Ehringhaus sets poster limit

Attention candidates for campus office: Ehringhaus Residence College passed a resolution Wednesday concerning campaign posters and stickers. Candidates not adhering to the new policy could find their publicity excluded from Ehringhaus dorm.

According to the resolution, only two posters per candidate are allowed per floor. Both posters must be placed in the lobby area in the general vicinity of the bulletin boards.

Violation of the resolution will result in all of that particular candidate's posters being withdrawn from the floor and the privilege of posting further campaign material revoked. All posters in excess of two placed prior to publication of this resolution will be withdrawn with no penalty.

Also, any violation by a candidate would be publicized as comprehensively as possible, showing that candidate's lack of concern for the wishes of his or her constituents.

The resolution, according to its authors, is not intended to slight or favor any candidate but to insure equality of exposure to all candidates regardless of campaign funding.

Ehringhaus urged other residence colleges to pass similar resolutions.

Vending vandals

Triangle Coin Caterers has lost over $10,000 in the past two months in the machines it operates on campus due to vandalism. This company cannot sustain this loss and continue to operate on campus. The loss of the service would mean the loss of $60,000 annually contributed to the student scholarship fund.

John Temple, Assistant to the Chancellor on Business, has issued a request to all members of the campus to report to campus police immediately any people tampering with coin-operated machines and to make sure doors lock after them when leaving buildings in the evening.

Big Brothers

Today is the last day to sign up for Big Brother interviews. Appointment sheets are available in the YMCA office on campus. Interviews will be held next week.

Big Brothers donate their time to work and play with youngsters for whom such companionship would otherwise be lacking.

Bicycle towing?

Any bicycles found in an unauthorized area in a residence hall after Monday, Jan. 22, will be removed and stored in the car compound at the Physical Plant.

The action is being taken because bicycles blocking exits are considered fire hazards, according to Russ Perry, assistant director of operations for residence life.

To pay for the cost of hauling and storage, a fee of $5 will be assessed when the bicycle is claimed.

Bicycles are permitted in dorm rooms only. They are not to be left in halls, stair wells, outside halls in high rise buildings, lobbies, porches, common areas or any other place inside a residence hall.

War protester

Michael Allen, one of four Americans who spent Christmas in Hanoi, will speak at UNC on Monday, Jan. 22, at 8 p.m. in Hill Hall.

Black service frat organizing at UNC

Ten black UNC students have recently organized the Lampados Club, a pledge affiliate of the national black service fraternity Omega Psi Phi, in the hopes of becoming the first predominantly black fraternity on the UNC campus.

According to Charles Harris, secretary of the club, their organization will soon achieve chapter status with the issuance of a charter from the national headquarters next month.

Allen's speech is being sponsored by two campus chaplains, the director of the campus YM-YWCA and the rector of the Chapel of the Cross.

Allen, an Episcopal clergyman, is associate dean of Yale Divinity School. For ten years he directed an Episcopal ministry in New York City's Bowery. He has been active for some years in the anti-war movement.

Telford Taylor, Joan Baez, and Gary Romo accompanied Allen on the trip to Southeast Asia. Taylor, who was prosecutor in the Nuremberg trials, teaches at Columbia University. Baez is a well-known folk singer and peace activist. Romo is a member of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War.

Harris believes that there has been a definite need among UNC's black students for a predominantly black fraternity on campus.

"Personally, I don't know too many black students that will join a white social fraternity. Several of us felt that there was a need for a fraternity on campus that would help with black identity."

The Omega Psi Phi organization was the third black fraternal club to be organized nationwide and was founded in 1911 at Howard University. It stresses brotherhood and community service among its members as its primary goals.

Locally, the Lampados club accompanied students from the Sarah Barksam School for the Retarded in Durham on a trip to the Morehead Planetarium as their major Christmas service project. Future plans include a service auction to be held Jan. 25 in the Pit and a series of car washes slated for later this semester.

The club is now meeting under the leadership of President Eric Dean in the Craige Graduate Center. Induction of new pledges will take place after the spring semester break.

Duke colloquia

Public policy seminars scheduled

American politics, women's liberation and narcotics addiction are among the topics at a series of Colloquia to be held at Duke University during the next four weeks.

On Monday, Jan. 22, Dr. Aaron Wildavsky of the University of California at Berkeley will speak on "Bureaucratization of the Presidency and De-Bureaucratization of the Bureaucracy."

Dr. Wildavsky is dean of the Graduate School of Public Policy and Professor of Political Science at Berkeley. In addition, he is a noted analyst of the role of public policymaking in American politics and has written a number of books on the subject.

The colloquium will be held in room 226 of Duke's Perkins Library.

The American judicial system will be the focus of a talk by Dr. John McConahay on Thursday, Jan. 25. McConahay, an assistant professor of political science and psychology at Yale University, will speak on "Severity of Crime and Jurors: The Attrition of Responsibility," at 3 p.m. in room 139 of the Duke Social Science Building.

McConahay, who holds an undergraduate degree in engineering and divinity and a Ph.D. in psychology, is co-author of "The Politics of Violence," scheduled for publication soon.

Betty Friedan, feminist leader and author of "The Feminine Mystique," will deliver an address in Page Auditorium on Friday, Jan. 26. The topic of the speech, scheduled for 4 p.m., is "The Sex-Role Revolution."

Richard Daley and his city will be the subject of the last January colloquium.

"The Way to Run a City?" scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 30. James Hoge, editor of The Chicago Sun-Times and Richard Wade, Distinguished Professor of History at City University in New York, will head the colloquium. The meeting is scheduled for 4 p.m. in 226 Perkins.

On Wednesday, Feb. 7, the treatment of narcotics addiction will be the subject of a colloquium to be held in the Duke Medical School Amphitheatre. Dr. Peter Bourne of the Special Action Office for Drug Abuse Prevention and Graham Finney, former commissioner of New York City's Addiction Services Agency, will discuss the topic "Methadone as Treatment for Drug Abuse."

BREAD AND ROSES PROUDLY SALUTES GREAT COMEDIANS OF THE 50's

"LENNY BRUCE"

* A FULL HOUR SHOW. LENNY BRUCE, THE COMEDIAN WHO OPENED THE WAY FOR TODAY'S COMEDIANS, IS SEEN IN THIS FILM IN A COMPLETE, LIVE ON STAGE, PERFORMANCE. THE ACT ENTAILS MANY OF THE BITS THAT LENNY WAS ARRESTED FOR EARLIER IN HIS CAREER AND IS THE LAST FILM RECORD OF HIM BEFORE HIS TRAGIC DEATH IN 1966.

SID CAESAR

* A PAIR OF SHORTS FROM THE AWARD-WINNING "YOUR SHOW OF SHOWS" TV SERIES, STARRING THE PERSON WHOM ESQUIRE (MAY, 1972) CALLED "THE FUNNIEST MAN IN AMERICA." THE FIRST OF THE SHORTS WAS WRITTEN BY THE ONE AND ONLY WOODY ALLEN WHEN HE WAS ONLY IN HIS EARLY TWENTIES.

THE HOUSE UN-AMERICAN

* MUCH AS THE FAMOUS "REEFER MADNESS" WAS SHOWN TO HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY IN THE LATE 1930'S, SO WAS THE RED-BAITING "OPERATION ABOLITION" SHOWN TO MILLIONS OF GULLIBLE YOUNG MINDS BETWEEN 1960 AND 1964. THE DISTORTIONS OF THIS NOTORIOUS MOVIE WERE SO NUMEROUS THAT THE A.C.L.U. WAS FORCED TO ISSUE A MOVIE ON ITS OWN ENTITLED "OPERATION CORRECTION," TO DEAL ADEQUATELY WITH ALL OF THEM.
