Books

Today is the last day students can claim books left for the APO Book Exchange in the Student Union.

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 11, 1970

78 Years Of Editorial Freedom

The Bailu Dar Geel

NIT Tickets

Tickets For the NIT did not arrive in time for distribution yesterday. They will be available this morning, however, at the Carmichael Box Office. Tickets for Saturday's session only are priced at $3.50.

Founded February 23, 1893

Newspaper Fight Gets New Boost

By AL THOMAS DTH Staff Writer

The N.C. Civil Liberties Union joined forces with an 11-year old boy here Monday night in challenging the local school board over what they feel is his constitutional right to sell newspapers in school.

Danny Cloak, a student at Grey-Culbreth Junior High, had been trying since October to obtain premission to sell newspapers, particularly the underground, radical "Protean/Radish," in school.

He met no sucess, however, because a school board regulation forbids the selling of anything on school grounds except for fund-raising for student groups, when approved by the principal and superintendent.

Danny formed a "Free Press" club in December but papers.

- Prof. Dan Pollitt of the UNC Law School and Prof. Hal Lieberman of North Carolina Central University appeared before the school board Monday night in Danny's behalf.

They presented the board

-it would be inherently unfair and a denial of due process to punish Danny if the same four letter words are in any assigned or optional reading (the Catcher in the Rye was cited as an example).

-the school board may not deny the rights of the club because "a mere desire to avoid discomfort and unpleasantness that always accompany an unpopular viewpoint."

The memorandum continued for eight pages, listing seven court cases as examples.

Danny's first attempt to obtain permission from the board to sell papers failed in October.

Danny sold the Radish the next day, despite instuctions was still forbidden to sell not to, however, and was suspended for three days.

'UN Faces 3-Dimensional Decade'

J. R. Gaskin

Forum Sees Disparity In Racial Policy Here

By BOB CHAPMAN DTH Assoc. Managing Editor

Recruitment of more black students to the UNC campus was discussed in depth at the Consultative Forum Tuesday in a three-hour session.

J. R. Gaskin, chairman of the steering committee, termed the race problem in the community and in the University "an emotional issue." Gaskin said five Negros registered in the summer of 1951 in the School of Law here as the first black students. In 1955, he said, the first Black undergraduates were admitted. Gaskin said even though there has been no admissions denial due to race since the Black students are now enrolled in the university. Only about half of the Black students who are accepted at according to Gaskin. Very little this state for Black students, he class standing.

added. Attended by students, faculty, administration officials, alumni and trustees, the Forum discussed the problems of attracting black students to the UNC Campus and providing financial aid for those in need. It was pointed out about half of the black some type of financial aid.

The question of admitting blacks under a high-risk policy mid '50's, only about 320 was raised when Dr. Gaskin Stores. asked members of the forum if such a program.

UNC choose to come, College where 14 black girls summer program designed to recruiting is done outside of to academic achievement or college after graduation "must Billy Harrison, an alumni level." from Rocky Mount, suggested the voters of North Carolina was valuable in helping black would not like to see such students to decide to go to discriminatory practices of college, Dr. Charles Morrow admission. Harrison said some disagreed with Keel about the white students would also be purpose of the program. He included into a high-risk said Upward Bound should program, should it be initiated. serve as a bridge between the H. Bentley Renwick, University and students still in students here are currently on assistant director of high school.

admissions, pointed out blacks also pay taxes.

agree. But you have had them to the University for the segregation for 300 years, give regular year. us 30," Renwick said.

The Upward Program at they would propose and accept UNC was explained by Dave Keel, a student coordinator of He alluded to Mt. Holyoke the program. He said the were admitted without regard encourage them to go on to be maintained at the highest

Agreeing that the program

Renwick said although it was good to get black students "You say this is at UNC during the summer, it reverse integration. I would is more important to attract

"We must convince them Renwick said he was not that they are a part of the interested "just in satisfying University," Renwick said. He HEW." "Rather," he said, "we added the administration must must help the black students." prove it is sincere in what it William Geer, director of tells the prospective students.

with a memorandum of court cases they said were relevant to Danny's case with the board giving the memorandum to their lawyer for examination.

Dr. Wilmer Cody, superintendent of schools here, said no decision would be made by the board at least until their next regularly scheduled meeting on April 6. Cody said the lawyer would review the memorandum carefully and then pool his own findings with it to present to the board.

Cody said he had no personal feelings on the case but added, "The constitutional issue here is a very interesting one."

Danny and the Civil Liberties Union asked that the Free Press club be allowed to sell newspapers next to a refreshement stand located on school grounds.

The papers, according to Pollitt, would include the Radish, the Anvil, the Chapel Hill Weekly, the Raleigh News and Observer, the Daily Tar Heel and the Carolina Times. Politt said the paper would be sold at cost.

The Civil Liberty Union's memorandum included several points, including:

-the fact the club proposes to sell the (the newspapers) rather than distribute (them) without charge, makes no legal significance.

-Merely because newspapers are available elsewhere is no reason for barring them from sale on as president of the Union for school premises.

-there is no allegation that any of the publication the club sought permission to sell are obscene, and if some or any of them do on occasion ability. contain four letter words...

By GLENN BRANK

DTH Staff Writer

By STEVE PLAISANCE DTH Staff Writer

"In the United Nations, the decade of the 1970's are aiding smaller nations of the living conditions. decolonization, disarmament world in their struggle to attain and development," U.N. freedom and independence," General Assembly President she commented. Angie Brooks said Monday night.

University with a degree in billion dollars. Social Science, and later from with a degree in Law. She was the developed nations in being compatable with human appointed president of the spent to help the underveloped dignity." U.N. Trustee Conuncil in 1966, nations," she said. where she worked to aid many colonies in their bids for most powerful ally in he independence.

dwindle."

brunt of their costs."

On the subject of world

the University of Wisconsin the gross national product of

"But the U.N. has found its world-public opinion she "A great deal has been noted. "A new generation is accomplished toward growing up and coming to dismantling the colonial power, and they don't care for system," she said, "but the the vast gap which is impetus for this movement maintained between continue to be made to must not be allowed to expendatures for killing and those for saving lives."

Miss Brooks added she Miss Brooks indicated a would like to see the strong desire that the 1970's be "micro-nations" of South declared as the "decade of Africa receiving the cultural disarmament", and reasoned anniversary of the United for all non-academic employees and health benefits of the U.N. that decreased arms Nations is 'Peace, Prosperity, "without having to bear the expenditures would free and Productivity' for the international funds for "The United Nations has improvements in health, three dimensions of the coming acted with unforseen speed in education, and general world

"The great challenge of the human environment must be met and overcome," said Miss Brooks on the topic of world disarmament, she was development. "The problems Miss Brooks, a native of "appalled" at world arms of a nation seeking Liberia, graduated from Shaw expenditures of over 200 d e v e l o p m e n t in a developing world are vast, "Less than one per cent of and living standards must be maintained on a level

General Assembly President Says

She indicated the impetus for development in the lesser nations must come from within and based on helping hands from the rest of the world "rather than handouts." "In the United Nations, efforts have been and will promote sustained economic growth in the underdeveloped nations of the world," she added.

"The theme of the 25th nation has the right to go into coming decade," she noted. "I hope that we can look back at the end of this decade and say that these goals have been reached." In a question and answer period preceding her address, Miss Brooks commented on a involvement in Vietnam:

"I don't think that any agenda."

another country and cause people to be killed, wounded or maimed."

On the question of U.N. $550,000. involvement in the internal conflicts of nations, she answered: "Any violation of query about the U.S. human rights should become a part of the United Nations'

Doe Criticizes Gaskins; Calls UNC 'Plantation'

Emmett Doe, international will be held Sunday at 6 p.m. non-profit-institution, it is not representative of the American in the Carolina Union. He said required by law to pay the tax, Federation of State, County, the meeting will be held to which provides benefits for and Municipal Employees discuss further efforts against union, called the University a the University.

"modern plantation" Tuesday and said the local union will step up its efforts to receive its Doe announced a meeting that the University had "fulfilled a moral obligation" work but can't even be paid and shown "sincere interest" $1.80 an hour." by re-employing 45 workers was "another indication of the total disregard of employee's distributed on campus today welfare" shown by the calling for the workers to black students under the University.

The pamphlet is entitled If the University had really been interested in the "Are You Happy On The employes' welfare, it would Plantation" and condemns the have paid unemployment low wages, poor working insurance tax to the state, conditions, and the University's inconsistency in which it has not done.

Because the University is a paying for overtime work.

student aid, said federal funds, a major source of money for Renwick said. "Unless you scholarships, have been come up with some money, reduced in the last three years they won't come. They will go from about $900,000 to about to a black college where they

He charged, however, if the

Gaskins also said Sunday

they did not pay but $1.80 an

Doe said, "It is a shame

A pamphlet will be attend Sunday's meeting.

there are places a person can protect the employees.

University Chancellor J. Carlyle Sitterson told the more money brought group "all non-academic comments from Dr. Joseph buildings built are built with non-state funds." He added most of the money now comes from the profits of the Student

"Now is the time to start," can identify."

The question of raising Sloan on alumni support. He said presently only about a quarter of a million dollars is contributed by alumni.

Speaking about another problem of blacks on the UNC campus, Dr. Maynard Adams said black students have the problem of identifying with the whole University. "Blacks need to have a place on this campus," he said.

Dr. John Graham, a faculty member, suggested the Forum establish for the purpose of investigating the questions raised about student aid for disadvantaged students. Dr. Maurice Lee was selected to head up the committee.

Keel, said the University must show black students the Forum wants to help them. Harrison asked whether the Forum had the power to do anything significant to make progress in attracting black students.

Alan Albright, student body president, said "the cry is a cry for action." He added the forum could be "tremendous in its impact."

One suggestion called for money to be authorized for 50 high-risk policy for students with lower S.A.T. scores, but with high potential.

Chancellor Sitterson suggested the Upward Bound program, which at one time included whites, could be more effective.

Leonard Named President Of Union

case of the DTH sacreligious balance a person's desire for be decided through reasonable else. Certainly, students on this comment, should be reserved freedom with the group's need discussion rather than conflict. campus should not look at the Richie Leonard, a junior person in a time when the has been named President of Haber said. the Carolina Union for the year

1970-'71 by the Union Board of Directors. John Haber, who has served the past two years, said Leonard has experience in all phases of Union activity and "has proven himself many times as to his leadership for the pulpit.

political science honors major, Union is rapidly growing,"

He said Leonard feels the Union is "responsible for giving the campus a better atmosphere for students out of the classroom through leisure and cultural activities."

What Is The Student Role?

Editorial Candidates Speak

The president of the Union Scholarships. serves as president of the Union activities group and coordinates the work of all the

"He is a very dynamic committee chairmen.

Leonard is a Richardson Fellow, a Morehead Scholar, former speaker of the Student Legislature, member of the Consultative Forum, former men's co-ordinator for orientation, co-chairman of the National Merit Scholarship Committee, and member of the Chancellor's Committee on for stability and order? With This could also restore way things are and ask "why".

Haber, looking back on his two terms as president, said the "expanded widely in that time, especially the recreation and film activities.

demands.

"When I became president two years ago, we were cramped in Graham Memorial and most students didn't even know what the student union was. Now the Union is just flooded with activity through one or two in the morning every day."

The Carolina Union is Union's programs have financed by student fees.

laid-off employees until they "get their feet on the ground," Doe also charged University said Doe. Registrar J.R. Gaskin's University was really statements in Sunday's Daily concerned, as Gaskins said, it Tar Heel were a "bad joke." would have paid the tax to

The University is conducting its affairs in the manner of old Southern plantations and its that several employees had non-academic employees are turned down jobs "because "slaves," according to Doe.

He said Gaskin's statements hour."

	candidates' remarks were inadvertently deleted due to printing errors. Here are the corrections (yesterday's question concentrned candidates' plan for DTH operation): BRYAN CUMMING: As far as letters to the editor go, I wouldn't interrupt them (the letters) with editorial comment. STEVE ENFIELD-DENNIS BENFIELD (Benfield): As much as space allows, we will try to use letters on as many viewpoints as we can and quality will get priority. Our columns (on the editorial page) will embrace a	would be a place for national-international news in summary under a particular column set aside for such a purpose. ANDY SCHORR-RUSTY CARTER: (Carter) With the implementation of these policies, we hope to gain the support of discontented past advertisers and readers and put the DTH on sound financial footing. TODAY'S QUESTION: What is the student's role in this University? DOUGLAS CAMPBELL: A great many of the problems that students are currently focing within the University	the continued change of the external conditions of our world, students will continue to find themselves trying to rebalance these two separate goals of personal freedom and social stability. BRYAN CUMMING: To many people, the University is set up with competing factions, like a large corporation. This puts the student in the role of a contestant, struggling against a 11 e g e d 1 y o p pressive administration and faculty. I think this is the wrong approach. The proper concept of a University is an organic one in which students, faculty, and administration are all parts of a functioning total. Under this concept, academic reform	optimism and comradship to the student body. An editor's note in Tuesday's article about the editorial candidates said Steve Enfield was fired from the Tar Heel. Enfield was fired from his position as Associate Managing Editor. He then resigned from the newspaper. We apologize for the error. STEVE ENFIELD-DENNIS BENFIELD (Benfield) The role of the student in the University should be what he wants it to be and nothing else. (Enfield) What appears to be the striving for an education to some might not make the	not?" TOM GOODING: The students must play a more active role in the life of the University. They must be brought into policy-making tokenism. The theory of in loco parentis , under which the University acts as the student's parent, is being done away with across the nation. The University must adjust to this change and allow students a more active voice in the administration of the University. Students are an integral part of the University community and can not be placed in a secondary position. B O B B Y N O W E LL :		y Cliff Kolorson
--	--	--	--	---	---	--	------------------