Sex program expands

by Stella Shelton
Staff Writer

Robert Diamant, director of the Human Sexuality Information and Counseling Service (HSICS), has announced the expansion of the service's Outreach program.

According to Diamant, letters have been sent to fraternities, sororities and all campus residence halls to inform students of the availability of the service. The service will hold discussions, show films and present general information regarding any area of human sexuality.

Outreach counselors (as well as the regular counselors) are "trained and skilled" in areas including contraception, homosexuality, pregnancy, sexual dysfunction and technique.

Diamant said that HSICS handled 253 cases last month. One-third of the cases were people who braved the climb up the Union staircase and actually came into the office in Suite B for counseling. The other two-thirds let their fingers do the walking and dialed 933-5505.

Just for the record, HSICS got one crank call last month.

The greatest number of cases were in the area of contraception, Diamant said. Pregnancy and abortion cases were the second largest group.

The service's Problem Pregnancy Counselors are thoroughly knowledgeable and trained to help women make decisions regarding abortions, Diamant said. Should a woman desire an abortion, information about local hospitals and clinics in Washington and New York City will be given to her.

A large number of HSICS cases concern homosexuality. The service has gay counselors to handle these cases, thus providing a little more insight into the situation.

The office is open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Fridays. The phone is always open.

6 students needed for food committee

Tired of complaining about the food on campus without getting results? Six students are needed to represent the student body on the Food Service Committee.

According to James A. Branch, executive director of Enterprises and Services and chairman of the Food Service Committee, the six students will bring to the attention of the administration and food service the shortcomings of the food service on campus.

Branch wrote Richard Letchworth, executive adviser to Student Government President Ford Runge, last week and asked him to appoint six members to the committee.

Other members of the committee are Dean James Cansler, associate dean of student affairs, and Robert Greer, food service director on campus.

Branch said they want input from students who eat on campus and also want to show students how the food service operates.

"The committee will be responsive and receptive to the recommendations of students," Branch said. He added, "The University is committed to first-class food service for students."

According to Letchworth, only one student, Gordon Ball, has been appointed to the committee. Other interested students can apply at the Student Government office in Suite A of the Union.

It's always a good idea to be prepared when you go to a football game in Kenan Stadium. This gentleman had it made Saturday as he enjoyed a quiet lunch under the pines. Some people really know how to live.

Men rob Villa Teo at gunpoint

The manager of the Villa Teo restaurant on East Franklin Street was robbed at gunpoint Sunday morning by three bandits who netted $1,470.

Villa Teo manager Mark Lees told police that he closed the restaurant at 1 a.m. Sunday and followed the kitchen help to the parking lot. Lees said they left the restaurant and, as he approached his car, a man with a shotgun emerged from the bushes.

Lees said he was ordered inside by the bandit, where they were joined by two more men wearing ski masks and carrying pistols. Lees was bound gagged and robbed of $70 in personal funds. The day's receipts of $1,400 were also taken.

No arrests have been made, but the investigation is continuing.

Typing class starts

A typing course funded by Student Government will begin Monday, Oct. 8. The course will be taught from 7 to 9 p.m. on Monday and Thursday in room 215-217 in the Union. The course will continue until Dec. 10.

The deadline for registration is Friday, Oct. 5. There is a $20 fee for the course, but no University credit will be given.

There are spaces for 32 students in the class. According to Micky Clark of the Student Services Commission, 14 places have already been filled.

Typewriters for the course were bought by the Student Services Commission. Eighteen dollars of each person's fee goes for the typewriters.
