

Soccer's Fun, Claims Muster

Heel Star Relaxes With Game

Playing soccer, according to Karl Muster, who stars at inside forward for Carolina's varsity soccer team, is the perfect way to spend a fall afternoon. "To me, playing soccer means having fun every day," Muster stated in an interview earlier this week. "It gives me something to look forward to after a day of classes and it's really lots of fun for everyone on the team to get together every afternoon."

Muster, who hails from Ridgewood, N.J., began playing competitive soccer at Deerfield Academy in Massachusetts, where he also lettered for two years in both basketball and baseball.

He started at his current post of inside forward, but the choice of position was not entirely his own.

"I was never big enough for fullback," Muster explained, "and since our team already had three great fullbacks, I just seemed to end up on the front line."

Karl, a junior who is seeking a double major in chemistry and zoology, discussed the major duties of his position, stressing good physical condition and endurance.

"My basic purpose on offense is to go after the ball, while on defense it's to press my opponent and get the ball back," he explained. "I accomplish this by working with the wings and the halfbacks."

Muster feels that Carolina's most serious problems this season have been injuries to key players and a lack of consistent scoring punch. Although very little can be done to prevent future injuries, Muster does believe that the Tar Heels will improve upon their ability to score.

"We've been pressing too hard," he said, "and as a result, we just haven't been able to connect."

"Our objective is to keep on offense as much as possible, making it that much easier for our defense to do its job," he continued. "We just need to settle down and play a cooler game."

Despite the fact that Carolina has suffered through a loss and two ties in its last three games, Muster feels that the morale of the squad is high.

"We may have been a little nervous earlier in the season," he conceded, "but right now our team spirit is very good. It's all a matter of team pride."

Muster believes that the squad has not played a truly great game thus far this season, but he does think that one is forthcoming. As for himself, Karl claims that the Appalachian State game, in which he scored three goals to lead the Tar Heels to an easy 10-1 romp, was by far his best effort this year.

"I was lucky," he admitted. "I don't do that sort of thing very often."

Looking ahead to the remainder of this year's soccer schedule, Muster sees next Monday's contest with Jacksonville as one of the Tar Heels' stiffest challenges of the season.

"They went undefeated last season, but because most of their wins came against smaller schools, they did not receive an NCAA bid," he stated. "They're strong again this year and they've added some of the bigger schools to their schedule in an effort to receive more recognition."

Muster, who harbors a genuine enthusiasm for soccer, expressed his confidence concerning his team's fortunes for the rest of the season.

"We have a hard-working team and everyone concerned will be out to do his best," he promised. "We'll have a lot of exciting games."

The Tar Heels, who stand at 2-1-2 for the season, will travel to Greenville to battle the East Carolina Pirates today.

UNC Club Battles State Tonite

The UNC football club returns to its league tonight against State. The game will be played on the baseball field at 7:00 p.m.

If it rains, the game will be moved to 9:30 Saturday morning at the freshman practice field.

Carolina beat State 6-0 in the season opener, but the Wolfpack has added about ten new players to the program since then.

The Tar Heels proceeded to blank ECU 12-0 before stepping out of their class in the next two outings.

Worth College whipped UNC 30-6 and Ferrum Junior College, the best JC grid team in the country, swamped the crippled Heels 74-0.

With most of the injuries cleared up, the Tar Heels hope to get back in the win column in their last home game.

Halfback Eddie Allen scored the winning touchdowns in both victories. He and defensive back Tom Kiehl are co-captains for the State game.

End Walt Hall and tackle Frank McNair have led the way defensively.

Admission is free to the game. Any contributions are welcome, since they are the sole means of support for the program.

Crowds of 300 and 200 have witnessed the football club's two home games.

PE-2035 3-speed automatic turntable

In other manufacturers' product collections the PE-2035 would most assuredly rank at the top. In most respects it is similar to the PE 2040. Its control for vertical tracking angle adjustment is factory pre-set for optimum tracking angle both in single and multiple play. The lengthy, slender tonearm is designed for low resonance and inertia. Stylus force setting and anti-skate control are combined and are set simultaneously.

The same ultra gentle cueing control employed in the top two PE models is incorporated into the PE-2035. Viscous damped two-ways, it raises and lowers the tonearm, setting it precisely and smoothly into the record groove.
