WCAR is sponsoring the contest in conjunction with its broadcast of the 48-hour long documentary, "The History of Rock and Roll" which began Monday night and will run every day from 9 p.m. until midnight through Nov. 24.

A portable color television is being offered to the person who correctly answers the 10 exam questions concerning the history of rock and roll.

Decision 'Irreversible'

The report said that on July 14, "the Chancellor responded to the students' concern over the Provost's actions by stating his surprise at the fact that this had become an issue since no decision had been made."

The Chancellor, says the report, said the provost was only expressing an opinion.
The report says that on Oct. 30 the five Social Work faculty members met with the Visiting Committee of the Board of Trustees to express their support of Anderson.

The report states that this summer and fall the Social Work faculty, individually and in a group, requested the provost to forward his recommendation on Anderson to the Chancellor.
On Oct. 20, the report says Morrow

"promised Arthur Fink that he or someone on the School's faculty would be advised when the recommendation will be made to the Chancellor."

"The report concludes that, "as of Oct. 30 no notice had been given by the provost of any recommendation."

The reports added that Jones said no official action on the recommendation had reached the Chancellor at that time.

The Ways and Means Committee of Student Legislature will meet Wednesday night at 7:30 in Suite C of the Student Union.

The meeting is being called to consider bills concerning the appointments of Laura White to the Publications Board and of Lee Meyerowitz to the Supreme Court. Other bills to be considered include ones relating to the investigation of visitation irregularities in Morrison dormitory and to examining the function of the resident advisors.

'Twelfth Night' Tryouts Are Set For Tonight

Auditions will continue tonight and Wednesday for "The Twelfth Night," an entertainment festival to be held Dec. 12 in Memorial Hall.

Dianne Gooch, chairman of the festival, said the festival will be a variety show including a broad spectrum of professional talent and not a Shakespearean play.

Students wishing to audition for the show should apply at the Union desk. The auditions will be held in the Union from 7 to 9:30 p.m. tonight and Wednesday, reported Miss Gooch.

If someone wants to be in the festival but cannot attend the auditions, arrangements can be made with the chairman at 933-4913.

"This will not be a high school amateur hour," Miss Gooch said, "but a professional variety show."

Letter to Men Only

Gentlemen:
If you are of modest means and matrimonially inclined, you will shortly discover that the fine diamond engagement ring or wedding band which you had hoped to give "her", is a financial impossibility.

Every man has a deep sense of pride and is anxious for the world to know that he has given his intended bride a ring of quality and beauty. I remember my own personal dilemma at your stage in life and resolved that some day I would attempt to help solve this problem for young people.

As a manufacturing jeweler, I am now in this position. You can purchase an exquisite ring without acquiring a heavy debt or robbing the savings which you are accumulating for a honeymoon trip or for furniture. For example, a bridal pair (engagement ring and wedding band) with a fine natural, blue-white gem-quality diamond can be had for less than $90.00 or a 14K gold wedding band for less than $10.00.

The reason I am able to do this is simple. I am offering to sell you fine jewelry at the price a retailer would pay for comparable items. We sell on a ten day money-back guarantee, and on diamonds, offer to pay the cost of your appraisal should you find the appraised value not to be at least 30% above your purchase price. Plus, short terms are available.

I have been in business in Atlanta for over 25 years and you can place your confidence in me and in my firm.

Please write me, without any obligation, for my color catalog containing over 2500 items of fine jewelry for both men and women. I am ready to help you, if you will allow me. Your only investment will be a six-cent stamp.

Cordially yours,
Bill Caldwell
