Parliament Backs Trudeau

MONTREAL—An aroused Canadian Parliament Monday overwhelmingly backed the government's invoking extraordinary police powers for the next six months if need be to wipe out the French separatist terrorists who hold one hostage and assassinated another.

In Montreal, police found a green-and-white bungalow on a quiet tree-shaded suburban street where they believed slain provincial Labor Minister Pierre LaPorte had been held, and may have been killed Saturday.

The police considered the find a major break in the search for the Quebec Liberation Front (FLQ) terrorists who seized LaPorte on Oct. 11, five days after they seized British Trade Commissioner James R. Cross, who is apparently still alive.

The search for three identified kidnaping suspects focused south of Montreal following the discovery of the suspected hideout. Police intensified the manhunt despite Cross' warning in a handwritten note—perhaps dictated by his captors—that "the FLQ will not give up and I will be the first death."

In the aftermath of LaPorte's slaying Saturday night, opposition faded in Ottawa to Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's suspension of many civil liberties under the War Measures Act.

His action gave police and troops the power to arrest without charge, hold without bail and search without warrant.

By a vote of 190 to 16, the House of Commons approved a resolution supporting Trudeau's decision to outlaw the FLQ and continuing his extraordinary powers until April 30, 1971 unless they are revoked earlier by Parliament.

Members of Parliament from all parties applauded loud and long when Trudeau repeated on the floor what he had told the nation Sunday night on television—that he was determined to stamp out the "small band of twisted men" who sought only to provoke hate.

Only members of the socialistic New Democratic Party (NDP) opposed Trudeau's action. NDP leader Thomas O. Douglas contended it was possible to deal with terrorism "while at the same time preserving our democratic institutions."

The opposition Conservative party, which had opposed Trudeau last week, reversed itself in the aftermath of LaPorte's killing.

Student President Arrested At Kent

KENT, Ohio—The Kent State University student body president, a sociology professor and two former students were arrested Monday on indictments handed down by a special state grand jury which investigated the fatal shooting of four Kent students last spring.

Student body President Craig Morgan, 21, Upper Arlington, Ohio, was arrested on a charge of second-degree riot by sheriff's deputies as he sat in the campus student activities center.

Morgan was arraigned in Portage County Common Pleas Court Monday and entered a plea of innocent. The judge refused a request by Morgan's attorney that the student leader be released on his own recognizance and order Morgan held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Morgan's indictment was the result of incidents that occurred May 4, officials said. They did not elaborate.

Jerry H. Rupe, 22, Ravenna, a former student being held in Portage County jail, was charged in the indictment with arson, assault and striking a fireman, interference with firemen at the scene of a fire, and first-degree riot.

Rupe was transferred from the Stark County jail where he was serving three-month sentence on a conviction possession of narcotics.

The charges against Rupe apparently stemmed from the burning of a Kent ROTC building last May 2, two days before the May 4 riot.

Dr. Thomas S. Logh, 42, surrendered at the Portage County Courthouse in nearby Ravenna, accompanied by an attorney.

He pleaded innocent to a charge of inciting to riot and was released on $5,000 bond.

Richard O. Felber, 21, Akron, Ohio, who dropped out of Kent last fall, was served an arrest warrant in his cell at the Portage County jail where he was awaiting transfer to the Mansfield State Reformatory on a drug selling conviction.

Nixon Rally Today

ASHEVILLE—President Nixon will speak at a GOP rally in front of Buncombe County Courthouse this afternoon in support of North Carolina GOP congressional candidates.

State Republican Chairman Jim Holshouser, who announced the Nixon rally Friday, said all state Republicans are invited to attend.

Because of the visit, Vice President Agnew will not be speaking in Asheville as scheduled, but will speak in Raleigh on Oct. 26.

Nixon will arrive at Asheville Municipal Airport at 2:30 p.m. from Johnson City, Tenn., where he will leave in a motorcade to go to the courthouse. The rally will begin at 3:25 p.m. and end at 3:50 p.m., when the President returns to the airport.

Democrats Dub Ervin Spokesman

RALEIGH—State Democratic leaders announced Monday that Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., has been named "national spokesman" for the Democratic Party to reply to speeches by President Nixon and Vice President Agnew in the Tar Heel state.

Democratic leaders said National Party Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien sent a letter on Friday to all North Carolina broadcast media informing them of the designation.

As party spokesman, Ervin will speak on radio and television to rebut Nixon's speech in Asheville Tuesday and Vice President Agnew's speech in Raleigh on Oct. 26.

State Democratic leaders said the designation of Ervin "as national party spokesman is the first of its kind in the nation."
