

Pete Seegel Leads UNC Booters Past Belmont

by Howie Carr
Sports Writer

Coach Marvin Allen's soccer squad began the season in spectacular fashion Friday, drubbing a visiting Belmont Abbey team, 4-0, on the strength of two second period goals by center halfback Pete Seegel.

The first quarter was a see-saw affair, with both teams trading shots for a goal.

Twice in that period Louie Bush fed sophomore right wing Dan Arial only to see the Belmont Abbey goalie make a save at the last possible second.

In the second period, Coach Allen began to substitute freely, especially in the line.

"It was hot," explained Allen afterwards. "I don't think any man could have gone the whole way."

Halfway through the second period, Carolina struck again as reserve inside Karl Muster passed the ball out of a bunched group of Belmont Abbey fullbacks to open halfback Seegel, who slammed it home for the Heels' second score of the afternoon.

Four minutes later Seegel banged in his second goal, this time on a long, unassisted kick, to run the score to 3-0. At this point the harried Belmont Abbey goalie was relieved.

Carolina's last goal came in the third period, when Arial was tripped by a Belmont Abbey fullback, setting the stage for a direct penalty kick by Bush. He kicked it into the upper right hand nets to give Carolina its final 4-0 margin.

After the game, Coach Allen credited the defense with a fine performance. He was particularly pleased with the performance of fullback Time Morse, a junior from South Nyack, New York, and senior goalie Tim Haigh, a native of Princeton, New Jersey.

"On the offense, I thought sophomore (Townie) Anderson played well, but he can play better," said Coach Allen. "Of course Seegel, with two goals, played well. He took good shots."

A veteran defensive unit started the game with goalie Haigh being joined by fullbacks Morse, senior co-captain Al Merrill, from Livingston Manor, New York, and junior Van Allen, of Wayne, Pennsylvania.

The three halfback slots were occupied by experienced seniors: Seegel, from Livingston, New Jersey, Kohler, a Dallas, Texas native, and Rick Brayton, of New Marker, New Hampshire.

Another halfback, reserve Bill Isherwood of Springfield, Pennsylvania, was the only Carolina casualty of the long, hot afternoon. He injured his leg late in the fourth quarter.

McKay McKinnon, a senior from Wadesboro, North Carolina, was the only in-state resident to start.

Goalie Haigh, who departed late in the third quarter, was adequately replaced by senior Gunnar Froeman, of Miami, Florida, and Rick Scott, a Burlington, North Carolina junior.

The victory over Belmont Abbey was the opening contest of a four-game homestand for the Tar Heels. The remaining opponents include Appalachian State October 5, North Carolina State October 9, and probably the toughest opponent of the season, the University of Virginia, October 13.

The Tar Heels, who compiled a record of six wins and four defeats during the 1969 season, are now 1-0 on the season.

DTH Predictions Begin Today

The Daily Tar Heel begins its football prediction contest, "The Winner's Circle," today with six doubtful authorities participating.

Our team of experts includes three sports writers, the editor of the DTH, the UNC student body president, and a girl. Chris Cobbs, DTH sports editor, Al Thomas, DTH assistant sports editor and sports staffer Mark Whicker comprise the half of the group who write about happenings in the sports world every day, or almost every day.

Other distinguished and knowledgeable predictors include Tom Gooding, DTH editor; Tom Bello, student body president; and Lana Starnes, a curvaceous, you guessed it, girl.

"The Winner's Circle" is scheduled to run for eight weeks, with the person predicting most accurately after the eight receiving a cheap steak dinner, compliments of the losers.
