UNC netters rally, sweep consolations

Rebounding from their thrashing at the hands of Stanford, the North Carolina tennis team rolled through the consolation bracket to a relatively easy runner-up championship in the National Intercollegiate Indoor Team Tennis Championships.

Coach Don Skakle was optimistic about the regular season after the team's performance in the Madison, Wis. event. "Overall," he said, "this can only help the team for the season. I expect we will have a tremendous year."

Carolina rolled through its matches Saturday, defeating Michigan State 8-1 in the afternoon, then following with a sound 8-1 shellacking of Florida. In the finals of the losers' bracket, Carolina beat Tennessee, 7-2.

Stanford defeated UCLA for the overall championship Sunday after beating USC 6-3 on Saturday.

Skakle said he was very pleased with the team's effort. "The fellows really represented themselves, the team, and the school well."

Skakle said that, except for Stanford, he felt the Tar Heels could have fared well against any team in the field. "The Stanford match was a lot closer than the score indicated," he said. "A couple of 7-5's here, a tie breaker there, and it would have been different."

Carolina's ace Fred McNair played a strong tournament. He lost to Stanford's Alex Mayer, the nation's top-ranked collegian, but breezed through the rest of his opposition without losing a set.

For the individual players, Skakle had nothing but praise. "I was pleased with the way we bounced back after Stanford took the wind out of us," he said. "They went out and got Florida, then they went after Tennessee in the finals. We needed to get one win under our belts. We're two months ahead of ourselves."

UNC sixth, Terps eighth Cagers climb in UPI rankings

The North Carolina Tar Heels jumped to sixth place this week in the United Press International top 20 basketball team rankings. Carolina had been rated eighth last week.

UCLA remained first and N.C. State held down second place. Maryland dropped to eighth after losing two games.

All 35 of the college coaches voting put UCLA on top after the Bruins swept their 62nd victory in a row.

THE UNC BOWLING TEAM is off and rolling again.

The Tar Heel bowlers, in their first home match of the season, clobbered North Carolina Central, 66-24, Saturday.

The total pin count for the bowlers—Richard Bradley, Jeff Stillwagon, Greg Verhulst, Bill Swindaman, and David Petty—was 4656, which averages out to an impressive 186 per man. Two of the in playing varsity or junior varsity tennis should report to Fetzer field today at 2 p.m. for a meeting.

A meeting for tennis candidates was held Monday, but all interested students are still invited to come today.

TO LABEL THE RAINBOW Soccer program a non-profit organization is misleading. Everyone who participates in the Rainbow experience as a coach, an organizer, a spectator or more significantly, as a player, stands to profit a great deal.

No monetary value can be placed on the development of an improved human body, a healthier spirit, and the realization of a community in harmony through athletic recreation.

Rainbow soccer places athletic recreation on a different level than competitive athletics. Rainbow provides an organized outlet for community recreation and physical enjoyment without the tenseness and pressure of other athletic experiences based on winning.

There is no charge for Rainbow. If anyone is interested or needs information, call Anson Dorrance, league director, at 933-5159.

BEFORE YOU VOTE...

You might think some of our campaign material hasn't been too serious. Well, you're right, and the reason is that with 10 candidates in the race, we've got to have something that is a little different from the others. But we are serious about the platform and the record. First, the record:

- Randy Wolfe served in the Morehead Residence College Senate before his first election to Student Legislature in 1971. He was re-elected last spring.
- He has chaired the SL's Rules Committee for the past year. His committee reported the districts for the Campus Governing Council under the Epps Plan. His committee reported campaign spending limits. Randy Wolfe has consistently opposed measures to limit the number of polling places and polling hours.

Now, the platform:

- A system of student fee redistribution, utilizing grants to residence units for living area improvements. This is an expansion of the current Residence Unit Grant and Loan Fund. This plan is feasible and can be put into operation.
- Financial independence for our communications media: Daily Tar Heel, WCAR, the Yack, and Student Graphics. Currently, $91,000 in fees is drained by these activities. Randy Wolfe supports a reorganization of the present Pub Board so that our media can finally begin to move toward independence, by generating their own revenue. The business managers of these organizations are in favor of this plan.
- Speedier implementation of academic reforms proposed by a student-faculty committee last spring. The last general academic reform took five years to implement.
- A system of many more students, some on work-study working in SG to give some credibility and continuity to student government.
