A chance for revenge

The North Carolina Tar Heels get a long-awaited chance for revenge against Wake Forest Wednesday night when the old rivals clash in an Atlantic Coast Conference game at Carolina Auditorium.

The contest will get under way at 8 p.m. with another sellout crowd of 8,800 looking on. Junior varsity teams of the two schools tangle in a preliminary game at 5:55 p.m.

Using a slowdown offense, Wake Forest stunned Carolina, 54-52, in a first-round game of the ACC Tournament last March. Tar Heel players have been anxious ever since to atone for that set-back.

But it won't be easy to do. Wake Forest has a vastly improved team this year and rates as one of the quickest clubs in the rugged ACC. Coach Carl Tacy's Deacons have scored a number of impressive victories, beating such teams as Duke, Penn. West Virginia and Rice.

Carolina, ranked fifth nationally, rolled to its 10th win in 11 starts at Virginia Saturday, holding off a late Cavalier surge for an 87-75 decision. Back-court star Darrell Elston was the man in the clutch for the Tar Heels in that game.

Coach Dean Smith says he hopes his team will play with the same type of enthusiasm Wednesday night that it displayed in two road wins last week. "Sometimes when you win on the road and then come home, you have a tendency to relax," Smith said. "We can't afford that against a team as good as

Wake Forest."

Smith feels the addition of junior college transfer Cal Stamp makes the Deacons a far stronger team than last year. "Stamp gives them the big man they needed to go with the team's outstanding quickness," he said. "The best indication I know of Wake's quickness is the fact that Duke chose to hold the ball in its game with Wake."

Despite the fact that the Deacons had success with a slowdown game against Carolina last season, Smith does not feel Wake Forest will hold the ball Wednesday. "I think Wake Forest feels now that it has the personnel to play with anyone on its schedule," he said.

Tony Byers, one of the ACC's best performers, will lead the Deacs into Carmichael Auditorium. He played a brilliant role in Wake Forest's win over Carolina last year.

Sports Briefs

There will be an organizational meeting of the Carolina Crew Club this Wednesday evening at 7:30 in room 204 of the Carolina Union.

All persons are encouraged to attend regardless of experience. Club officials indicate that they are in need of men and women under 120 pounds to coxswain the boats.

WCAR will be broadcasting Wednesday night's junior varsity basketball game beginning at 5:45.

There is still a world left that cares.

Track (already?)

Several good performances in Chapel Hill and an outstanding showing in Nassau, N.Y., highlighted the first indoor track action of the season for North Carolina last weekend.

All-America miler Tony Waldrop turned in a brilliant effort in Nassau's Knights of Columbus Meet. He finished fourth in the two-mile run with a time of 8:42.6. That's just short of Reggie McAfee's school record.

The rest of the Tar Heel squad competed in a practice meet against N.C. State, Duke and East Carolina. Dave Hamilton also had a good day in the two-mile with a time of 9:07.

Junior college transfer Sam Beazley went 23-11 in the long jump and Hank Snowden had a jump of 22-4. Snowden also ran a strong leg on the mile relay.

Freshman William Southerland won the 880 in 1:59. He also looked good on the relay. Other top efforts were turned in by Mark Gaines in the shot and freshmen Howard Fitts and Tim Quinn in the 440.

"People shouldn't have to go to New York or New Orleans to get an elegant dinner."

-Seth Jones

"How often have your friends come back from a trip raving about a great dinner they had at a great restaurant? You've probably done the same.

I know I have. Then, one day I asked myself, why should you have to go 600 or 1000 miles to get a memorable five-course dinner?

Since I could think of no reasonable answer, I started a restaurant. We serve an elegant five-course dinner in a nice, relaxed atmosphere.

At a nice, relaxed price: $9.50 a person.

And, if your dinner's not something to rave about, we'll give you your money back. Which is a promise you won't get in New York or New Orleans."
