

YMCA To Look At Foreign Policy

The YMCA will sponsor this week its second task force on U.S. foreign policy. To deal with U.S. relations with South Africa and Portugal in relation to neo-colonial activities in Africa, the task force will meet Tuesday at 7 p.m. upstairs in the Y-building.

The task forces sponsored by the 'Y' this year are open for student and public membership.

The research group on Mid-East policy, formed two weeks ago, is going well, according to YMCA Vice President Bill Brieger.

"We've got about a dozen people altogether and they are formulating methods of research and assigning areas of research to each member," he said.

The new South Africa study group will investigate alleged Portuguese suppression of African liberation movements and alleged U.S. business interests which support governments that continue separatism and racism, Brieger explained.

"The group will attempt to discover what U.S. policy is in these areas and what the U.S. could do to alleviate problems," he added.

Ann Dunbar of the history department will be working with the group and her primary interest is to research and document business relations in South Africa, Brieger continued.

Brieger also said, "Let me stress that we are encouraging citizens—students, faculty, and townspeople—to work on the project. We hope people will work with concern for problems of international relations."

Peace Corps

Representatives from the Peace Corps will be at the University through Friday to talk with students interested in working overseas to help solve some of the problems of developing countries.

These representatives will be at the Student Union and the 'Y' building during the day.

This is a multiple choice quiz:

- (a) Big Red is Blue.
- (b) Big Red is Pinko.
- (c) Big Red is Orange.
- (d) I give up.

If you checked --

- (a) Check your eyes. Big Red is simply not Blue. He's not even depressed. Despite his looks. He knows he's beautiful inside. 'Cause he holds lots of ink. And he's refillable.
- (b) Big Red is definitely not Pinko. In fact most people hold him in their right hands. He does put out a brash line, though, with that wild soft tip.
- (c) Right on. We told our Parker designers Big Red was somewhat too Orange to be Red. But they turned Very Pale themselves, so what else could we do? Call him Big Orange Red, if you want. Big Ocher? Big Apricotta?
- (d) Don't give up. Give Big Red. The great unqainly gift-$5
