

Where Are You, Bill? Sitting On The Bench

game participant?
"Certainly I hope I have some appeal for the fans," Bill replied. "But I still feel I can make this team. I'm not discouraged by this year."

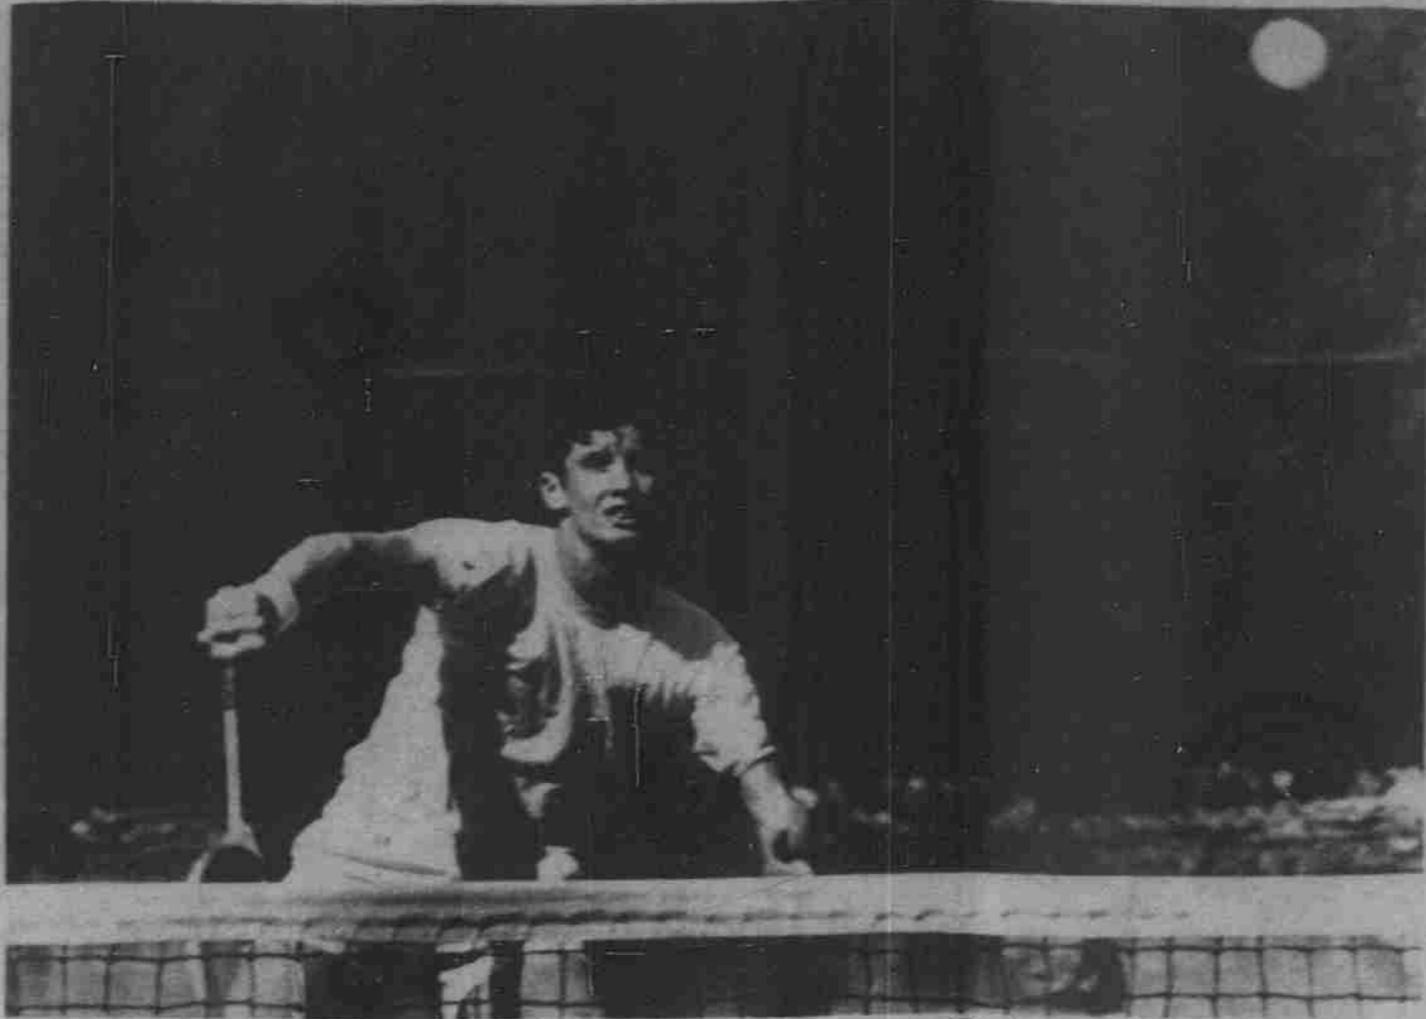

He pointed out that a lot can happen in the off-season. True. The college draft will bring the likes of 6-11 Bob Lienhard (Georgia) and N.C. State's Vann Villiford into the fold. Furthermore, the club needs a "big" guard and it has a surplus of frontcourtmen to barter with. Several trades are rumored in the offing.

Where all this will leave Bunting is anybody's guess. Right now, the pattern for him has been established—he will continue to sit more than play.

"My future will depend on the progress I make this summer," Bill concluded.

"I still think I'll show 'em when I get my chance. I must be patient."

It has not been easy. If patience is a virtue, Bill Bunting certainly won't be late at the Golden Gate.

Dorn, Heels Bounce Big Orange Netters

Bruce Gurganus
Sports Writer

The undefeated Tar Heel tennis team invaded "Big Orange Country" Monday to do battle with powerful Tennessee and served up Coach Don Skakle's 201st win of his coaching career.

The exciting 5-3 victory gives the UNC netters a 9-0 record with 10 matches remaining before the ACC tournament which will be played here May 7-9.

While Carolina swept the match by winning four of the six singles matches and one of the two doubles matches, Lee Langstroth and Freddy McNair both lost their first matches of the season at the number one and two spots respectively.

The unusual match was the first ever played indoors by a UNC tennis team.

Due to inclement weather the Knoxville Raquet Club courts were used for the battle which lasted eight hours, ending at 10:00 Monday night.

Since there were just two courts available, the matches took place two at a time, and after the first two singles UT had a 2-0 lead. But the well coached Heels didn't panic and came back for the win.

Tom Mozur, a Wimbledon player presently ranked 15th nationally, handed Langstroth a 6-3, 7-5 defeat.

McNair's loss was the first of his college career as he went down to Jim Ward 6-3, 4-6 and 6-3 on the amazingly fast courts.

Thursday, the final day of International Week, features basketball and a coffee house session.

Senior Joe Dorn played perhaps his best match of the year as he beat Billy Monan 3-6, 6-4 and 12-10 and lead the UNC sweep of the last four singles positions.

After being down 4-2 in the second set Fred Rawlings pulled out a 1-6, 6-4 and 6-4 win over the Volunteers' Earl Freeman.

Rounding out the singles action Jimmy Corn hit midseason form with methodical 6-3, 6-1 win over UT's VanWellon, who is the national junior champ of his native Belgium.

Freshman Forrest Simmons won his second straight contest with a 7-5 and 6-3 conquest of LeTellier, an outstanding junior player from France.

Heading into the doubles competition the UNC netters needed but one win to assure the victory with the University of Tennessee needing all three. Dorn and McNair lost their first match of the season to Mozur and Freeman by a 6-4, 7-5 score.

But the tandem of Rawlings and Corn kept their unblemished mark in tact with a 6-3, 6-4 win over the European team of Van Wellon and Le Tellier.

Since the victory was wrapped up with the fifth point, the other doubles match wasn't played.

Coach Skakle was particularly laudatory of the overall play of Corn, as well as the come-from-behind victories for Dorn and Rawlings.

The Heels could net their tenth win of the season with a victory over Eastern Kentucky here tomorrow at 2:00 on the Varsity Courts.

Tough home matches remain with South Carolina (April 15), Wake Forest (May 1), and, hopefully the attempt at an undefeated season, against Miami (May 4).

WANT AD LEADS TO FREE PONY

10-year-old Marcia Kessler read about a pony for sale in the Want Ads and asked her father for one. He said he couldn't because of high taxes. So Marcia wrote a letter to the IRS and asked them to stop deducting taxes from her father's paycheck until he could buy the pony. The letter ended up at a staff meeting of IRS chiefs who dipped into their own pockets for $100 and Marcia got her pony.

AF Major To Discuss Art

Major Norman Savage, assistant professor of aerospace science in ROTC department, will discuss aerospace art and flying at a meeting of some 75 Sea Scouts in Durham Saturday at 6:30 p.m.

The Air Force pilot-professor has served in the Vietnam war zone as a C-130 Hercules instructor pilot. While there he flew nearly 600 missions and compiled 2,300 hours of flying time in the C-130 and several hundred in the T-33 jet trainer.

Major Savage wants to become an astronaut for the sole purpose of translating space environment into art for the everyday man. He hopes to be the first "astron-artist" on the moon.

He has produced a multi-media show titled "Flight!" which tells the story of man's conquest of the art of flying.

Although he has had no formal art training, the ROTC professor's works have been displayed at the Seattle World's Fair and featured on NBC's "Today" show. One of his latest paintings, "Apollo's Aquarius," signed by the Apollo 13 astronauts and Apollo 12 astronauts, will be exhibited at Cape Kennedy during the Apollo 13 moonshot Saturday.

Our Far East policy brings people together.

The Jade East manifesto. Its aim: to bring men and women all over the world closer together.

Our policy would allow for all sorts of skirmishes, territorial gains and conquests. And still keep the peace.

Just put some Jade East on your face and neck. And anywhere else. If you've got a girlfriend, take her out as planned. If you're seeing a few girls, do whatever it is you're doing.

Now comes the best part. Since all girls are different, all reactions will be different. Some will be aggressive. Others, submissive. But whether our policy leads to final agreement or not, one thing's for sure. The negotiations alone will be worth the price.
