

Moving in

Furnishing a dorm room or an apartment is no easy task, although an empty telephone cable reel can make an excellent table desk or bar for the enterprising student. (Staff Photo by Tom Norby)

AWS planning active year

by Mary Ellis Gibson
Staff Writer

The Association of Women Students (AWS) may sponsor speeches by wives of several political candidates as part of a variety of programs set for 1973-74, according to Susan Case, president.

The organization is composed of representatives from women's dorms and sororities, but all women students are officially included in the group's membership.

"We hope to have Mrs. Sargent Shriver, wife of the Democratic vice presidential nominee, to speak," Case said.

In addition to the speaker's program, AWS has begun planning the organization of the North Carolina Collegiate Women's Association.

The organization will represent women's groups similar to AWS from all colleges in the state, Case explained.

"The purpose of the new organization is to coordinate activities of interest to women on campuses across the state and to make it easier for women's groups to acquire films and speakers," she said.

"We've already had a lot of favorable response to the organization," Case said.

"A broad organization is really needed. There is some coordination of women's activities across the state, but no formal communication," she continued.

AWS is also planning several programs this year to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the first graduation of a woman from UNC, Case said.

Advance notice required

Interim lounge policy announced

by Greg Turosak
Staff Writer

The Department of Residence Life has come out with an interim policy concerning the use of social lounges in residence halls which will remain in effect until all the residence halls can be consulted and a final policy is determined later this fall.

The policy states that, in order to obtain use of common areas for parties or other functions, residence college and house organizations must reserve the area at least 48 hours in advance.

Other groups of students, not associated with the residence halls, must arrange with the residence director of the area for the use of lounges at least 48 hours but not more than a week in advance.

Any groups who use the common areas must abide by any written policy previously adopted by that residence unit as long as that policy does not conflict with the interim policy. In addition, the group must sign in advance with the residence director to assume financial responsibility for cleanup and damages, the policy states.

Those common areas affected by the interim policy are the Morehead Cellar; Mangum basement; the first floor social lounges in James and Morrison; and the basement lounges in Ehringhaus, Parker, Teague, Avery, Craige, Graham, Winston and Alexander.

According to John Meeker, assistant director of Residence Life, "Very little attention was given to campus security in the past." He said it is "quite apparent that people are subject to assault."

"We are trying to insure that people are able to use the social lounges as freely as possible," he said, "and have their security and safety protected."

Meeker deplored the situation in some residence halls last year "where non-students assaulted, verbally and physically," some dorm residents.

He said it was important to keep in mind that these problems involved not only black male non-students on South Campus, who received the most publicity last year, but also white male non-students in the Upper Quad dorms.

The new policy, he said, is designed to give the residents "first choice" in the use of their lounges.

Director of Residence Life Bob Kepner expressed confidence that a final policy on the use of common areas can be reached within the next couple of months.

"There is a certain advantage in having a campuswide policy," Kepner said, "but because facilities differ and people differ, it may be necessary to adopt a general overall policy with some variations to suit the different residence halls."

Residence Life consulted Richard Epps, student body president; Elliott Stephenson, governor of James; Fred Schroeder, director for student life; James Cansler, associate dean for student affairs; and the residence directors in forming the interim policy. Residence Life will await "input" from all the residence halls before drawing up a final policy.

Other security improvements on campus include more lights around Kenan, McIver and Alderman dorms and McCorkle place, and the locking of all wing doors from 7 p.m. to 5 a.m. in South Campus dorms.

Students must now refrain from producing loud noise

by Cathy Brackett
Staff Writer

While students were summer leave from Chapel Hill, the town's Board of Aldermen devised a new "Anti-Noise Code," enacted "for the purpose of suppressing the unnecessary noises that become a nuisance to the citizens of the town."

Noise is defined in the ordinance as "any sound, structured or unstructured, continuous or discontinuous, that is of such a volume as to endanger the health, safety or welfare of, or which constitutes a public or private nuisance to, the citizens of the town."

In addition to the above definition, "noise" itself is separated into two categories—necessary and unnecessary.

"Necessary noises," serving ultimately useful and desirable public purposes, include types such as those made by horns, bells, sirens, parades and concerts, power mowers, jack hammers, riveting hammers, chain saws, high speed and heavy construction equipment, public transportation, blasting, and street cleaning.

"Unnecessary noises," which are of most direct concern to students, are emitted by warning devices used in situations where there is no imminent danger, vehicles with improper or unsatisfactory mufflers, model aircraft, mini-bike rodeos or boisterous celebrations, radios, phonographs, juke boxes, public address systems, television tape machines or other amplifying devices operated in the open at high volume, combos performing in the open for private parties, firing ranges and fire works.

The ordinance prohibits the use or operation of any mobile sound system.

The yardstick by which unreasonable volume, loudness or duration is measured pertains to those noises "which interfere with the conversation between two persons of normal hearing at the property line or at the public right of way line.

adjoining the property from which such noise is being generated."

Code violations will be handled through the complaints of citizens and the discretion of the Chapel Hill Police Department.

Levine said the new code was not enacted solely to combat noisy fraternity parties but was a more general response by the Board of Aldermen to "noise pollution" in the area.

Campus Calendar

Activities today

4, at 8 p.m. in room 217 of the Union. If you can't attend the meeting, leave your name and phone number at the Draft Counseling office—room 258 in Suite B of the Union.

UNC Conservative Society will meet tonight in the Frank Porter Graham Room of the Union to discuss plans for the coming year. All students and faculty members interested in joining are urged to attend.

Coming activities

The Student Government committee, "Community Affairs and Minority Groups," will have its first meeting Monday, Sept. 4, in the Carolina Union, room 205, at 7:30 p.m. All committee members who cannot attend should contact Michele Alston at 216 Granville East, 933-1735.

There will be a special benefit showing of the movie "Butterflies Are Free," on Wednesday, Sept. 6, at 9 p.m. at the Yorktown Theatre. All funds raised will be used to aid the education fund of Beth El Sisterhood. Tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. A. Travis at 544-2226, or at all Record Bars and the Yorktown Theatre.

Items of interest

Men and women are needed as counselors by the Chapel Hill Draft Counseling Service. If you are interested in being trained as a draft counselor (or if you are already trained), come to our organizational meeting on Monday, Sept.

4, at 8 p.m. in room 217 of the Union. If you can't attend the meeting, leave your name and phone number at the Draft Counseling office—room 258 in Suite B of the Union.

Last chance to take Medical College Admission Test (MCAT) for 1973-74 admission. Pick up applications in 019 Peabody and be sure they arrive in New York by Sept. 16. Cost is $20. See Medical School Admission Requirement book and some medical school catalogues in 013 Peabody.

FOCUS '72 Bible Study will be held each Wednesday in room 210-A, New West. All graduate students, faculty and staff members are welcome to participate. Bring lunch and a Bible.

Applications are now available for those students and townspeople interested in becoming counselors for the Human Sexuality Information and Counseling Service. Drop by room 255 in Suite C of the Union or call 933-5505.

The Campus Calendar is a service provided for all Carolina organizations that wish to publicize their activities. All organizations are urged to utilize this service, with the understanding that the DTH will run the calendar as space permits. Announcements must be submitted to the DTH office no later than 3 p.m. in order for it to appear the following day.

STUDENTS! NEED FURNITURE?

GOODWILL INDUSTRIES HAS GOOD RECONDITIONED FURNITURE AND HOUSEWARES AT LOW PRICES

REUPHOLSTERED SOFA BEDS & COUCHES FROM $49⁵⁰

BEDS FROM $6⁵⁰

CHESTS FROM $6⁵⁰

TV's FROM $24⁹⁵
FULLY GUARANTEED

STERILIZED USED MATTRESSES FROM $5⁹⁵

NEW INNERSPRING
MATTRESSES & BOX SPRINGS

FROM $27⁵⁰
EACH

WE DELIVER

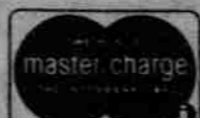

FIND BARGAINS GALORE

AT YOUR GOODWILL STORE

1121 W. MAIN ST. DURHAM (Across from East Duke Campus)

MON.-FRI. 9-9

SAT. 9-6 OPEN LABOR DAY 9-9

CALL (TOLL FREE IN CHAPEL HILL OR CARRBORO) 942-3141

