

Cansler, Schroeder, Kepner In New Positions

James Cansler

Fred Schroeder

Robert Kepner

Dean C.O. Cathey

This chart explains the reorganization of the Student Affairs office.

Continued from page one

weeks and months.

With the continuation of Project Hinton and the organization of coeducational dormitories, the new department is almost a necessity.

Dr. C. O. Cathey, dean of student affairs, said the new department should eliminate much of the red tape and bring about better cooperation.

Commenting on Cansler's appointment, Cathey said it is "impossible to be as informed as I need to be, and this new post will permit Dean Cansler to operate through this office in other areas."

Cathey said he is pleased with the new staff. "Fred Schroeder is young enough to do a very effective job as dean of men."

In listing the duties of his office, Kepner admitted there is some overlap with the offices of the dean of men and the dean of women. He said, however, he did not consider their efforts counterproductive.

The offices of dean of men and director of residence life are concerned, for example, with the Men's Residence Council. But the dean of men is more concerned with the judicial branch while the director of residence life concerns itself with the executive branch.

"It would be a poor policy to operate completely independent," Kepner said.

Working with Kepner are two assistant directors, Mrs. Jane L. Poller for women and Fred M. Culbreth II for men.

James E. Wadsworth has been named Housing Assignments Officer in the new department. Wadsworth is a 1963 graduate of UNC in mathematics and political science. Kepner received his master's degree here in 1965. As assistant to the dean of men in 1965-67, he assisted in fraternity life and orientation.

Since 1967, the new director has been working on his Ph.D. degree and has completed all the academic work and will write his dissertation.

Culbreth received his B.A. degree in English here in 1968. After two years in the resident advisor program as an undergraduate, he became college master of Hinton James Residence College and later assistant dean of men for residence hall life.

Judicial Committee

There will be a meeting of the Student Legislature Judicial Committee Thursday, Sept. 17, in the Frank Porter Graham Lounge of the Carolina Union at 6:15 p.m.

The committee will consider visitation and judicial reform.

Books to tickle your fancy! Books to tickle your fancy! Books to tickle your fancy! Books to tickle your fancy!

TRY THE INTIMATE

For Inexpensive Textbooks For Variety In Paperbacks For All-round Reading Fun

At the Intimate, used texts never cost more, often cost less! What's more, you get them quicker, from more cheerful clerks, than you would elsewhere!

FREE BOOK COVERS WITH EACH TEXTBOOK!

The new Paperback Gallery on the Second Floor features some 15,000 titles for study and for pleasure reading! New titles arrive daily! Used paperbacks for courses downstairs. The Intimate has all the paperbacks you'll need for classes, plus hundreds more for sheer fun. What's more, many of them are available in used copies at sharp savings.

From PEANUTS to Philosophy, the Intimate has the books to please college reader.—Try the Bargain Corner for tempting, low-priced treasure. Thousands are spread out by subject. Brainy chaps on campus love to loaf in the Intimate.

POSTERS—Most at only $1.00, brighten the dreariest walls. In our second-floor Print Room. Low-priced prints and frames of all sorts.

The INTIMATE BOOKSHOP

119 East Franklin Street

Next to the Varsity Theatre — Chapel Hill

Open Till 10 P.M.

Books to tickle your fancy! Books to tickle your fancy! Books to tickle your fancy! Books to tickle your fancy!