

Marty West waltzes to conference golf win

by Mark Whicker
Sports Editor

It came down to two men and one tough golf course in Rockville, Md., Tuesday, and Ronnie Parker was worried.

Parker was hoping that the Tar Heels' Marty West could hold on to his one-stroke lead to win the ACC individual championship, and that the Washington, D.C. native could gain ten strokes on Duke's Dave Lind to wrap up third place for Carolina.

The Woodmont Country Club was wearing out the conference field. Out of over 120 rounds played during the final two rounds of the tournament, only 36 broke 80, and the yellow brick round to par 72 was getting more hazardous by the minute.

West equalled par 36 on the front side to stay a shot ahead of Wake Forest's feared Lanny Wadkins, and Lind shot a 40. "Well, that's four strokes," Parker thought, "and he needs to make up five more for us to tie Duke for third. On this course..."

Lind finally came in beaten and battered, and with another 40 on the back side. "West needs a 34, of all things, to win it for us," Parker thought, and asked the Blue Devil how Marty was doing.

"He's right near the hole on 17," Lind said, "two under par on the back side." And Parker learned the meaning of blind faith.

West's 28 beat Wadkins by five strokes, with a 72-72 at Aiken, S.C. in April and a 73-70 at Rockville. He conquered high rough and strangling length with his rare ability

Stickmen rout Duke to gain winning mark

DURHAM—The Carolina lacrosse team ended its 1971 season on a winning note Wednesday, defeating Duke 7-4, in a sloppy, hard-fought game.

The Tar Heels jumped out to a 5-0 halftime lead, but Duke scored four times to edge within a goal with 7:05 left in the fourth period. Carolina then managed to recover its poise, though, and goals by Mike Tiernan and Bruce Ledwith gave the Tar Heels their final 7-4 margin.

Carolina jumped off to a quick 1-0 lead with 3:57 gone in the first period when Tiernan slammed home a pass from senior attackman Ray Seipp, who finished with a goal and four assists in his last game for Carolina.

Glenn McKenzie and Phil Sasser got

Carolina's other two first quarter goals on assists from Seipp.

Scoring on a feed from Ledwith, attackman Bob Cox ran the Tar Heel lead to 4-0. Seipp got the final goal of the first half when he came from behind the goal to "backhand" a shot past the frustrated Blue Devil goalie.

Duke controlled the ball for most of the third period, and goals by Rob Rice, Gary Townsend and Skip Walters cut the Tar Heel lead to two goals.

Duke's final score came in the fourth period when Carolina was playing two men down. Two minutes later, however, the Blue Devils found themselves one man short, and Seipp fed Tiernan for the Tar Heels' sixth goal.

Carolina finished its season with a 6-5-1 record, while Duke's season mark slumped to 7-7.

to play every kind of shot, while the U.S. Amateur was shooting 150 for his two Woodmont rounds.

Now Marty prepares for the NCAA championships June 21-26 at Tucson, Ariz. West was tenth in the NAAs last year, tied with Bill Calfee from Maryland.

Assistant coach Dave Robinson has been toying with a possible list of eight Southeast schools that can be invited to the nationals. Wake Forest, which won the ACC's by 24 shots over Maryland, which in turn was 20 ahead of UNC, is sure to get a bid along with Florida, Georgia and Maryland.

Tennessee, Memphis State, Florida State and the Tar Heels are also on Robinson's tentative list, but Carolina didn't get invited last season as a team and the coach isn't counting on anything yet.

Head coach Ed Kenney and Robinson nurtured an outstanding team this year, one that went 5-0-1 in dual matches, finished second in the Big Four tourney, third in two other events, and fifth in two others.

West, Joe Hackler of Wilmington and Steve Wright of Winston-Salem are seniors, while John Vanderbloemen of Lenoir, Jack Hooks of Goldsboro, Lytton Perritt of New Bern, and Parker of Swansboro return for their senior years in '71-'72.

Hackler finished 20th in the ACC with a 304. Wright's four-round score was 305, while Hooks had 307, Parker 309, Vanderbloemen 311 and Perritt 313.

West also had a steady 73-stroke average this year, with Hooks and Hackler also under 74.

The Tar Heels also shot under-par rounds in the practice before the Cape Coral Tournament in Florida during spring break, and renowned Houston coach Dave Williams was getting worried.

"How many of these boys have scholarships?" Williams asked Kenney, expecting an answer of maybe four or five. "None," Kenney replied, sending Williams' blood pressure a little higher.
