SG slates refrigerator rentals

Student Government-owned 2.2 cubic foot refrigerators can be rented Monday and Tuesday from 1 to 5 p.m. at four locations on campus: West Cobb basement, James dorm, Morrison dorm and the Student Union.

Student Body Treasurer Wayne Thomas said 360 new refrigerators have been purchased. They will be rented at the Student Union only. Refrigerator rentals at the Union will take place at the loading dock down in the basement.

The cost for renting a refrigerator is $35 for 2 semesters plus a $10 deposit or $20 for one semester plus a $10 deposit. Refrigerator rentals are handled through the Student Services Commission under the direction of Jim Allen. The commission is operating with a budget of $35,000.

Since January, 1970, when refrigerator rentals began, Thomas estimated between 110 and 130 units have been "lost." Thomas explained there are no electrical restrictions on refrigerators in dorm rooms; however, there are restrictions on the total amount of wattage consumed by each room.

In category B dormitories, of which few remain, the wattage limit is 600 watts. Category A dormitories have a 1,200-watt limit.

Students can use the watt limit in any way it is desired. "If a student in an A dorm has a 1,000 watt refrigerator and one light bulb in his room, that's fine," said Thomas.

Thomas feels certain there will not be enough refrigerators for the demand, even though 360 new refrigerators have been added to the old ones.

Upon returning the refrigerators, students will be refunded the deposit provided the units are in satisfactory condition.

Sorority rush begins today

More than 200 girls have registered for fall sorority rush, according to Julie Jones, assistant dean for student life.

"The number's much more than we expected in spite of the decrease in junior transfers," said Jones.

Fall rush has generally been composed predominantly of juniors. This year, in an effort to balance the number of freshman men and women, the University admitted fewer transfers.

Interested girls may sign up for rush from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. today at 01 Steele Building. A fee of $1 is charged to cover rush handbook printing costs.

Any women students except first semester freshmen with at least a 2.0 grade average are eligible for rush. This year's rush is structured to allow girls to visit the houses in a more relaxed situation through the open house system, Jones said. Rushing ends earlier this year, the latest parties being held at 9:45 p.m. on one night.

The rush convocation will be held at 7 p.m. Monday in Gerrard Hall. Girls who have not yet met their rush counselors will meet them at that time.

The rush parties begin Tuesday evening and run through Sept. 14. Bids will be given Friday, Sept. 15.

Social Work still in Alumni

The Daily Tar Heel incorrectly reported Thursday that the School of Social Work has moved its offices from Alumni Building, to the former UNC Consolidated Office Building.

Dr. Morton I. Teicher, dean of the school, said the offices will be moved to the office building on East Franklin Street across from the main campus some time this fall, but no date for the move has been set.

The new quarters will allow the school to move faculty offices from two buildings—Alumni and Pettigrew—into one.

ROTC to offer free watermelon

A free watermelon festival is being sponsored by the campus Air Force ROTC today from 6 to 8 p.m. in The Pit.

Freshman cadets and any students interested in the ROTC program are invited, according to Captain Jim Hull.

Members and officers of campus ROTC will be on hand to explain the program to students and answer questions, Hull said.

Campus Activities Calendar
