State gives me cause to be somewhat hopeful."

The UNC coach still feels State should be favored near the top but with the two injuries he picks Virginia to take second place. "Behind Marhland and Virginia the championships should be real close with a battle between State, Duke and us for the third spot." Barnes The first round of the meet will begin at Cole Field House this afternoon with the semi-finals beginning at 8:00 tonight. Two rounds of consolation will be held Saturday morning and the championships will begin at 2:30. The single elimination will be individual as well as team Barnes is most hopeful for his 145 pounder Keith Lyons and 152 pounder Jim Stephenson.

UNC lineup will be: 115-Stuart Coman, 123-Bob Crane, 130-Tom Guthrie, 137-Pat Reighard, 145-Keith Lyons, 152-Jim Stephenson, 160-Carver Rudolph, 167-Jim Glass, 177-John Parsons, 191-Dick Kelly, HW-Know Tate/Jim Zumwalt.

PLANE FARE

SHIP AHOY

Tonight and Saturday Night

CHRYSANTHEMUM

OPEN MONDAY WITH THE

COUNTS IV

NOW OPEN

TRY OUR

Or Take One Home We will be glad to prepare your pizza

completely or unbaked and ready for your oven

In Our Pleasant Dining Room

Also Available: Delicious Spaghetti To Go

Phone Ahead 929-2425

It WILL be ready! UNIVERSITY SQUARE

ON THE CORNER

One Hour THE MOST IN DRY CLEANING

Eastgate Shopping Center and

Carrboro (Weaver Street) ONLY

THIS COULD BE YOU! FREE

MEALS

All expenses paid - 3 nights, 4 days for 2 People ((Must be 18 or over)

TRIP

At Sheridan Yankee Clipper-Beachside

FORT LAUDERDALE, FLORIDA

Leave April 4 - Return April 7 No obligation - Come in and Register Each Time You Shop

DRAWING TO BE SATURDAY, MARCH 29, 1969 AT 5:00 P.M. (Drawing will be final)

Drawing at Eastgate Shopping Center